BLM seeks public comment on proposed Ray Land Exchange with ASARCO mining company; Proposal could create Arizona jobs while improving public land access

TUCSON, Ariz. – The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) is seeking public comment on a proposed land exchange that offers the potential to retain and create hundreds of Arizona mining jobs, as well as create new supporting jobs within nearby communities, while improving access for hunting and other recreation on public land in the state. Today's release of a Draft Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) kicks off a 90-day comment period, beginning on Nov.

17, during which the BLM is collecting public input before moving forward in the decision making process.

Under the proposed Ray Land Exchange with ASARCO LLC, a mining company, the BLM would acquire 7,304 acres of land in Pinal and Mohave Counties, a move that would consolidate checkerboard land ownership in those areas and improve access to existing public lands for hunting and other recreation. In exchange, the BLM would transfer 10,976 acres of public lands near ASARCO's Ray Mine Complex and Copper Butte properties in Pinal and Gila Counties, near Kearny. ASARCO holds existing mining and mill site claims on those public lands near the mine and if approved, would likely expand mining operations.

"Responsible development of natural resources, coupled with shared conservation stewardship, has the potential to benefit local communities and America," said BLM Gila District Manager

Scott Feldhausen. "We are committed to hearing from local communities about the use of public lands in their backyards."

Additionally, the BLM has scheduled a series of public information open houses in communities near the Ray Mine and the offered lands in Mohave County. During these open houses, the public can learn more about the proposed land exchange and provide comment on the draft Supplemental EIS. The open houses are

Sprucing up the town

The Town of Superior, along with help from the Chamber of Commerce's Blight Mitigation Committee, has set out to "spruce up" vacant or abandoned houses in Superior. A list of 67 homes have been identified that are unsafe, unsightly, in violation of Town Codes or just plain need help. Public Works, with the help of inmate crews, are removing unsafe items and cleaning up the yards, the Chamber is doing a quick paint job to brighten them up and the Town will install a product called Secure View windows. It's a clear plastic product that is very difficult to break. The intent is to help Rebuild Superior to the Town it deserves to be. You can be a part of this Superior project by calling the Chamber at 520-689-0200.

Technology, Engineering, and Computer Information Systems Pathways at Central Arizona College

PINAL COUNTY, Ariz. – The technology, engineering, and computer information systems pathways at Central Arizona College (CAC) are developed to serve the students and the needs of the community and businesses in Pinal County and beyond. The goal in designing these pathways was to provide students a flexible and equitable approach to obtaining skills and knowledge that will help them attain their education goals. The flexibility of the pathways is reflected in the various entry and exit points into and out of the technology, engineering, and information systems programs. The equity aspect lies in providing students awareness of possible futures, which they may not have thought about, and the opportunity of low risk exploration.

Students in Pinal County high schools interested in learning skills and obtaining certificates or associate's degrees in advanced technology education can take various technology related curriculum offered at CAC. The curriculum in these fields have been carefully crafted through input from industry in the county to ensure that students obtain skills and knowledge that will meet the needs of the employers in the county.

Students within the technology area, however, will also have an opportunity to explore the possibility of entering an engineering transfer program or a computer information systems program where they can obtain certificates, associate's degrees, or transfer. This means that technology students, with a minimum of risk, can test their ambitions and decide whether an engineering transfer program or a computer information systems program could be a better alternative for them. Similarly, students who enter engineering from high school, but find it unsatisfactory, can easily switch to the myriad of offerings in the advanced technologies or computer information systems.

With CIS Network Administration, Cyber-Operations and Informatics, students have a transfer path to UA South, which they can complete without leaving Pinal County. An instructor from UA South provides face-to-face instruction at CAC while another part of the program is covered with online classes.

Although technology and the computer information systems are established programs at CAC, engineering is new. The engineering transfer degree uses a guided pathways approach and provides students the opportunity to complete almost two years of their four-year engineering degree at CAC. All the courses taken in the engineering pathway at CAC will be 100% transferrable to ASU and NAU. All but one course is currently transferrable to UA. This means a significant tuition savings for students and their families, which makes the engineering degree financially more accessible to many students in Pinal and nearby counties.

Besides the various mathematics, science, and computer information systems courses needed for the first two years of engineering, the new engineering curriculum has a redesigned Introduction to Engineering (EGR102) course, and two new courses that are being offered in 2018. The EGR 102 course redesign provides a heavily project-based approach that integrates engineering and advanced technologies. This means that students will be able to practice the engineering design process by working with instructors in engineering and technology on various projects in diverse technical fields. This approach will expose students to both well-structured and real-world projects, broaden their perspective about engineering and technologies, help them identify areas of academic interest, and provide them a broader perspective and awareness of the vast possibilities in engineering and technology education at CAC. The new 2018 engineering course offerings at CAC also include two new engineering courses that are transferrable to Arizona State University and Northern Arizona University: (1) Digital Design - EGR120, which is a required course for electrical, software and computer engineering and computer science students; and (2) Circuits I - EGR222, a course which students in aerospace, civil, mechanical, biomedical, electrical,

Superior Airport masterplanning underway

In late 2016, the Town of Superior was awarded a grant from the Arizona Department of Transportation Aeronautics division to conduct a master plan for the Superior Municipal Airport. The Airport is located west of Superior off of US 60 and is home to a dirt airstrip.

When the US 60 four-lane expansion construction was started, the Town used their funds from the sale of the airport easement to fund the match for the grant. Coffman and Associates were awarded the contract to complete the study. Last week Coffman and Associates hosted an open house to share their current findings on the plan. The master plan is about half way completed; the Airport Technical Advisory Committee will meet again in early 2018 and will host another public meeting for input following that meeting.

