OBITUARIES

Robert Martinez Jr.

Robert Martinez, Jr., 26, passed away Jan. 11, 2014, at his home in Dudleyville. He was born Sept. 14, 1987, in Kearny, AZ, to Robert Sr. and Nancy Martinez.

Robert Jr. is survived by his daughter, Dominique; father, Robert Sr.;

stepmother, Lillian; sisters, Angelica and Elissa; brother, Matthew; and girlfriend, Jimena Corona. He is also survived by his grandparents, Raymond and Micha Martinez, Eva Martinez, and Ticho and Tina Perez. He is also survived by many aunts, uncles and cousins.

Robert Jr. is preceded in death by his mother, Nancy Martinez, and his grandfather, Tony Martinez.

Robert was an avid sports fanatic. One thing is for sure he loved his Bearcats and was a die hard Steelers and Lakers fan. However, his world belonged to his daughter Dominique. And next would be spending time with his family and friends at the Martinez Acre. Everyone will remember him with a smile on his face and hug to give. His memory will forever be in our hearts.

Services for Robert were held Saturday, Jan. 18, at Infant Jesus of Prague Catholic Church in Kearny. Father Alex Tigga celebrated the Mass of Christian Burial. Interment was at Kearny Memorial Cemetery.

The family was assisted by Griffith Mortuary. An online guestbook may be signed at www.GriffithMortuary.com.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Where has all the live music gone?

Hey! There's a dance Saturday night! Good! Who's playing? A disc jockey. Nothing against D.J.s, but what about a band once in a while?

Through the 1970s and 1980s local bands kept people dancing to the beat from Mammoth to Globe every Friday and Saturday nights. There were five bands in this area, and we all had gigs - the Sow Bellys, Country Four, Bidegain Band, Poarch Band, and Back Pocket Money.

Of course, most of the establishments where we played are no more - Blue Front, Jolly Roundup, Valentines aka Stage Stop, Club Royal, Riverside Inn, Sunset, and Down Beat. Those were good times, and also wild times depending on peoples' mood - if you get my drift!

I think it would be great if some of the local places left could book a band, say once a month. So, people, think about it!

In the meantime, around midnight go down to the end of Riverside Road, and if you listen closely maybe you will hear echoes of good times past.

Insurance 'Marketplace' enrollment window closing soon for 2014; Sun Life offering free application help to community

CASA GRANDE – Are you still uninsured? Have you been dragging your feet in purchasing federally-mandated insurance through the “marketplace,” because you don’t understand how?

Sun Life Family Health Center can help, but your window of opportunity is swiftly closing. The initial open enrollment period for health coverage through the Marketplace for 2014 began on Oct. 1, 2013, and ends on Monday, March 31, 2014.

Sun Life has full-time Certified Application Counselors (CACs) staffed at each of its Pinal County locations in Casa Grande, Coolidge, Maricopa, Eloy, and San Manuel. CACs can help you navigate the Marketplace, discuss options, and assist you in your application process for coverage and potential tax credits. These services are absolutely free, and open to anyone.

You may submit a Marketplace application at any time during the year with a counselor’s help at Sun Life; but if you miss the March 31 deadline for 2014, you will not be able to enroll for insurance until the next specified enrollment period starting in October.

After the close date on March 31, marketplace insurance enrollment for 2014 will only be available to the general public during special periods. Those periods pertain to any of the following changes of situation:

- Loss of minimum essential coverage
- Termination of job-based coverage
- Change in job-based coverage (e.g., if it doesn’t meet minimum essential coverage standards)
- Marriage, divorce, birth, pregnancy, or adoption
- Change in income
- Enrollment error

- Change in citizenship (e.g., acquiring citizenship status) or qualifying immigration status
  - Violation of a contract by a health plan
  - Gain or loss of eligibility for premium tax credits or cost-sharing reductions, or change in level of cost-sharing, or reduction if the consumer is already enrolled in a qualified health plan (QHP) through the Marketplace
  - Relocation or change in address
  - Change in status as an American Indian or Alaska Native
  - Occurrence of other exceptional circumstance
- For those who are currently uninsured and do not acquire insurance either privately or through the Marketplace for 2014 could face a $95 fee at tax time per adult (or 1 percent of your annual family income, whichever is higher). Some exemptions are allowed.

For insurance coverage in 2015, the annual open enrollment period will begin on Oct. 15, 2014, and then will close on Dec. 7, 2014.

Sun Life’s outreach and enrollment team also assists with enrollment in AHCCCS, Arizona’s Medicaid program, at no cost. Anyone looking to apply for AHCCCS may do so at any time of the year; the program is not dependent on state or federal marketplace insurance eligibility. AHCCCS/Medicaid is a joint federal and state health coverage program for low-income families, children, pregnant women, the elderly, consumers with disabilities, and in Arizona, childless adults under the

Did you know?

116 million adults in the U.S. watched the big game last year. But 156 million adults either read a newspaper in print or online in the past week. So you don’t have to wait for the next big game to make a big impact. Newspapers score all year long.

Kayaking on the Gila River, a journey into the near wild

By Nina Crowder

Copper Basin News

Kayaking in the Copper Corridor takes just a short journey for a day filled with fun, laughs, sight-seeing and exercise.

Just 20 miles from Mammoth to Winkelman off Highway 77, turn right to Winkelman Flats Park, where the park is free for day use. Park one vehicle here and then in a second vehicle with kayaks, continue north on Highway 77 for 3.2 miles, which will bring you to the Shores.

Or, if you feel adventurous, continue on Highway 77 for 6.7 miles from Winkelman Flats to Christmas. Either place enables you to put your kayaks in the Gila River and start your adventure.

