David R. Parrish died on Dec. 13, 2020 at Casa de la Luz Hospice. He was 80 years old, and had been battling a brain tumor, end-stage renal disease, heart disease caused by Agent Orange, Valley Fever, and a broken hip.

Dave was born in Michigan and had two brothers and five sisters. After high school he joined the Air Force, and was stationed in Michigan, Bermuda, Georgia, Mississippi and did one tour in Phu Cat, Vietnam during the Tet Offensive. He was honorably discharged in 1969 with the rank of Staff Sergeant and earned a medal of commendation.

Dave returned to Michigan and worked for 30 years as a pipe fitter. In 2009, Dave began a new journey in San Manuel, and loved working with students at First Avenue Elementary where his son, was a teacher. You could often find Dave in a first grade classroom helping students with their reading. He also helped with book fairs, the Christmas shop, and the Spring Fling. Dave became close to many special people during his time in Arizona: relatives Jack and Karen Cole and their children and grandchildren; Manny and Velma Estrada; Gibby and Yvette Guerrero and their children Julie and Jesus; Annette Soqui; Carmen Ronquillo; Abel Aguirre; Isabel Austin; Sabrina Cazares; Manuel Chavez; Tara Garcia; Jimmy and Deanna Woods and family; Helen Ramirez; and the crew at Mammoth dialysis: Jim, Roxanne, Buffy, Cappy, and Tina. Dave was also very appreciative of the people at Mountain Vista school where his son is a teacher who have been so accommodating when his son had to take time off to help him: Crystle Nehrmeyer, Shannon Soule, Amber Cruea, Corrie Guerrero, Verdean Smith, and Dale Tom.

He is survived by his wife, Peggy; children, Cherlyn and Mark; three grandchildren; a brother and five sisters and many cousins, nieces and nephews.

Dave and the family ask that donations be made to the VA Hospital by calling 520-629-1822 or going to tucson.va.gov. David's ashes will be buried this summer in Michigan.

Letters to

The holiday tradition of children writing letters to Santa Claus at Christmas is more than 150 years old. The first Santa letters were actually from St. Nicholas to children, counseling them on their behavior. The first images of St. Nicholas were of him as a disciplinarian wearing his clerical garb and complete with a birch switch in hand to use on a wayward child. Parents wrote the letters to admonish their kids and motivate them to adjust their behavior. The letters were left in or by the children's Christmas stockings. Soon the children responded with their own letters to St. Nick letting him know that they were good.

As the images of St. Nicholas grew into the Santa Claus we know today, so did the tradition of children sending letters to Santa. During the Civil War, the price of postage was lowered and postal service improved. An image by popular cartoonist Thomas Nast of Harpers Weekly showed Santa sitting at a desk with two piles of letters one for naughty children and one for the good children. This helped promote the idea of sending letters to Santa. Nast is also credited with the idea that Santa Claus lived at the North Pole with an 1866 illustration with Santa's address as Santaclausville, N.P. This gave kids a destination to send their letters and soon post offices around the country began receiving letters to Santa.

The post offices sent back letters or placed them in the dead letter office where they were later destroyed. Newspapers began printing the letters and soon requested kids send letters directly to them even offering prizes for the best letters. Charitable organizations requested that the post office send them the letters so they could help those kids in need get a Christmas present.

Here are some letters from 100 years ago. You can see the toys have changed over the years as well as some of the requested items but kids are still kids. Merry Christmas, everyone!

San Manuel Elks Annual Children's Christmas Party – A Socially-Distanced Success

In spite of the ongoing pandemic, or perhaps because of it, the San Manuel Elks held a socially-distanced Children's Christmas Party earlier this month. Activities were held outside and inside, visits were held with a masked Santa Claus (in fact, masks were worn by all so Santa wasn't alone). Gifts were distributed by Santa's Elves – er, Elks. Everyone had a merry, jolly time.

John Hernandez | Miner

Dear Santa ...

Christmas is coming. It will be here ever so soon. In every land, every country, every city or town or village - really, anyplace you can find on a map and many places that you cannot - children have written their holiday missives, expressing their heart's desires and are anxiously awaiting a Christmas visit from Santa.

The United States Postal Service site states, "Each year, hundreds of thousands of letters sent to Santa from children and families arrive at Post Offices around the country. Most letters ask for toys and games. Some ask for basic necessities. Some ask for help for themselves and their loved ones."