The plan currently identifies three alternatives to improve the airport infrastructure in order maximize the potential uses of the airport for airplane parking, helicopter landing zone for both tours and medical purposes and business park development. The airport property does cross US 60 to the north, that plan also includes potential land use for that area. Several aviation enthusiasts have requested that the dirt air strip remain in the plan, as it provides a unique training ground. The three alternative development plans call for the run way to be paved, but the dirt strip could be accommodated.

In the past year the Town of Superior has made some improvements to the airport, at the request of the Federal Aviation Agency, those improvements have included new fencing to keep the cattle off the run way and regular grading of the runway.

You can learn more about that Airport Master Plan and make comments on the plan or suggest ideas for the land use of the airport online at: <http://superior.airportstudy.com>.

Superior boys basketball without a win

By Andrew Luberda
Copper Area News

The Superior boys' basketball team is surprisingly still searching for its first win of the 2017-18 season after dropping its first three games, two by lopsided margins.

The Panthers' closest defeat was at Duncan on Nov. 28 in a game the Wildkats won, 43 – 32. Junior Steven Ybarra scored a team-high 17 points to lead Superior, which is without a senior on a roster that includes six juniors, two sophomores and four freshmen.

Kale Major, a junior, had six assists while Jared Moreno had a team-high six rebounds. Cedric Mendoza, Ybarra, and freshman Dominic Hernandez each finished with five rebounds in the loss. Upcoming games: Dec. 7 at Bowie/San Simon (7 p.m.), Dec. 8 at North Phoenix Prep (5 p.m.), Dec. 11 at Baboquivari (7 p.m.), and Dec. 12 vs. NFL Yet Academy (7 p.m.).

Lady Panthers drop a pair of games to start season

By Andrew Luberda
Copper Area News

The Superior girls' basketball team lost its first two games of the 2017-18 season against Duncan and Ft. Thomas.

Junior Alexa Sandoval scored a team-high 11 points on 4-of-8 shooting from the field and 4-of-5 from the free-throw line in the Lady Panthers' 37 – 20 season-opening loss at Duncan on Nov. 28.

Hailey Neal, who had a team-high 10 rebounds, and Marlee Estatico scored four and three points, respectively. Sandoval, Estatico and Tatianna Babino pulled down six rebounds apiece in defeat.

The Lady Panthers did tally 13 steals against the Wildkats, including four by Sandoval and two each by Anisah Cardenas, Augie-Lou Hing and freshman Dolores Ramirez.

Upcoming games: Dec. 7 at Bowie/San Simon and Dec. 11 at Baboquivari. Both games are scheduled for 5:30 p.m.

LAND EXCHANGE

scheduled for:

· Jan. 16, 5 – 7:30 p.m., 701 N. Hwy. 177, Kearny, AZ 85137

· Jan. 17, 5 – 7:30 p.m., 775 N. Greenfield Rd., Gilbert, AZ 85234

· Jan. 18, 5 – 7:30 p.m., 401 N. Bonita Ave., Tucson, AZ 85709

· Jan. 23, 5 – 7:30 p.m., 1971 Jagerson Ave., Kingman, AZ 86409

The proposed Ray Land Exchange has a long history. The original Ray Land Exchange Final EIS (FEIS) was issued by the BLM in 1999, and was approved on April 27, 2000. After 10 years of appeals and legal challenges, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that a major premise of the environmental impact analysis contained in the 1999 FEIS was flawed. The court recognized that ASARCO has the right to conduct mining and related activities on those public lands based on their existing claims, but required the BLM to go back and analyze the different environmental consequences of ASARCO's likely mining operations, with or without the exchange.

The BLM completed the new Draft Supplemental EIS in order to satisfy this "with or without" analysis of environmental impacts to public lands. It also updates information to reflect any changes in environmental conditions in the project area, as well as any applicable environmental laws or regulatory policies that may have come into effect since 1999. The Draft Supplemental EIS can be found at <http://go.usa.gov/xn2FG>.

Comments and questions related to the Supplemental EIS may be submitted to Michael Werner, Project Manager, BLM Arizona State Office, One North Central Avenue, Suite 800, Phoenix, AZ 85004-4427 or emailed to RayLandExchange@blm.gov. Comments should be received by Feb. 16.

About BLM

The BLM manages more than 245 million acres of public land located primarily in 12 Western states, including Alaska. The BLM also administers 700 million acres of sub-surface mineral estate throughout the nation. The agency's mission is to sustain the health, diversity, and productivity of America's public lands for the use and enjoyment of present and future generations. Diverse activities authorized on these lands generated $75 billion in sales of goods and services throughout the American economy in fiscal year 2016—more than any other agency in the Department of the Interior. These activities supported more than 372,000 jobs.

9 Gems, Minerals & Geology at the BTA

Pinal County has world-renowned and diverse geology, including rich deposits of copper ore and gemstones such as peridot and turquoise. Learn how this came to be, and explore local geology, during a day of presentations and guided tours hosted at Boyce Thompson Arboretum (and included with $12.50 daily admission). Buy gemstones and jewelry from an array of vendors with exhibit tables set up near the Visitor Center from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Educational sessions begin at 9:30 in the Lecture Room with a 30-minute slideshow where professional geologist Scott McFadden explains basic principles of geology, making plate tectonics easier for all ages to understand. That's followed at 10 a.m. when ASU Geology Professor Steve Semken will explain the origin of minerals and rocks found in the area, followed by a guided walk down to Queen Creek to interpret the rocks we find there. At 1 p.m., ASU Planetary Geologist Laurence Garvie will present a slideshow and talk about the mineralogy of meteorites (he curates ASU's acclaimed collection of extraterrestrial rocks that have crash-landed on our planet); and throughout the morning Geologist Phil St. George will demonstrate gold panning.
