LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Rerun of Babeu blockade?

Oracle has seen this movie before. A politician tries to whip the citizenry into a frenzy by touting the dangers that border crossers pose. The politician's message is amplified by cable networks and social media. He says crime and contagious disease are imminent threats posed by immigrants. MS 13 gang members, he claims, are embedded in waves of an alien invasion that threatens the American way of life.

This was the formulation advanced by our own Sheriff Paul Babeu and a handful of locals in July, 2014. Babeu, you recall, tried to trigger a bus blockade of Central American children headed for temporary residence at nearby Sycamore Canyon Academy.

It didn't work out so well for Babeu or his followers. Aroused to action by his incendiary language the only bus that got blockaded was one carrying Marana school children to the Y Camp.

Donald Trump has never heard of Oracle, much less grappled with the lessons that might be learned from our local experience. Trump is trodding a well worn political path pioneered by the likes of Babeu, Joe Arpaio, Russell Pearce and Dennis Kwasman. Would the fact that their political careers crashed and burned around the time of the attempted bus blockade in our community give him pause?

Would the fact that a majority of local residents supported the migrant children with shows of affection and material support?

Would he care to know that none of the dire threats to health and safety promised by Babeu and his followers ever materialized?

Probably not. But for the rest of us Oracle's experience suggests that fear mongering has its political limits. The decent humanitarian values of our citizens trumped efforts to demonize young people from our border neighbors. It was an important lesson then. It's an important lesson now.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dr. King's words are just as relevant today as they were when he said them

As we commemorate the life of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the crisis in America gives us a prime opportunity to move from symbolism to substance to "form a more perfect union, establish justice, and insure domestic tranquility." When people are oppressed, they eventually rise up to resist.

Our lawmakers and policy makers must reject laws, dismantle policies, and end practices which serve only to relegate fairness and justice to the back of the bus. We must rebuild and reassemble a rigged political system designed to stymie and stifle the will of the people. We must not allow the outcome of elections to be based on gerrymandering, voter suppression, and dark money.

We must remind our lawmakers that secrecy and lack of transparency sow discontent and distrust.

As we reflect on the legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., we must individually examine our words and deeds to make sure we do not contribute toward the toxic environment of hatred and racism and divisiveness.

In remembrance of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., let us work to achieve the dream of economic opportunity and racial equality. Let us renew our commitment to compassion, understanding, kindness, and love.

Let the healing begin!

Sincerely

/s/ James Kimes

Rios sponsors change to amendment requiring all supervisors to vote, not abstain

On Jan. 9, 2019 the Pinal County Board of Supervisors discussed and approved an amendment to their General Board Meeting Rules which were originally adopted in June of 2010.

One of the proposed rules sparked a discussion led by Vice Chairman Pete Rios. The change would allow Board members to "Abstain." from voting at anytime.

Vice Chairman Rios questioned the rule change, saying, "I don't think board members should be allowed to abstain from voting unless they have a conflict of interest that has been declared and filed with the Clerk of the Board. Otherwise we can abstain on anything for any reason."

According to records, never in Pinal County history had a board member been able to abstain from voting without abiding by Conflict of Interest protocol.

"My concern is with the public that we represent. We all represent approximately 100,000 people, we are almost to 500,000 in population in Pinal County and I don't suspect that they wanted us to represent them up here by saying I don't want to vote on that one, I am going to abstain. They want us to either vote to the affirmative or the negative," Rios explained.

The board discussed the reformation of the rules and unanimously voted in favor of Rios' proposed language, which is as follows.

All board members present at the time the question is called for are required to cast an AYE or NAY vote, unless they have previously declared a conflict of interest and submitted such in writing to the Clerk of the Board.

Chairman Todd House shared his thoughts, saying, "I appreciate your effort on this ... I am in total agreement with going forward on the guidelines that you've set forth."

Those new Pinal County General Board Meeting Rules are complete and in effect immediately.