For as long as children have been sending letters to Santa, he has cherished these communications and shared them with his wife. In December of 1899, Santa decided to share a letter to be printed in a newspaper. The letter was quite simple. In it an unnamed girl said, "Dear Santa, If you haven't time to pick out things for me, just leave everything you've got."

The very next year, many more letters to Santa were printed in the same newspaper. A tradition was born. Though Santa has never explained the reason he started sharing the letters he receives and allows them to be printed, there are many theories which he has equally never denied as possibilities.

The chief theory is that with the increased population of the world, Santa was using this method of communication to seek out new helpers. Another theory, somewhat less likely to apply in all situations, is that the newspaper editor had been a very good boy or girl in their youth and Santa felt they deserved an extra present.

To read more about the history of Santa sharing his letters with newspapers, and more historical letters that were shared, visit the Tampa Bay Times for a great article by Christopher Spata, at <https://tinyurl.com/y9nvj3t6>.

Our local children of the Copper Corridor have joined the ranks of hopeful letter writers this season. True to form, Santa's belly shook with mirth as he read each one. These are the ones Santa was especially tickled with, and generously decided to share with us.

Please be patient where we might make mistakes. Sometimes, things are hard for us to read that Santa, due to the twinkle in his eye, can read with expert precision every time.

many other letters take.

that Sam did not check either Naughty or Nice, have done. No! Sam went right ahead and inserted his like an ornament from the line above, where children state their name, placing it right in-between the two choices, and then checked that.)

Electric Light Parade – 2020 Version: San Manuel hosts

Giving the boot to the old Grinchy pandemic never sparkled so bright!

On Saturday, a group of folks spread some needed Christmas joy to the neighborhoods of San Manuel.

An illuminated vehicle parade of ATVs, classic cars, and oh so many more gathered in front of Peppersauce Motorsports & Rentals and, as soon as the sun set, headed out to light up the community. The cruise allowed all residents to experience the twinkle lights in a safe, socially-distanced manner.

And as an added nose-thumbing to the Grinch, the parade served as a fund-raiser for the local food bank, so all the Whos in Whoville could enjoy a lovely Christmas dinner.

December 2020 – A Christmas Story

By Anthony De La Torre
Special to Copper Area News

Some of you can remember back to Dec. 18, 1966. You'll recall a Christmas story was broadcast nationwide on CBS. In it a green menace descended on the town of Whoville, with a plan to steal Christmas.

This was cartoon "pretend" of course.

No pretend this Christmas of 2020. The Grinch, now with an alias of COVID-19, has descended with a mengeance (menace + vengeance = mengeance), to steal our jobs, maybe even grandma, grandpa, even junior. So many of us have lost someone, or know of someone who has.

We are in winter, soul-wise.

"Fa-la-la" would ring hollow this year.

We need a story of hope. The best, I think, was broadcast some 2000 years ago, and captured best by a Doctor named Luke. Start there.

I've never had much to give my kids, but they all have always enjoyed my stories. So each Christmas, I write them one from my heart. This one seemed appropriate for this moment. It is a story of death and loss, and yet hope. May it buoy you this Christmas. I entitled it The Reluctant Santa. "Santa," derives from both Latin and Spanish words meaning SAINT. We are all invited to be that, though like Joe in my story, we come to it reluctantly. Here Joe, involuntarily volunteered by his wife Rosie to dress up as Santa and make a Christmas Eve house call to a critically ill little boy, realizes he is out of his element and comfort zone. Let us enter the tale...

What do I say to a kid who is dying? Joe pondered. With no clue, he did what all good Santas do. Dear God, this fat man in red feels very inept. Please help me with this one.

A good prayer. Honest. Direct. Short. Answered.

The help started with the phone call to Luke's parents. Joe decided he wanted to really know this little boy before he met him. He gently asked the parents many questions. "Does Luke have any brothers or sisters? Ah, a baby sister Amy. And how about pets? Two puppies huh? One tan, one white. Got it. And their names? Like in Snow White and the Seven Dwarves? I love the kid already."

What else? "Ah yes, does Luke have a favorite color? Red.

Huh. You know I am growing particularly fond of that color myself. One last question, hard for me to ask, but it may help me when I visit. Does Luke, well, know about?... Ah. Yes, very hard to talk about isn't it? Very hard..." They didn't tell him. Does he know he is dying? What do I say if he asks Santa?

"Sorry, what was that again, Mrs. Morningstar? When can I come? Well when would be best for you folks? About 7:00 tomorrow night? Yes, that would work. 7:00 then. Oh, you're very welcomed."

