Resolution Copper receives 2015 Accident Free and Best Reclamation awards

Superior, Arizona, October 17, 2016 – Resolution Copper recently received two prestigious awards from Joe Hart, Arizona State Mine Inspector at the Fall Mine Safety Conference in Gilbert, Arizona. Hart recognized Resolution Copper with the 2015 “Accident Free” award for excellence in safety. This award is presented annually to an organization with outstanding safety performance and a commitment to improving the health, safety and the environment where its employees work and live.

“We are honored to be recognized with the Accident Free award from the Arizona Mining Inspector,” said Jake Rukavina, manager, Health, Safety and Environment, Resolution Copper. “The journey to a sustainable accident-free workplace continues, but we take pride in what we’ve accomplished and this special recognition.”

During 2015, Resolution Copper employees worked more than 172,000 hours without a recordable injury.

In addition, Resolution Copper was recognized with the “Best Reclamation” award for its remediation project associated with historic Magma mining activities. This award is presented to companies who demonstrate best practice in reclaiming or remediating mining activities in Arizona.

“We’re delighted to be recognized for our ongoing remediation work at Magma mining reclamation site,” said Dr. Casey McKeon, environmental manager, Resolution Copper. “This has truly been a team effort, with representatives from the community, the state of Arizona and our own experts joining together to address the challenges at this site. We’re proud of what the team accomplished so far. This is just a part of our ongoing commitment to remediate the old Magma mine property.”

In 2015, Resolution Copper reclaimed approximately 11 acres of historic mining on property at its West Plant site. At a cost of $1.9 million, the cleanup was performed by Oddonetto Construction from Globe, Albo Trucking from Superior and Superior Environmental from Superior. Reclamation efforts included a complex combination of civil engineering, environmental remediation and landscaping.

FLORENCE - Pinal County Public Health would like to encourage residents to participate in a Community Health Needs Assessment in partnership with Sun Life Family Health Center.

systems in Pinal County.

• English Version: <http://svy.mk/2eKSKyy>

• Spanish Version: <http://svy.mk/2e01Mwh>

Encouraging pretend play in young children builds their brains

San Manuel (October 7, 2016) – This time of year, stores are filled with seasonal costumes and children excitedly transforming into their favorite superhero or cartoon character.

For young children, the type of play associated with dressing up and pretending to be someone else is an integral part of learning.

“Did you ever stop to watch toddlers or preschoolers imagining themselves as princesses and pirates?” said Ginger Sandweg, First Things First Senior Director for Early Learning. “When children play, they draw on all their past experiences – things they have done, seen others do, or heard stories about – and use those to develop their own situations, stories and scenarios. And they are learning in the process.”

According to the LEGO Foundation, whose mission is to make children's lives better and communities stronger by making sure the fundamental value of play is understood, embraced and acted upon, there are different types of play. All which support an aspect of physical, intellectual and social-emotional growth. Socio-dramatic play is easy to spot. Watch a child dress up and pretend he is someone or something else, for example, pretending to be a firefighter or a dog. Researchers say this is the basis of children's developing social understanding.

In fact, research has shown that play impacts everything from physical abilities and vocabulary to problem solving, creativity, teamwork and empathy.

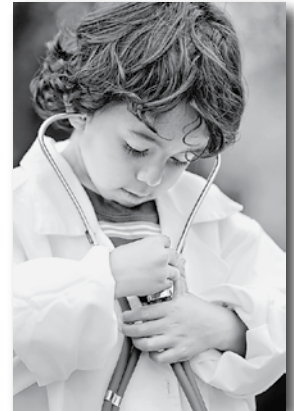

In Pinal County, Easter Seals Blake Foundation offers Parents as Teachers, a voluntary home visitation program, where families of young children receive in-home parent coaching from a parent educator. First Things First funds the program.

“All of the parent-child activities in the curriculum are play-based, and there are many activities that emphasize pretend play,” said PAT program manager Kelly Purcell. For example, reading a book, then asking your child to act out the book helps the child understand the concept of a main character, that stories follow an order and retelling a story helps sequence events in the order they occur.

First Things First encourages families to stay active through play, since it is one of the most important ways that young kids learn. So, how do parents recognize play and encourage it in our children? Here are a few guidelines:

• Play is FUN.
Play doesn't start out with a specific goal – like learning letters or numbers.