Survey equipment and aircraft similar to the one Kennecott will likely use. The hexagonal shape 60 feet wide bird is towed 130 feet below the helicopter. The data recording equipment is mounted inside the helicopter.

Kennecott to conduct aerial surveys of Pinal, Gila counties

Late last week and early this week, letters began arriving in mailboxes throughout the Copper Corridor announcing that Rio Tinto/Kennecott Exploration would be conducting airborne geophysical surveys in Pinal and Gila counties, beginning in 2019.

“We plan to survey an area of approximately 66 square miles,” the letter reads, “as part of early-stage exploration efforts to better understand the geology of the area.”

The least intrusive and quickest means of collecting high quality data over a large area is through the use of airborne surveys. Airborne surveys are commonly used during mineral exploration to map the geophysical characteristics of the underlying bedrock which can provide a basis for geologic interpretation and help map fault structures.

The survey aircraft will fly at an altitude of approximately 200 feet above ground level with a sensor towed beneath the aircraft, over areas where Kennecott Exploration has unpatented mining claims. The towed sensor collects two measurements: the naturally occurring fluctuations in Earth’s natural magnetic field, and conductivity of the underlying bedrock. These measurements do not have any effect on human or animal health. The survey will be flown along a grid of north-south flightlines spaced approximately 1/8 and 1/16 miles apart.

Any further exploration work in the region will be dependent upon results of the airborne survey. “If our exploration efforts move forward to future stages of work (i.e. drilling), we will communicate with you again and inform of next steps,” the letter reads.

If you have any questions about this exploration activity, or would like further information about the planned work, please call the Resolution Copper Community Hotline at 520-689-3409.

Home Depot store renames Employee of the Month Award to honor Larry Ramirez

By John Hernandez
San Manuel Miner

For those of us who knew Larry Ramirez, we remember him as being kind, considerate and funny. He always had a smile on his face and was willing to help you or your organization. He was community-oriented and helped many organizations and people in the Tri-Community and surrounding areas with his work with the Mammoth-San Manuel Community Schools and as a Town Council member in Mammoth.