At seven sharp, next evening, Joe was at the door. Through the long side windows framing the big front entry, he could see a huge fir tree, a good two stories high. Dwarfed at its base was a sunken-chested, pale, hairless little boy of indeterminate age. He was clad in Superman pajamas. Joe rang the doorbell.

"Son, see who's at the door for me please," the boy's mother shouted from the kitchen. Joe pressed the button again.

"Son, the door..."

"OK Mom, I'm going." Luke padded slowly toward the door. It seemed the weight of the world pressed down on his shoulders. As he got closer Joe started 'chink-chink-chinking' the four brass bells attached to the bottom corners of his gift bag. Disbelief, then awe, swept across Luke's face. He ran to the window, "When what to his wandering eyes should appear," but a big guy in red, robustly shouting "Ho-Ho-Ho!"

Luke's jaw dropped open, and he froze where he stood.

"Who is it son?"

"You're not going to believe it if I tell you, Mom!"

"Of course I will, now who is it?"

"It's Santa Claus, Mom! Santa!" the little boy gasped.

His Mother came from the kitchen, wiping her hands on her apron. "Well let him in, hon. Let him in!"

Joe stepped in and shook the boy's pale, limp hand.

"Are you the REAL Santa?" Whispered the wide-eyed little boy.

"Are you the REAL Luke?" Santa intoned, imitating Luke.

"Hey, how did you know my name?"

"I know a lot of things, Luke."

"Like what?"

"Oh, like you favorite color is red. Good choice. It's the color of love, you know."

Luke's eyes register surprise. But he had to be sure.

"What's my little sister's name? And my dog's?"

"Your baby sister's name is Amy." Then Joe rubbed his chin, as if in deep concentration, and unnoticed by Luke, gave his mom a little thumbs up. Yesterday's phone call was paying off. Then to Luke, Joe answered, "As for the dogs, the white one is Sleepy. Happy is tan."

Luke gasped. "He knows! Mom, it is the REAL Santa! Santa, you have to see our tree, its hu-m-u-n-gous! Come look! I think Dad got us the biggest and best-est tree in the whole world!"

Luke's Dad entered the room cradling baby Amy. He nodded at Joe, beaming. Joe nodded back.

"I helped decorate it. The bottom anyway," Luke said proudly, pointing at the tree. Santa gasped, clapped his white-gloved hands and shouted with glee. "Ho-Ho-Ho! Oh, it's beautiful, Luke. You're right, this IS the biggest, best-est Christmas tree ever." Then he bellowed another joyous "Ho-Ho-Ho!"

Luke looked right at him, and asked bluntly, "Santa, why do You say 'Ho-Ho-Ho' so much?"

The sudden question caught Joe off guard. He wasn't sure how to answer. But then it came. He asked quietly, "Can you keep a secret?"

A CHRISTMAS STORY

"Sure Santa."

"It's code Luke. Some folks take offense if I pray in public. So I shorten and disguise the praise. To them I am just a jolly old coot who stutters. But the joke's on them."

"So 'Ho-Ho-Ho' is a prayer?"

"You got it. Short for Hosanna! A praise prayer."

"Cool! But how come you say it three times?"

"I'd try for four, Luke. But I'm an old man. I run out of breath."

Luke thought about it for a moment, then nodded that he understood. He then confided in a whisper to the big man, "I don't have that much wind either, Santa. But don't tell my mom or dad. They'd worry."

"Try for three then."

Santa nodded.

"Me? Myself?"

Santa nodded again.

"Ho-Ho-Ho" Luke intoned timidly.

"No, no, my boy, we're praising God here. Let it build from way down deep. Then just let 'er RIP!"

Luke nodded he understood. He bowed his back, filled his little lungs with all the air he could hold, then shook the rafters. Joe patted him on the back proudly. "Now 'that's' a proper Hosanna! How did it feel boy?"

"Great!" Then in a whisper, "Can I do that up there?"

The little guy knows his time is short though everyone is trying hard to keep him from knowing. Joe realized. "Yeah Luke, in heaven you shout it out just like that! Oh, it's going to be a great shouting!" Joe's throat pinched up tight with emotion.

Joe noticed Luke's flour-dusted Mom wipe a tear from her eye with the edge of her apron. Dad gently rocked baby Amy in the crook of his arm. To Joe it seemed this little family, noble, loving, vulnerable, looked very much like another little family must have looked 2000 years ago on that first Christmas.

To both husband and wife it appeared their waxen, sunken-eyed, beaming little boy was locked in beautiful conversation with a very wise old man, a Magi, a King in scarlet robes and purest white gloves. The big man and boy seemed to glow. The parents stood transfixed.