- Play is spontaneous and voluntary.
- In play, everyone is actively involved.
- And, finally, play includes an element of make believe.

Superior- “It’s been a delightful fall Head Start Program year, watching the Head Start children grow in confidence and independence. The early childhood years are precious moments in which unique learning takes place,” said Teresita Martinez Olmos of Superior Head Start.

The focus at the start of the program year was easing students into a daily classroom routine, helping them to feel comfortable in participating, getting acquainted with their fellow students as well as Superior Head Start staff, special activities and working on cutting, counting, name writing and nutrition.

This week parental participation is key, with Parent-Teacher conferences scheduled. Meanwhile, the children’s excitement is building for “Silly Dress Up Day”, which will take place on Wednesday, Oct. 26, and will include a visit to the Superior Citizen’s Center.

November will also be a busy month as the children prepare for a walking field trip to visit the Gemini Hospice office and staff.

In October, the kids enjoyed a visit from the Superior Fire Department.

The Head Start Program welcomes community and parent volunteers to participate in activities.

By Andrew Luberda
Superior Sun

Just about 51 weeks ago, the Superior football team's dreams of winning a State Championship ended at Maricopa High School following a 36 – 30 loss to Valley Union in the semifinals. On Saturday night, the undefeated and No. 2-ranked Panthers will host No. 7 Joseph City in the quarterfinals of the 1A State Playoffs, not hoping or looking but expecting to win two more games than they did a year ago.

"It is the second round of the playoffs and there are no easy games," Panthers' head coach Ryan Palmer wrote in an email to the Superior Sun. "Every team left in the tournament is a solid team that has earned their place in the top eight."

"It is win or done, and we are nowhere close to being finished."

Joseph City finished the regular season with a record of 6 – 2 and defeated No. 10 Mogollon in a high-scoring first-round game last week, 63 – 46. The Wildcats enter Saturday's playoff game averaging more than 350 yards of total offense and nearly 40 points per game.

"They play disciplined and with high effort," Palmer said about his team's opponent this week. "They execute well in their power run game and have some good play action passes that provides balance to their offense."

Palmer acknowledged the Panthers' defense is in for

Last year, the Superior Jr. High football team capped off an undefeated season by winning the Central Junior High League Championship. The Jr. Panthers finished last season a perfect 9 – 0 to claim the championship. On Tuesday, still undefeated Superior, which had won its last 16 games in-a-row dating back to last season, took on Ray in the 8-man CJHL Championship.

"I can't say enough about the young men we have on the team this year," Superior head coach Martin Navarrette told the Superior Sun. "They really stepped up this year and filled the shoes of some talented outgoing eighth-graders, not to mention we have five sixth-graders on the team this year."

Ray, which is 5 – 3 on the season, entered Tuesday's championship game coming off a playoff win against Hayden. Superior defeated Ray twice during the regular season, which figures to make a third victory the toughest a challenge and will need to display sound tackling fundamentals.

“We have to play tough and be physical from start to finish,” the reigning Coach of the Year said. “We have to play assignment football on defense, and offensively, we need to get the ball to our playmakers and try to take advantage of some potential mismatches.”

Playmakers – too many for most teams to deal with – are what set the Panthers apart from just about every other 1A team across the state.

It starts with quarterback and Player of the Year candidate Nicolaus Cruz, one of a number of four-year senior starters on the team. Running back Edgar Galindo, receivers Austin Navarrette, Marcos Bueno, and Jalon Murray make the Panthers difficult to defend for opposing teams.

Palmer said he wants to see his team play with maximum effort, adding that focus and discipline will be emphasized during practice this week.

“Games are often won or lost in practice throughout the week,” he said. “If we come out complacent and not ready to play, this very well could be our last game.”

Indeed, it could be.

But, the Panthers “are nowhere close to being finished.”

Saturday’s kickoff is scheduled for 6 p.m. at Superior High School.

Reminder: The AIA sets the ticket prices for all playoff games and therefore may be different than other regular-season games.