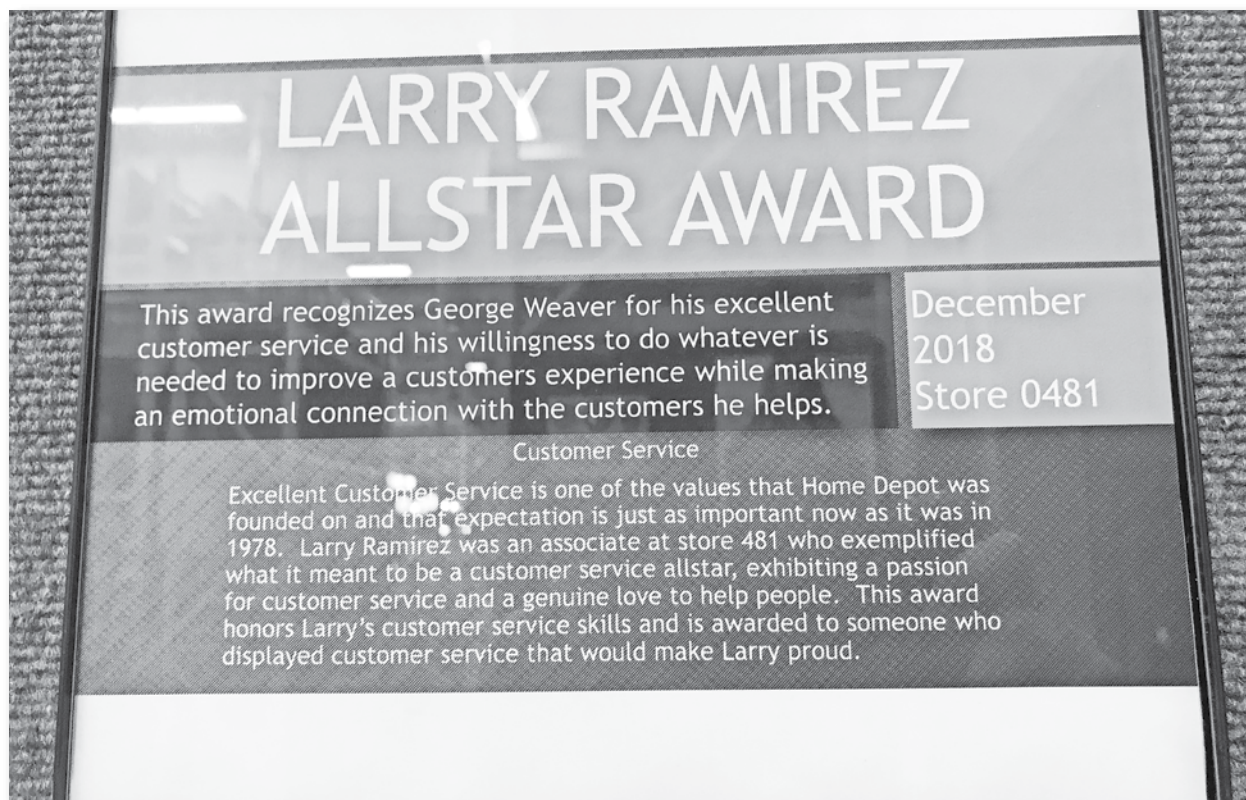

In the last few years of his life, he continued his friendly and helpful ways while working at the Oro Valley Home Depot store #481, 10855 N. Oracle Rd.

Larry was so good at his job and helping others that the Employee of the Month Award at the store has been renamed the Larry Ramirez Allstar Award in his honor. "Larry was known for his customer service. He always made people smile and helped them find what they were looking for," Jason Draper, Manager of the store said. "He was popular with staff and customers. We miss him."

Jason said of the renaming of the award: "It was the right thing to do! We wanted to recognize all his contributions to customer service and the example he set for everyone."

Jason said that Larry had received Employee of the Month on the month that he passed away.

Rest in Peace, Larry. The Tri-Community and many others will miss you.

Living Like Larry

By Jennifer Carnes
San Manuel Miner

For those of us who knew Larry Ramirez, we remember him to be a giving, caring person. He always (ALWAYS) had a smile on his face and a laugh in his voice. He had this ability to bring out the best in you and could charm a shy child into talking and smiling right back at him.

Larry was one of the first people that my family met when we first relocated to San Manuel. Our daughter was one of those shy kids. She and Larry had an immediate and amazing bond. And he was my friend.

At Larry's celebration of life, several of the speakers urged those in the audience to live our lives like Larry lived. Pay it forward. Be kind to others.

Something happened this week that brought this home to me.

I was shopping last week in Oro Valley and had the misfortune to be stuck in line behind someone with a LOT of groceries during a time when the computers at the store were malfunctioning. I struck up a conversation with another customer who was ahead of me in line. We chatted about nothing in particular but were both astonished at the amount of groceries the person ahead of us had. At this point another cashier ushered me to an open line to ring up my groceries.

When I was finished at the cash register, I took my shopping out to my car and began to load up. Oddly enough, the customer I had been chatting with was parked right next to my car and so we continued our conversation from before. I was curious about how much the person ahead of us had spent on her groceries (it was a LOT of groceries).

"I didn't see how much the total was," the lady told me. She said that at one point the other customer started putting items back, as if she didn't have enough money. "I gave her $20," the lady said.

She said when it was finally her turn with the cashier, he told her that he wished she hadn't given the lady any money. "She does that every week," he said.

"I felt bad when he told me that," the lady said. I told her that she shouldn't feel bad about helping someone out. To my reckoning, she was paying it forward and that was good karma. I found myself telling her about Larry Ramirez and that what she did was a beautiful example of living like Larry. She was moved by his story and even showed me the goosebumps she had on her arms from the story. She said that the saying Live Like Larry should be on a T-shirt. (I really think Larry would like that.)