Just then the 2 pups peeked into the room, saw Santa, and froze. Joe got down on one knee, and called cheerfully "Happy, Sleepy, come..." The two little dogs bounded to him, tails wagging. To their joy he tickled and rough-housed them a bit. Then, as he rose off his knees, the four bells his wife Rosie had sewed to the bottom of his big velvet gift bag, jingled and jangled merrily, each in its own voice.

"Santa, are those real reindeer bells?" Luke asked awed.

"Actually, they're even more special than that Luke. How do you feel when you hear them?"

"Happy!"

"Yes lad, that's their special magic. They're Gaudium's, "Joy" bells."

With deep longing, the frail little boy asked in a whisper, "Santa, do you think I could have one?"

The request caught Joe totally off guard. He didn't really want to give up any of the bells. To buy time to form a response he swung the big bag up over his shoulder. As he did so, the sack snagged on the edge of the stairwell bannister. The momentum popped one of the bells off. It tinkled loudly as it rolled across the carpet and settled right at Luke's feet. Both Luke and Joe stared at it for a silent moment. Then Santa chuckled and said, "Well Luke, it seems this bell has answered for us. It wants to stay here! It WILL stay here."

With that Joe bent over and picked up the bell. He gave it a little breather puff, and polished it on his love red sleeve. Then he motioned for Luke to put out his hand, and gently set it in his palm.

"I can keep it?" The little boy whispered, awe struck.

Santa nodded "Yes." Dang, that lump in my throat again.

A CHRISTMAS STORY

All that Santa could do at this point, was enfold the little fellow in a huge hug. His voice had truly deserted. He was barely able to croak, "Well, time for me to go, Luke. Christmas Eve you know... Miles to go..."

Luke nodded.

"Love you Luke." And then in a confidential whisper, "And, oh, you will be so very much loved where you are headed."

Luke whispered back, "Will I see you there someday, Santa?"

"I'm counting on it Luke." Damn, it was happening again, that hitch in the throat thing. How can I love and miss a kid already from just one visit? A visit I really didn't want to make.

Joe suddenly removed his soft scarlet cap and slipped it over little Luke's cancer-bald dome. "My gosh, a perfect fit... And I do believe red looks even better on you than on me Luke!"

"I get to keep it?" An awed Luke whispered.

"Yes Luke, as long as you need it." Then before anyone could protest, he gave Luke a wink and a nod, then spun and was out the front door into the night, shouting a hearty, "Ho-Ho-Ho!" as he went. It was echoed back by a brittle little "ho-ho-ho" from the doorway.

Winter passed, and with it Luke.

Then spring burst forth with new life. One bright sunny morning, what he would call "a blue bird day," Joe and Rosie's Pastor, an old German named Father Johannes, set out from the Rectory on one of his cherished neighborhood walk-a-bouts. He stopped by the home of two he loved.

Rosie had poured coffee, and was slicing them all a big piece of lemon frosted pound cake, when the doorbell rang. She excused herself, and went to answer. In a few moments she returned with a neatly wrapped small package.

"Who was that love?" Joe asked.

"The UPS man. He delivered this, for you."

"Ah," Joe said smiling, "then open it for us."

"You sure?"

"You're still holding the knife Rosie; I won't argue. Besides, it will help with the tape."

Rosie blushed, but wasted no time tearing into the box. She loved surprises, especially those addressed to Joe. Inside the box was neatly folded a red Santa's hat. To it was pinned a fine velum envelope, carefully addressed to Joe in beautiful old script handwriting. Rosie handed the envelope to Joe. He opened it, read. His eyes misted. He tried to say something, but was suddenly too choked up to speak. He just handed the note to Rosie. She read,

To the Real Santa:

Our dear little Luke wore your cap to the end. We hope that you don't mind that we kept the bell. It means so much to us. It sounds like a happy soul. Every time we ring it, we think of Luke... But we wanted to return your cap. It gets cold out there on a winter's night. We know. And you still have miles to go before you sleep. God go with you.

With all our love, always.

the Morningstars

Rosie wiped a tear from her eye with her napkin. She handed the note to the priest and blurted out something very unlike her, but then again, very much her brassy self. "Damn, if I'm not really married to Santa Claus!" She got up, gave her husband a tender kiss on his forehead, then ran out the room. The priest read the note, and sighed, and nodded agreement. He neatly folded the note and gently handed it back to Joe. Then he stood up, gave Joe an affectionate pat on his shoulder, and with genuine emotion muttered, "Ja, this Kris Kringle here is the real thing... The real thing." Then he turned and let himself out the door.

