Superior Unified School District AIMS scores and what they mean

By Nina Crowder
Superior Sun

AIMS in Arizona is the acronym for Arizona Instrument to Measure Standards. AIMS is not just important for SUSD it is important for all school districts throughout the state. Many people look at AIMS testing as a hassle or just another hurdle put in the education process in the state, however, it can be an invaluable tool to gauge progress and address the needs of our educational system. It is a program implemented and administered by the Arizona Department of Education. Community members and parents have inquired about the AIMS testing asking what it is for and why is it necessary.

At a recent meeting with Arlynn Godinez she explained in detail what the AIMS testing does and how it helps with monitoring the schools needs. Godinez said, "I would make the generalization that overall in reading K-12, I would venture to say our students consistently scored comparatively to the county. Reading is definitely an area of strength in our district. The area's where we continue to struggle is math and science. About fourth grade through 10th grade as these were the most recently tested."

Godinez explained, "This past year we saw growth particularly at the elementary school in grades third and fifth. The jr. high fell again and we saw a slight increase in the math scores, but our jr. high has struggled more than any of the other two sites. That is really the area of focus. Our high school really grew this year particularly in the area of math and writing, as a result of that our high school went from a grade of a C to a B. The jr.

high, because it has struggled and remained a D it has been labeled priority, which in terms of that state it is being closely watched by the state and it is impairative that we improve. The state sends a people out to monitor the school about three times during a semester it requires a significant amount of paperwork on Superior Unified School District's staff. There is a greater presence by the state because typically the state doesn't send anyone in at all, so now we will have people on campus once or twice every semester that is true on both sites JFK and the jr. high. When you look at degrees of achievement, you have priorities which means we are close to failing and something needs to be done so the state steps in to oversee the school. We all need to work harder."

The EPA held hearings in Hayden last week to help inform the public about the new safety requirements being implemented and how they will affect local employer Asarco.

Update on EPA investigation of ASARCO Hayden Plant Site meeting held

By John Hernandez
Copper Area News

Public meetings were held on Oct. 21 and 22 in Hayden to update the public on the investigation by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) of the ASARCO Hayden Plant Site. The investigation of the industrial areas of the site has been on going for a year. The EPA has been monitoring and sampling air, soil and water in the area to determine the nature and extent of contamination of the environment.

About 35 people attended the meeting including members of ASARCO, EPA, Arizona Department of Health Services (ADHS), Arizona Department of Environmental Quality (ADEQ), Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR) as well as Hayden/Winkelman residents. Pete Rios, Pinal County Supervisor for district one and Ken Montoya representing Congresswoman Ann Kirkpatrick's office also attended.

John Hillenbrand, EPA Remedial Project manager provided the presentation on the investigation updates. There was a discussion session during and after the presentation.

Printed information on the updates and proposed testing for blood lead and urine arsenic in Hayden and Winkelman was made available. Ben Gerhardstein, ATSDR gave the presentation on the planned lead and arsenic testing. Due to findings of arsenic and lead in levels above the EPA standards, free testing of blood and urine for arsenic and lead is being offered to children and pregnant women. (see article on free testing) Air monitoring systems have been placed in and around residential areas near the plant site. They have measured the air quality for the past year and it has shown that arsenic, lead and cadmium are present in amounts above the EPA's safety levels. The Hillcrest neighborhood and the area around Terrace Hill Drive had the highest

"The state looks at growth when they are looking at giving schools labels they want to see kids as they progress educationally, they want to see kids on the upward projection they want to see kids increasing in scores. The state wants to know and see that the kids are continuing to make growth as they progress or do we have declines," Godinez added.

Superintendent Patrick O'Donnell said, "The biggest thing is some grade levels we aren't seeing any growth, even though they were really good to that point and then all of a sudden they bottomed out and then after that they started to grow again."

Godinez presented many charts about the Superior School District. This is information from one of the charts: The Superior School third graders will be the graduating class of 2019. The SUSD third graders are being used as our benchmark and we will follow them from 2010 through 2014 as our example. Starting in 2010 the third graders math percentile was 71, the reading percentile was 82. For the year 2011 the now fourth graders math percentile was 55 and the reading percentile was 64. For the year 2012 the now fifth graders math percentile is 38 and the reading percentile was 48. For the year 2013 the now sixth graders math percentile was 60 and the reading percentile was 80. For the year 2014 the now seventh graders the math percentile is 40 and the reading percentile is 68.

These numbers are used to gauge the progress among the schools and compare them with other districts throughout the state and to help implement new teaching methods that will help our children progress.

If you want more information on the class your child is in or the scores of the Superior Unified School District or any other districts in the state please feel free to visit the state of Arizona website: www.azed.gov/reasarch-evaluation/aims-assessment-results/.

levels of concentration of the metals. The air monitoring will continue for another year.

Soil sampling was conducted in non-residential areas of the industrial plant around the smelter and concentrator and outlying natural areas. High concentrations of the metal have been confirmed in the Hayden plant and former Kennecott concentrator. Concentrations of the metals have been found in outlying non-residential areas including arroyos in the area. Hillenbrand said parents should keep their children from playing in those areas.