I'm thinking that we should start a movement – #LiveLikeLarry or #WhatWouldLarryDo. No T-shirts or bumper stickers are required.

I'm up to the challenge. Are you?

Oracle hosts first Chamber Music Festival

By John Hernandez
San Manuel Miner

Earlier this month, Jan. 4 – 6, 2019, 30 students and nine instructors participated in the Oracle Chamber Music Festival. The festival not only included world renowned faculty artists but also well known talented musicians performing in concert.

The students spent their day practicing and rehearsing at the Acadia Ranch Museum, Trowbridge Hall and the Oracle Center for the Arts. They were served lunch at the Oracle Community Center and even participated in a Pilates class.

The 2019 faculty artists included: Monte Belknap, violin; Milton Masciadri, double bass; Robert Hamilton, piano; Kate Hamilton, viola; Gregory Hamilton, cello; Luciana Gallo, cello; Patricia Cole, violin; Allyson Wuenschel, viola; Stephen Cook, piano.

In the evening, chamber music concerts were held at the Oracle Center for the Arts. Donations for the concert went to support the Student Financial Support Fund. The music was provided by The Oracle Piano Quartet, Milton Masciadri, Monte Belknap, The Hamilton Trio and students.

If you would like to know more about the Oracle Piano Society and ORCA, how you can volunteer, donate and their upcoming concerts, visit www.oraclepianosociety.org.

A Dream Realized

By Stephen Cook
Oracle Piano Society

In 2012, I founded the Oracle Piano Society (OPS) intending to create the next major American music festival in the tradition of institutions like Aspen, Piano Summer at New Paltz, and Round-Top. As a young piano student, I was fortunate to attend the Piano Summer at New Paltz. Since that experience I have wanted to provide the same opportunities for the next generation of young musicians.

Appreciating the stunning natural beauty of Oracle (thanks to my wife, Bridget Opinsky Cook whose parents live here) and realizing the uncommon spirit of civic dedication, creativity, and ingenuity of the Oracle community, I was confident that Oracle would provide an inspirational setting for student musicians and professional performers.

What was unknown to me was how quickly OPS would realize its goals. In three short years since the founding, the Society was able to purchase an historic building and transform it into the Oracle Center for the Arts, a sanctuary of music and art in rural Arizona.

Now, OPS has reached a new major milestone; the launch of the Oracle Chamber Music Festival.

This festival exceeded expectations in every way. Despite being the first year, we ended up with 30 students from four universities (ASU, UNLV, BYU, & Concordia College). We also registered several younger students from the Phoenix metro area and a member from the Oracle Community.

The students ranged from beginner to near professional level and all demonstrated unwavering dedication to their studies. Thanks to the generosity of the Oracle Community, we were able to keep prices low for students and award needs-based financial support to many.

The rigorous three-day schedule involved chamber music coachings, rehearsals, Pilates for Musicians, a tour of the Biosphere 2 facility, and three nightly performances at OrCA (sponsored by Jenine Mayer, Bob Elder, & Lewis Schnellmann). The first concert featured the Hamilton Trio, Milton Masciadri, double bass, and Monte Belknap, violin. The second concert was the student showcase and can be viewed in its entirety (<http://bit.ly/OPSconcert>). For the last concert, the Oracle Piano Quartet and Milton Masciadri closed the festival.

CHAMBER MUSIC

The students lodged in casitas at the Biosphere 2, sharing rooms to keep the costs manageable. The Biosphere 2 collaborated with the festival by providing unique performance spaces where tourists could also experience the amazing music from the talented and hard working musicians.

Our internationally renowned faculty artists included bassist Milton Masciadri, violinist Monte Belknap, pianist Robert Hamilton, cellist Greg Hamilton, violist Kate Hamilton, violinist Patricia Cole, violist Allyson Wuenschel, cellist Luciana Gallo, and myself on piano. Susan Wooddruff provided lodging for our faculty at her charming Cherry Valley Ranch B & B.