As our kayaks were set in the water, the wildlife viewing started right away with mallard ducks just ahead that were startled and started flying. There are several spots in the river that seem like they are going to be white water rapids, but were actually rocks with the water pouring over them. Where many of the rocks were it was very shallow and we had to walk through some of those areas to keep from bottoming out on the kayaks.

From the Christmas use area to the Shores area, it was approximately 2.75 hours. From the Shores to Winkelman Flats was approximately 1.75 hours.

From the Shores to Winkelman Flats we were able to see two deer drinking from the river. The mallard ducks stayed with us throughout the day. There were many other birds including hummingbirds, red cardinals and sparrows. There were some good rapids and we had several wipe-outs throughout the day that kept our laughter up and kept us anticipating what was around the next corner of the river.

When the river splits it is necessary to select the route you feel is best. There is no particular way to tell which route will be better, just do your best and know that you may end up upside down in your kayak.

It is important that you don't go the river alone as many people wipe out and get caught in the tree branches or tree roots that are along both sides of the river. Be sure to wear protective gear including life jackets and bring plenty of water to drink.

The Gila River is a major waterway through Arizona and generally runs year round. Lately with our temperatures close to 75 degrees and plenty of sunshine it's a perfect time to try out the Gila River.

Winkelman Flat Park has an array of covered picnic tables, softball fields, children's jungle gym area, an arena for horse activities and great places to camp. The time is right to get out and enjoy our Copper Corridor!

Keep your eyes open. You may see something quite unexpected.

Lady Bearcats' winning streak stopped at St. Johns

By Andrew Luberdia

Copper Basin News

The Bearcats girls' basketball team defeated Hayden to win its third game in a row last Tuesday, 56 – 20. The winning streak ended in the 'Cats next game as they lost at St. John's last Friday night, 53 – 43.

Sophomore Savannah Willis scored a game-high 16 points and was 1 of 10 Bearcats' players to score in the victory over the Lobos. During the three-game winning streak, the 'Cats defense held opponents to an average of less than 28 points per game.

Against St. Johns, the Bearcats fell behind early before closing the gap and trailing at the half, 27 – 26. The Redskins extended their slightly in third before outscoring the 'Cats 19 – 12 in the fourth quarter to put the game away.

Sophomore Stormee Galka scored a game-high 17 points and junior Sideny Chenoweth added 12 points. The 'Cats defense allowed more than 40 points for only the second time over its last seven games – both games were losses. They won the other five games.

Next up for the Bearcats is a game at San Manuel on January 28, 2014. The Miners boast a record of 20 – 4, are one of the top teams in Division IV, and have player of the year candidate Angelica Zuniga. Zuniga averages a double-double, 17 points and 11 rebounds, per game. It figures to be a competitive game as the Bearcats' have played consistently well over past three weeks.

Games against Cibecue on January 29 and at Ft. Thomas on January 31 follow the San Manuel game. All games are scheduled to tipoff at 5:30 p.m.

PASTOR'S CORNER

Being Honest With Ourselves

By Pastor Joe Palmer

Fellowship Baptist Church

There are a couple of police shows on TV which I watch semi-regularly. Most of the time an episode will begin with crime a scene. Usually a body is found, and the crime-fighters get to work figuring out who did the terrible deed. In the same way, after an episode of real-life conflict between ourselves and someone else, we get on the job of trying to figure out who is to blame for the bad deed and hurtful words.

The funny thing is that we are almost always the culprit we seek. It takes two to have conflict just as it takes two to tango. Sure the other person is certainly at fault; we wouldn't have fought if we thought otherwise. Nevertheless, the more we think about it the more it becomes apparent that we are to blame also. But we don't want to admit it do we? We go on condemning others for failing us in some way, and then because we don't trust God to be our ultimate happiness we shift our dependence to another person who eventually fails us. We find ourselves in conflict with them too, and the process is repeated, and eventually we begin wondering if maybe there isn't something wrong with us. We end up saying, "I hate me; something is wrong with me, and that is why people fail me." A poor self-image and self-condemnation come from depending exclusively on other peoples' actions and words.

If, however, I can trust God to love me no matter what because of Christ, then I can either refuse to enter into conflict, or if I have done something wrong I can find rest in being honest with myself and with others. I can say, "I judge me. When I fail to love you, I'm wrong." To admit the truth even when it makes us look bad, brings freedom and rest. But to be honest about our faults, we must first be honest with ourselves about our need to have a relationship with that purely good God who loves us. Feel free to email me at joeandsuzypal@yahoo.com.

Superstition Mountain Master Gardener 'Winter Color' Workshop Feb. 1 at BTA

Engaging Master Gardener volunteers from the Pinal County Cooperative Extension program will kick-off their 2014 season of informal landscaping/horticulture workshops at Boyce Thompson Arboretum on Sat., Feb. 1, with the presentation "Winter color in your garden."

Their workshops are relaxed and informal, set outdoors when the weather's nice, indoors when its not; and included with BTA daily admission of $10. No pre-registration or separate fee is required to attend; just be in the visitor center breezeway before the 11am start time.

Of course these workshops are at no cost to BTA annual members. Membership is $50 for two people for a year, which includes a pair of one-time-use guest passes worth another $20, and, discounts during the March and October seasonal plant sale fundraisers.

Meet Carol, Chuck and Jeanne Anne, Elane and other engaging Superstition Mountain Master Gardener volunteers Saturday morning and learn how you can have a beautiful garden or landscape in the winter. Winter months don't have to be dominated by a brown, drab landscape. Southern Hemisphere plants such as African aloes and Argentine cacti are on their summer schedule this time of year, and can bloom with lovely flowers ranging from red and coral to bright white. Or consider plants that produce bright red berries, festive color - and a lure for entertaining desert birds such as Curve-billed Thrasher, Northern Cardinal, Verdin and Phainopepla.