In this season of such need, may each of us prove to be "the real thing." Merry Christmas.

Copper Area News is committed to providing our readers with as much information as possible. This graph shows the positive cases as of press time on December 22, 2020. We have also included a graph showing the daily counts for the past week. Daily statewide case counts are recording higher than they were during the last peak this Summer and hospitals are becoming overwhelmed by COVID-19 patients.

There are a few points we would like our readers to consider when following this data.

1. This will continue to be a rolling total of positive cases. It does not reflect recoveries or deaths. The Arizona Department of Health Services does not break out this data.
2. If you see a reduction in numbers from day to day it is most likely due to a data entry error or mis-coding of a zip code (at the state level).
3. This is all zip code based data; most of our zip codes include unincorporated areas. There is no way to track exactly which areas each of the positive cases are. Example, Kearny and Winkelman each have small communities in their zip code that are not in the Town's incorporated boundaries.
4. If you live in Gila County, please follow the Gila County Health and Emergency Management, Facebook. They have maintained their data on recoveries and current positive cases.
5. You can follow other data such as ICU bed use, Ventilator use and hospital capacity online: <https://bit.ly/3inh280>

Working together, we can slow the spread of the virus across the Copper Corridor. Wear a mask in public, remain physically distant (6ft apart or more) and practice good hygiene (wash your hands frequently, sanitize high touch areas), stay home if you are not feeling well.

AMORIAH XIOMARA CANDELARIA

d.o.b. 06/05/2017

Person(s) under 18 years of age.

TO: AMBER NICHOLE PENA, DANIEL ALBERTO SOTO-QUEZADA, and

RUSSELL MARTINEZ CANDELARIA, JR. parents and/or guardians of the above-named children.

1. The Department of Child Safety has filed a Dependency Petition pursuant to Title 8, of the Arizona Revised Statutes, Rules 4.1 and 4.2 of the Arizona Rules of Civil Procedure and Rule 48(D) of the Rules of Procedure for the Juvenile Court.

2. The Court has set an initial hearing on the 5th day of January, 2021 at 4:00 p.m. and a publication hearing on the 2nd day of March, 2021 at 11:30 a.m., at the Pinal County Superior Court, 971 North Jason Lopez Circle, Florence, Arizona 85132, before the Honorable for the purpose of determining whether any parent or guardian named herein is contesting the allegations in the Petition.

3. You and your children are entitled to have an attorney present at the hearing. You may hire your own attorney or, if you cannot afford an attorney and want to be represented by an attorney, one may be appointed by the Court.

4. You have a right to appear as a party in this proceeding. You are advised that your failure to personally appear in court at the initial hearing, pretrial conference, status conference or dependency adjudication, without good cause shown, may result in a finding that you have waived your legal rights and have admitted the allegations in the Petition. In addition, if you fail to appear, without good cause, the hearing may go forward in your absence and may result in an adjudication of dependency, termination of your parental rights or the establishment of a permanent guardianship based upon the record and the evidence presented to the court, as well as an order of paternity, custody, or change of custody in a consolidated family law matter and an order for child support if paternity has been established.

5. Notice is given that DCS is proposing to substantiate any allegations of abuse and/or neglect contained in the dependency petition for placement in the DCS Central Registry. The DCS Central Registry is a confidential list of DCS findings that tracks abuse and neglect. If the court finds your child dependent based upon allegations of abuse and/or neglect contained in the dependency petition, you will be placed in the DCS Central Registry. See A.R.S. § 8-804.

6. If you are receiving this Notice by publication, you may obtain a copy of the Dependency Petition, Notice of Hearing, and Temporary Orders by submitting a written request to: SARAH K. HICKS, Office of the Attorney General, CFP/ PSS, 120 W. 1st Avenue, 2nd Floor, Mesa, Arizona 85210. The assigned case manager is Ogedra Morrow and may be reached by telephone at (480) 825-7007.

7. Requests for reasonable accommodation for persons with disabilities must be made to the court by parties at least three working days in advance of a scheduled court proceeding and can be made by calling (520) 866-5400.

8. You have the right to make a request or motion prior to any hearing that the hearing be closed to the public. DATED this 30th day of November, 2020. MARK BRNOVICH Attorney General

SARAH K. HICKS Assistant Attorney General 12/9, 12/16, 12/23, 12/30/20