The drinking water supply wells of Hayden/Winkelman have been monitored and sampled and found to meet EPA drinking water quality standards. Storm water, ground water and river water has been sampled. Stormwater samples collected from the Kennecott wash area showed arsenic, copper and lead greater than EPA standards in the runoff. Pockets of groundwater have showed levels of metals above the drinking water standards. More testing of river water sampling will be conducted.

Most of the soil and water data has been collected and the air sampling will continue for another year. Once all the data is analyzed and information is collected, options for clean up will be determined and presented to the public at a meeting for comment. This should occur in early 2016. After plans are completed for the clean up the clean up of the site will begin. Information repositories for community members have been established at the Hayden Public Library and the Arthur E. Pomeroy Public Library in Kearny. Documents can be reviewed there.

Panthers

By Andrew Luberda
Superior Sun

The ninth-ranked Panthers fell behind early in their first playoff game appearance since 2011, trailing eighth-ranked Glendale Prep by two touchdowns in the first quarter. But they didn't let the early deficit stop them as they came from behind to defeat the Griffins, 66 - 54.

Last Saturday's win was only the second playoff victory for the Panthers since 1998. The 2011 team also won a first round playoff game.

"In a playoff game, with a lot of underclassmen, getting down early can be detrimental for many teams," Superior head coach Ryan Palmer said after the game. "But not these kids."

The Panthers got themselves back in the game with a couple of defensive stops and some quick scores. After trailing by four points at the end of the first quarter they outscored the Griffins in the second quarter to take the lead at halftime, 38 - 32.

As he has all season, sophomore quarterback Nicolaus Cruz led the Panthers' offensive attack, throwing for five touchdowns and rushing for three more. He finished the game with 526 total offensive yards, including 357 passing and 169 rushing.

Cruz threw touchdown passes to Matthew Zavala, Elias Olmos, Michael Salazar (2), and Austin Navarrette. Sophomore running back Edgar Pacheco rushed for a touchdown.

The defense recovered four fumbles, giving the offense extra possessions which helped them outscore the Griffins in the second half, 28 - 22.

light up scoreboard in playoff win

"There was never a question whether we were going to win or lose," an elated Palmer said. "Our kids knew that if we could just minimize the defensive mistakes and make a few adjustments on offense we would win."

"They played with poise and confidence and I am extremely proud of this team."

Their reward for winning only their second playoff game since 1998?

A quarter-final matchup at undefeated and top-ranked Bagdad this Saturday.

"We are going to work extremely hard this week to prepare for the defending state champions," Palmer said. "Our kids are excited to prove what we can do, what we have worked so hard for all year."

"No better stage then against the top ranked team in the state."

The Panthers don't seem to be intimidated by the Sultans. And sometimes that's half the battle; avoiding defeat before even getting on the field. The offense has shown it can produce championship caliber results.

The defense will need to show the same, starting this week.

"We still have not played our best game," Palmer said. "We need to come out and play with confidence and determination."

"I can guarantee that these kids will be prepared, motivated, and will leave it all on the field this week."

This week would be a good time for the Panthers to play their best game of the season. Their third playoff win since 1998 awaits them if they do.

'Omya Community Day' at the Arboretum for Superior residents

Superior residents know that OMYA operates the gleaming white factory about a mile east of Boyce Thompson Arboretum on highway 60. What you might not know is what employees manufacture inside.

Ask Janeen Duarte or other engaging OMYA staff and they'll explain that OMYA processes calcium carbonate for the food and pharmaceutical industries. OMYA has been a leading employer in Superior since the plant opened in 'Y2K,' and demonstrates community investment in a variety of ways throughout the year;

OMYA, also a corporate-level sponsor of the Arboretum, invites Superior residents to come explore the gardens and trails on Saturday, Nov. 8, and to stop by OMYA's booth for a hotdog, chips and a drink.

"As a corporate member of the Arboretum, our goal is to encourage more residents of Superior to join, too; so we're sponsoring a membership drive on Nov. 8, and OMYA will pay half for all Superior residents who buy their annual membership at BTA on the 8th," said Duarte.

Superior residents already get a bargain rate through BTA's "good neighbor" half-price membership level, meaning a family can enjoy the gardens for a full year for just $30. Join on Nov. 8, and that price is reduce to just $15, with OMYA generously kicking-in the other $15.

"There's so much to see at the Arboretum," said Duarte, "by early November the trees are changing color along the trails. BTA is famous for fall color in their pistachio and honey-locust trees, and Nov. 8 there are guided tours you can attend, including the Edible & Medicinal Desert Plants walk guided by Jean Groen."

Take a few minutes and chat with Janeen or other OMYA staff during lunch and you'll learn how sedimentary limestone deposits left by ancient marine creatures are used today. You might even be surprised to learn that OMYA is Kosher certified! And, while they may not also be kosher, hot-dogs will be free, so, bring the kids, grandkids, nephews and nieces. For information about OMYA, call 520.689.2501. Learn more about the Arboretum by exploring the website ag.arizona.edu/bta.
