Community invited to community conversation

The Superior Chamber of Commerce is hosting a third Community Conversation about Superior's future. The meeting will be at the Chamber of Commerce offices, 165 Main St. in Superior on Monday, Dec. 14, 2015 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Light refreshments will be served. Attendees are asked to RSVP by Dec. 11 so the Chamber may have an accurate count of attendance.

Recently the Chamber embarked on an ambitious effort to understand the business climate and opportunities in the Superior area in order to help the community become more attractive for businesses, more diverse in its business offerings and more self-reliant as a community. To that end, the Chamber has engaged the services of Local First Arizona to provide facilitation at special community meetings to engage meeting participants directly for ideas and input.

Two such meetings took place on Nov. 16 and because they were so helpful, the Chamber has determined that another such meeting is called for.

On March 1, 2016, the Chamber will be hosting community meetings again. At that time, consultant teams will report their findings about Superior and participants will have further opportunities for comment and input.

Questions that will be put to attendees on Dec. 14 include:

- What do you love about Superior?
- What about Superior would you like to keep as the area grows?
- What changes would you hope to see in the future?

Attendees will discuss increasing capacity for community self-reliance.

The Chamber Board is hopeful that community members will plan to attend. Please RSVP to Sue Anderson at 602-625-3151 or by email at sasedona@gmail.com Omya 'Superior Day At BTA' Saturday, Dec. 12: A year's membership for just $17.50? Thanks, OMYA!

Superior residents know OMYA as the local firm that operates the gleaming white factory about a mile east of the Arboretum on Highway 60. But you may not know just what employees manufacture inside. Ask Janeen Duarte or other engaging OMYA staff and they'll explain that OMYA processes calcium carbonate for the food and pharmaceutical industries. OMYA has been a leading employer in Superior since the plant opened in 'Y2K,' and demonstrates community investment in a variety of ways throughout the year. OMYA is a corporate-level sponsor of the Arboretum -- and invites Superior residents to come explore the gardens and trails on Saturday, Dec. 12, 2015 - and to stop by OMYA's booth for a hotdog, chips and a drink.

"As a corporate member of the Arboretum, our goal is to encourage more residents of Superior to join, too - so we're sponsoring a membership drive, and OMYA will pay half for all Superior residents who buy their

Rio Tinto executives visit Resolution Copper Project

By Mila Besich-Lira
Superior Sun

Jean Sebastien (JS) Jacques the Chief Executive of Copper and Coal Group for Rio Tinto along with Craig Stegman who is the Chief Growth and Innovation officer for the global mining company visited the Resolution Copper project last week.

Their day included a trip underground to see the progress of construction and underground working conditions, meetings with the Resolution Copper project team, tours of the reclamation of the lower smelter pond clean up and an all hands lunch with the staff, contractors, key project supporters and meetings with community leaders.

Jacques gave a brief speech to the attendees of the all hands lunch.

"We are happy to spend $20 million dollars on sinking this shaft," he said. Jacques also explained that he was pleased to see all the final touches to the number ten shaft and that working conditions are much better than they were when he visited in the Spring of 2015. In the spring he said it was hot, muggy and foggy but now the climate underground is much better.

"BHP and Rio Tinto are committed to this project and we want to make sure that the community also wants this project," he explained.

Jacques stated that the sinking of the number nine shaft will resume. "(The) restart of number nine construction is coming," he said. He commented on the fact that the investment committee at Rio Tinto has committed to funding the project through 2016.

The crews from Odonnetto Construction presented JS with a photo of their crew with the Apache Leap in the back ground following the completion of the lower smelter pond reclamation project.

Craig Stegman thanked the community for their ongoing support of the project. "The public has never really wavered from this."

SUSD honors Employees of the Month

The Superior Unified School District has begun an employee of the month program for the 2015-16 school year. The employees are selected by nomination from their colleagues on staff.

Christine Martinez is the Earth Science and Marketing teacher at Superior Junior-Senior High School. She was nominated based on her work ethic and commitment to being a team player. Superintendent, Steve Estatico read the nomination for her: "Christine is thorough in her classes, she works hard, and she is always willing to take on what Superior Unified School District students need."

Anna Scholnick is a paraprofessional with the district. She was recognized for her positive attitude and dedication to her role at the district. Superintendent Estatico read her nomination: "There is not a day that Anna comes to work without a smile. Her positive attitude is infectious, she never complains and willingly goes where she is assigned.

The two employees were given a certificate and four passes to the Boyce Thompson Arboretum and gift certificates to Porter's Cafe and Random Boutique. The businesses above donated the items to support the employee recognition program at school district.

RESOLUTION VISIT

The commitment to this Resolution Copper project is not affected as heavily on the prices of the copper commodity. As many mines in the region have laid hundreds of people off and reduced their output, the development of the Resolution Copper project is not as affected.

"Rio Tinto invests in these projects for the long term," explained Jacques. Many of their long term mining projects have taken 18 to 20 years to complete construction, permitting and actually begin producing. To balance the company financially the Rio Tinto only invests in tier one assets which means that the ore bodies are large and can be mined in a low cost method.

Stegman and Jacques talked a little about the United States permitting process for mines; sometimes permitting can take five to ten years to complete. The permitting process does not discourage investment in the United States. "The permitting process is well defined and very thorough in the US," explained Stegman. "We invest in the United States because there are people and infrastructure here, in other projects we have to deliver those needs."

Santa needs your help!

Donations of gifts needed!

The Superior Fire Department along with the Superior Police Department are hosting a toy drive to help needy families have gifts for their children and also taking donations of small toys for the annual Christmas Eve visits from Santa on the fire truck. They are also hosting the Angel Tree this year to adopt children who are in need this holiday season.

The toys for the Christmas Eve visits need to be in the $2 to $5 range. The Angel Tree gifts can be selected at the Superior Fire Department. Families needing assistance this holiday season should contact the Fire Department. The Angel Tree program is co-sponsored by the Superior Red Bear Outfitters.

Cash donations are down this year and everyone's help is needed. You can donate toys at the Superior Fire Department or call the department for donations or to apply for gift assistance at 520-689-5671.

SUPERIOR DAY AT BTA

annual membership at BTA on Saturday," said Duarte. Superior residents already get a bargain rate through BTA's "good neighbor" half-price membership level, meaning a family can enjoy the gardens for a full year for just $35. Join this Saturday, and that price is halved. "There's so much to see at the Arboretum," said Duarte, "by early November the trees are changing color along the trails – BTA is famous for fall color in their pistachio and honey-locust trees, and Dec. 12 they have a flute concert from 12-2 p.m. - and guided tours you can attend. After lunch don't miss a chance to walk the Curandero Trail and learn about edible and medicinal Sonoran Desert plants on a walk guided by authors Kathy and Tom McDonald."

Take a few minutes and chat with Janeen or other OMYA staff during lunch and you'll learn how sedimentary limestone deposits left by ancient marine creatures are used today - you might even be surprised to learn that OMYA is Kosher certified! And, while they may not also be kosher, hot-dogs will be free – so bring the kids, grandkids, nephews and nieces.

For information about OMYA, call 520-689-2501; learn more about the Arboretum by exploring the website ag.arizona.edu/bta.
