AZGFD asks hunters to help keep Chronic Wasting Disease at bay; Arizona remains CWD- free due to surveillance efforts

PHOENIX — The Arizona Game and Fish Department is asking hunters to continue doing their part to help keep Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD) at bay. CWD is a fatal wildlife disease that affects the nervous system of deer and elk.

All successful deer and elk hunters are encouraged to bring the head of their harvested animal — especially bucks and bulls — to any department office statewide between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The department is requesting that hunters call in advance before delivering a head for sampling.

The preferred method for storage is to place the head in a heavy-duty plastic trash bag, and keep it cold or frozen until it can be sampled. The department also requests hunters to provide accurate hunter information (name, telephone number), as well as hunt information (hunt number, game management unit in which the animal was harvested, state and hunting license number). This information is crucial should CWD be detected in a sample.

Department officials have not detected any cases of CWD in the 500-plus deer (mule and white-tailed) and elk that have been harvested by hunters and voluntarily submitted for testing this fall. Game and Fish has been testing for the presence of the disease in Arizona since 1998. While CWD has been found in the neighboring states of Utah, New Mexico and Colorado, the disease has not been detected in Arizona. CWD has not been documented to cause disease in people.

ADOT announces Name-A-Snowplow contest winners; one plow heads to Superior

PHOENIX – The results of the Arizona Department of Transportation Name-A-Snowplow contest are in and Arizonans have chosen three pun-tastic names for ADOT snowplows.

After tabulating nearly 7,000 votes, the winning snowplow names are:

- “Alice Scooper”
- “Snowguaro”
- “Frost Responder”

These three winning names beat out 12 other finalists in ADOT’s first Name-A-Snowplow contest. The names will be affixed to the driver- and passenger-side doors of the truck cab so the snowplows can be identified by name.

“Alice Scooper” will be stationed at an ADOT maintenance yard in Flagstaff, “Snowguaro” will patrol highways near Superior, Ariz., and “Frost Responder” will, uh, respond to winter weather from its soon-to-be-home in Page, Ariz.

In October, Arizonans submitted nearly 4,700 names in the first phase of ADOT’s Name-A-Snowplow contest. For the winning names, “Alice Scooper” was submitted by 25 people, “Snowguaro” was submitted by six people and “Frost Responder” was submitted by two people.

ADOT has 200 snowplows and nearly 500 trained snowplow operators at highway maintenance yards across the state, ready to deploy when snow falls. Arizona’s high country can receive a tremendous amount of snowfall –

Flagstaff, in fact, is one of the snowiest cities in the country. These snowplows and their skilled operators play major roles in clearing highways during and after winter storms, laying down deicer prior to storms and are even put to work during the spring, summer and fall to push mud, boulders and debris off highways after rainstorms.

Already in November, snow has fallen in Arizona’s high country. ADOT encourages motorists to make safe and smart decisions when inclement weather hits. For real-time highway conditions, including views from ADOT’s statewide network of highway cameras, visit az511.gov or download the AZ511 app from Apple’s App Store® or Google Play™.

ARIZONA GAME AND FISH

CWD is transmitted and spread by animal movement and direct contact, which means the illegal importation of a cervid carcass or parts with brain or spinal column tissue of an infected animal could introduce the disease into Arizona. To that point, an individual is only allowed to possess, transport or import the following portions of cervids lawfully taken in another state or country:

- Boneless portions of meat, or meat that has been cut and packaged.

- Clean hides and capes with no skull or soft tissue attached.
- Antlers, clean skull plates or skulls with antlers attached with no meat or soft tissue remaining.
- Finished taxidermy mounts or products (hunters may ship their harvested animal to a taxidermist)
- Upper canine teeth with no meat or tissue attached.

Do not bring the brain, intact skull or spinal column of a deer or elk harvested in another state back into Arizona.

It may take longer than a year before an infected deer or elk develops symptoms of CWD, which can include drastic weight loss (wasting), stumbling, listlessness and other neurological symptoms. CWD can infect deer and elk animals of all ages, although it’s most frequently noticed in older animals. CWD is fatal, and there are no treatments or vaccines.

All hunters are advised not to shoot, handle or consume any animal that is acting abnormally or appears to be sick. Wear latex or rubber gloves when field dressing deer or elk. All hunters are asked to contact the department at 1-800-352-0700 if they see or harvest an animal that appears to be sick.

For information about importation of harvested animals in other states, contact that state’s wildlife management agency. For more information about CWD, visit the Chronic Wasting Disease Alliance website at <http://cwd-info.org/>.

Shop Superior! Shop Local!

The year 2022 has flown by, and once again we are in the midst of preparing to celebrate revered holidays and preparing to welcome a new year. Personally, Thanksgiving is one of my favorite times of the year; it is a time of great reflection and a time to express our gratitude for the blessings that have been bestowed upon each of us. This time of the year also is a perfect time to give back and share our time, talent and treasure with others, by aiding those in need through our nonprofits by volunteering or making a financial contribution to support their charitable activities.

An important way we can all give back to our community is by shopping locally this holiday season. When we shop locally, we not only are supporting local business owners and their families and employees, but we are also keeping our dollars local which helps to generate revenues for our Town that support our public safety and other services. For every $100 we spend in our community, roughly $68 stays in our local economy. With our support through local purchases, our local businesses provide jobs and income to their employees – many of them our neighbors. These businesses also donate to the organizations that help many people and causes in our community and the list of benefits that inure to our community when we shop locally goes on and on.