Board members Coralee Thompson, Kathy Blacic, Sarah Meade Hardin, and John Blair gave tireless support with all aspects of the festival. They created a warm, welcoming environment for the students and worked to prepare and plan lunch at The Oracle Community Center, and dinners at the Triangle L Ranch, Arizona Zip-Line Adventures, OrCA, and Nonna Maria's. They even arranged for musical entertainment from Austin Owen, Jaime Miller, and Mother Cody Band at the dinner events. Julie Szekeley and Quentin Branch opened their home and cooked lunch for the BYU group who arrived one day earlier than others. The Oracle Patio Cafe donated two complete dinner meals with enough left over to give to the Oracle Community Center Monday Lunch. John, Carolyn, and Rachel Blair funded and cooked the dinner held at Arizona Zip-line Adventures. Brandon Luthy (AZ Zip-line) flipped burgers over their outdoor grill while we all stayed warm in the enclosed porch. Sarah Hardin donated her tasty homemade fruit pies for dessert.

Our volunteers provided transportation (David Hardin, Elizabeth Papandrea, Kathy Blacic, Rachel Opinsky), help with meals (Judy Kalish, Julie Szekeley, Margie Buchanan, Annabelle Portia, Jim Pollack, Lise Trease), support at concerts (Liz LaFarge, Laurel Roth, Judy Kalish, Margie Cook, Nyla Butler, Michel Opinsky, Jeannette Vallier), valet parking when OrCA's parking lot became a swamp (Ann & Christopher Lucic, Margie Buchanan), and even helped to tow some faculty members out of a snowy road (Michael Opinsky). David Jaffrey loaned his precious double bass to one student, allowing her to avoid the extra cost of flying with her own bass. Scott LeGear, A. Subset Photography, took hundreds of photographs, worked long hours before, during and after the festival to immortalize these special moments, all of which he donated.

In addition, individuals and businesses throughout Oracle opened their doors to provide lodging and spaces for practice and coachings including the Oracle Union Church, The Acadia Ranch Museum, The Oracle Community Center, St Helen's Catholic Church, Elaine Helzer's Studio, and Sarah and David Hardin's home. Doug Stiltner created a road sign for the festival and placed it at the west entrance of American Avenue.

Student scholarships came from Oracle Union Church, OWN Oracle, Marie Lamfrom Charitable Fd, Clare Angell, Nyla Butler, Coralee Thompson, Leonard and Susan Thomas in honor of their daughter, Rachel (violinist), Rachel and Michael Opinsky, Stephen Cook's birthday fundraiser, Kate Hamilton, Robert Hamilton, ASU, and UNLV. BYU also gave scholarships directly to their students.

The extraordinary outpouring of support from the Oracle community and beyond is humbling and inspiring.

Thanks to the faculty, the board, the students, the volunteers, the donors, Arizona Commission on the Arts grant, and the community at large. The inaugural 2019 Oracle Chamber Music Festival was a huge success!

Oracle Piano Society has already booked the Biosphere 2 for our next chamber music festival in the 2019-2020 season and will strive to make the second annual Oracle Chamber Music Festival even better than the first!

Oracle Union Church offers new series, 'Simply Christian'

Beginning the New Year, 2019, the Oracle Union Church will present a series led by Dr. N.T. Wright, a well-known and respected New Testament teacher. This series, entitled Simply Christian, will enable participants to engage in his presentation that the Christian faith is reasonable and rewarding for us today. He emphasizes that, in spite of the doctrinal accretions of the faith, one can be simply a Christian, a follower of Jesus. He will direct our attention to topics like Justice and Spirituality, God, Jesus, Scripture (and 6 others) for our thinking and response. The sessions will be built around video presentations by Tom and then discussion. A book of the same title is available for $10.

The hour-long sessions will begin on Jan. 20, 2019 at 3 p.m. They will be held in Trowbridge Hall behind the Oracle Union Church Chapel at 705 American Ave. in Oracle. Call 784-1868 or 896-2544 for further information.