Superior Skincare

Superior Skincare is a rather new business and to some it may be a hidden service provider in the Superior business community. Jill Albertson opened Superior Skincare in the fall of 2015, she started this business after being a teacher for twenty years in Idaho.

When she began looking at her post retirement life, Jill knew that she wanted to help people to relax, learn about wellness, recharge and most importantly she wanted people to find comfort in her services. After being a teacher for all those years she set out to learn how to become a licensed aesthetician. She is trained to offer facials, waxing, skin peels, dermaplane treatments, body wraps and facials for the feet, hands and back. She provides clients with a peaceful place of relaxation, in fact before any treatment is started Jill creates an atmosphere of relaxation and calm before a treatment even starts. Her prices are affordable for almost any budget, eyebrow waxes start at $10 and facials starts at $35.

The “Nest” as Jill calls it is tucked away inside Sole to Soul Awakening on Magma Ave. Appointments are required to ensure that ample time is made available for the treatments and relaxation. The “Nest” is not your typical spa setting. In the nest, you will find soft blankets, chairs and pillows, relaxing music and scents. You will leave feeling relaxed and recharged.

Jill had been wanting to retire to Arizona from Idaho, there wasn't any particular reason, she just knew that Arizona is where she wanted to spend her time. She and her companion Bird, ventured south and rented home in Superior for two winters before actually buying a home in Superior and starting Superior Skincare.

“We drove over Gonzalez Pass and saw Superior, and we were in love,” she said. Jill plans to spend nine months out of the year here in Superior enjoying the community and growing her business.

Her advice to fellow business owners and future entrepreneurs: “A lifetime is very long. It is okay to change professions. Stay passionate and always be open to new ideas. Most importantly be honest with yourself when deciding what you want to focus on.”

Jill is determined to help people receive the skin care they need at affordable prices. “People need comfort; it is my mission to ensure that people can have comfort when they receive my services,” she said.

Author's note: If you are looking for an almost completely painless eyebrow waxing experience, Superior Skincare is the place to go! The Nest is most definitely a place to relax.

JR. HIGH FOOTBALL

yet, according to Navarrette.

"We beat Ray twice during the regular season, which could pose problems going into the championship game," he said. "I'm sure they will be changing their scheme. I'm pretty sure that they will focus on our running game by stacking the box and blitzing often."

If that is the Jr. Bearcats' gameplan, the Jr. Panthers will be ready as Navarrette acknowledged the focus in practice leading up to Tuesday's championship had been preparing for that scheme. He said his team would be ready to counter Ray's attack.

Ray's defense figures to have its full on both sides of the ball considering Navarrette says one of his team's strengths in the defense.

"We are very stingy with points," he said. "If you score on us, you earned it. Our defense is fast and very hard hitting."

The Jr. Panthers' success during the last two seasons can be attributed to Navarrette, who knows a thing or two about winning championships, and what he calls a "great coaching staff."

"(Our) staff is dedicated to the team and provides lots of knowledge," he said.

The only thing that stands between the Panthers and a repeat CJHL Championship is a 17th-straight victory.

It's been said: Never bet against a streak.

Local elected officials meet new CAC President

Local elected officials from the Copper Corridor had the opportunity to have a joint meeting with the newly hired President of Central Arizona College. Dr. Jackie Elliot was selected as the President of CAC following a nationwide search following the retirement of former President Doris Helmich. Dr. Elliot explained to the rural Pinal County elected leaders that she intends to keep the Aravaipa Campus open and also help to create programs that are relevant to the needs of today's workforce.

PRETEND PLAY

- Advocate for play – open your home and schedule time for play. Re-evaluate your child's schedule to make sure there are plenty of opportunities and time for play.
- Provide the resources for stimulating play – not necessarily toys, just plenty of varied objects visible to children. Then, let their creativity take over.
- Join in the fun, but let your child take the lead. You may think you look silly, but you are expanding your child's learning.
- Encourage your child to use his imagination.

Parents and caregivers can help children reach their full potential. It starts with embracing the huge value that play has in helping children learn critical skills that are essential for their future.

About First Things First – First Things First is a voter-created, statewide organization that funds early education and health programs to help kids be successful once they enter kindergarten. Decisions about how those funds are spent are made by local councils staffed by community volunteers. To learn more, visit FirstThingsFirst.org.