Superior has quite the variety of shops, boutiques, art galleries, restaurants and experiences to share with others. A unique gift may be a Jeep tour with the Superior Tour Company, a UTV rental, and a local restaurant gift card, or an art class at Art 145 or Heartsong Gallery. Another memorable gift could be a membership or passes to the Boyce Thompson Arboretum, and don't forget they will be reopening their newly renovated gift shop. For the foodie in your life, there are many restaurants that appeal to a wide range of tastes. Gift local Arizona wines from Bruzzi Vineyard and of course, one of our legacy enterprises, Save Money Market, offers many unique ingredients for the home chef in your life. The breadth of creative gifts available throughout local businesses in Superior has greatly expanded and sadly, it is impossible to name them all.

Our Superior Chamber of Commerce is planning a wonderful promotion this "Small Business Saturday" when you purchase $25 in merchandise at one of the local merchants, bring your receipt to the Chamber for a chance to win a $100 gift certificate. We are excited to be working with their new Executive Director, Shayna Beasley, and I encourage you to get to know her and consider membership in our local chamber of commerce.

I look forward to seeing many of you throughout our holiday activities in Superior. The Legends of Superior Trails will be hosting their luminaria hike on Saturday, Dec. 3, and the Superior

Meet Shayna Beasley – First Ever Superior Chamber of Commerce Director

For the first time in the history of the Superior Chamber of Commerce, the longstanding organization in Superior has a paid Executive Director. For the past decade when the Chamber and the Town of Superior have experienced a great deal of growth, the Chamber has been led and managed by volunteers and their board of directors.

The Chamber recently hired Shayna Beasley to be the Executive Director. This allows the board to provide direction and guidance to the work of the director, but now the organization is not entirely dependent on volunteers to manage the day-to-day and long term operations of the organization.

Shayna and her husband Terry moved to Superior two years ago. She has 15 years of marketing experience, and a lifetime of small business experience. Her father owned a locksmith business and ran it out of her childhood home, and as she grew up she helped with office operations and eventually assisted on service calls with her dad. Her husband, Terry, a professional barber, recently opened his barber shop Superior Barbershop on Pinal Avenue. Shayna sees great potential in Superior and is excited to lead the Chamber during this time of “great transformation” in the community.

“I love Superior, I have never felt such a strong sense of community as I have here,” she explained.

As the Executive Director, she will work closely with the board and Chamber President Rick Cartier to ensure the Chamber operates sustainably. Together, they have already added a few new chamber activities such as the upcoming Small Business Saturday event coming up on Saturday, Nov. 26. The Chamber also hosted a reception to honor several local businesses prior to the State of the Town event.

“We are looking forward to hosting our annual events like the Home Tour and the Apache Leap Mining Festival, and possibly adding a few other activities,” she said.

The Chamber is recruiting volunteers to serve as hosts at both the Chamber office and the Caboose Visitor Center.

Recently the board has added several new board members. With a current 11-member board, the board is now comprised of a diverse group of business owners and community leaders, which she reports is generating new ideas and opportunities for the organization. “I am anticipating a big year for the Chamber,” Shayna said.

Shayna Beasley is the Superior Chamber of Commerce's first ever executive director.

Accepting God's Wisdom

You've probably heard the phrase – 'wise in his own eyes.' 1 Corinthians 1:20 asks: 'Where are the wise?' Worldly wisdom excludes God because it relies on being self-sufficient. That makes human knowledge the highest authority. It refuses to accept God's authority and guidance. God calls this being foolish, because it keeps humans from finding and believing the truth of their Creator. Our worldview is based on God's Word and the message of Jesus Christ. The secular viewpoint is a rejection of God and His truth.

We cannot compromise the work of Christ on the cross, or twist it to meet our own ideas. Worldly wisdom does not grasp the significance of Jesus' sacrifice there on the cross. The thought that He must have done something wrong against the government goes against Scripture.

Jesus' death on the cross, is what paid the penalty for our sins. Through His sacrifice and death, we are set free from a life plagued by sin. We then gain spiritual salvation, healing and freedom from sins' power over us. This allows us to have a personal relationship with Almighty God and a future home in Heaven! Our faith comes only from God – not man's ideas or plans. Thank you, Jesus for saving my soul!

Fill-A-Bowl returns with record success

Superior High School's Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) President Nathan Taylor reported that the Fill-A-Bowl fundraiser raised over $2,500 for the Superior Food Bank.

"This is a record amount raised for our food bank since the history of the Fill-A-Bowl fundraiser," he said.

The fundraiser was supported by Resolution Copper who provided some financial support to the event along with the Woodman Life Chapter 60 who donated the bowls. Soups were made by Tony Martinez Jr., who made his famous minestrone soup and a potato soup. The Tameron family from Los Hermanos made Posole and Max and Elizabeth Magallanez made chicken noodle soup. More than 160 people attended the event to enjoy the delicious soups and fellowship while helping to support the food bank.

Taylor further explained that the FBLA Chapter at Superior High School continued this tradition which was started by the DECA club several years ago. The school had to switch from DECA to FBLA after a curriculum switch.

"This is our community service project for the year and we are thankful for all of the support we were able to provide to our food bank and the help from all of our volunteers and sponsors so we can accomplish this goal," he said.

He estimates that the group invests around 40 hours of volunteer time to set up, prepare and promote the event, including decorating each of the bowls.
