Trump Tax and Tax Refunds

The average federal tax refund so far in 2019 is negative 17 % according to the IRS. Not a ringing endorsement of legislation passed by Congress and signed into law by the President. This "Trump Tax" was billed as a huge "populist" benefit to the middle class, a "$4000 raise" its advocates claimed.

Now these cheerleaders are singing a different tune. Republican tax writing Senator Chuck Grassley offers a lecture. "Don't forget the average $20/week many of you saved," he intones. Feel better?

I don't.

My personal tax bill for 2018 is about what it was the previous year. In the mean time, Jeff Bezos of Amazon fame will pay zero corporate income tax for 2018.

GM made $11.8 billion in profit last year then filed for a tax refund of slightly more than $100 million.

Big business walked away with big billions to buy back their stock. Their take totaled $437 billion and counting.

The national debt exploded by 17% - $779 billion. We may not have to worry about that but our children and grandchildren do.

Ask any lobbyist lurking in the halls of Washington, DC (or for that matter the AZ State Capitol) and they'll tell you what their clients care about is taxes, fees, and government contracts. That's their bread and butter. Congratulations to them. They scored big for themselves and their clients while helping to make losers out of the rest of us.

In this new system - where the little guy gets the shaft - the reluctance of Trump to release his tax returns makes perfect sense. Guys like him game the system by writing the rules to their benefit. In his case we just don't know for exactly how much until we see his tax returns. The rest of us, well, we're pretty much left out in the cold on a snowy night.

What will change all this? Working for politicians who aren't con men and con women, knowing what we're talking about, and voting out folks running for office who keep telling us what's good for us when the evidence proves it isn't.

Oracle Community Learning Garden teams up with Winkelman Natural Resource Conservation District; new grant will advance conservation management practices

Oracle, AZ: Winkelman Natural Resource Conservation District (WNRCD) and Oracle Community Learning Garden (OCLG) were awarded a grant from the National Association of Conservation Districts. The OCLG will serve as the hub and organizing entity for three proposed projects, two of which have potential as businesses that will contribute to long-term sustainability.

A large hoop house donated to the Oracle garden by the WNRCD will be constructed for use in growing native plants that can be used for restoration along fire-damaged Gila River. Another will engage Arizona-based experts to guide the garden in development of a comprehensive vermicomposting system with the goal of composting a major portion of Oracle's food waste. And third, the grant will enable the garden to hire experts in water management who will join them in designing a management plan for the garden and its surroundings to eliminate erosion, catch water, and demonstrate best irrigation practices.

The funds from the NACD will enable the garden to move forward with these 3 projects more quickly than originally planned, and to engage surrounding communities in conservation management practices, according to garden Director Linda Leigh of Oracle.

A primary focus of grant activities is teaching and training people in our community and beyond by sponsoring workshops for the public to learn about propagation techniques, ecosystem restoration, waste management and irrigation. Our Community Garden Handbook will be available to neighboring towns who want to start their own community garden.

The Oracle Community Learning Garden is a project of Creative Community Solutions, Inc. a 501 (c) 3 nonprofit. It is located at 1034 E. Mt. Lemmon Rd. in Oracle.

ADOT, Weather Service collaboration improves storm response; Meteorologists assist ADOT in responding to extreme weather

PHOENIX – As last week's monster winter storm approached, leaders from the Arizona Department of Transportation and the National Weather Service watched conditions on traffic cameras along state highways and discussed how best to stage equipment and personnel while getting critical information to drivers.

A collaboration between the agencies that grew out of this storm will have a National Weather Service meteorologist stationed at ADOT's Traffic Operations Center when significant storms threaten, sharing forecasts and helping inform decisions on where snowplows and other resources are needed most.

"This is a natural pairing of two agencies working together in the public's interest," said Brent Cain, director of ADOT's Transportation Systems Management & Operations Division. "This will allow us to get information quickly about approaching weather so we can prepare to clear roads and advise the public even before the storms arrive."

"We were talking about how we could work together to prepare for storms, and get the best information to drivers as quickly as possible, and the idea of collaborating just fell into place," said Ken Waters, warning coordination meteorologist with the NWS office in Phoenix.

The collaboration also will help ADOT public information officers provide critical information about how weather may affect travel along specific routes and what drivers can do about it, including delaying travel until the worst has passed.

ADOT crews work to clear the snow from Highway 89A near Sedona.

Snowfall in the Tri-Community

Last week's monster storm dropped snow throughout the Copper Corridor, but Oracle received the most, eight inches by our measurements (see photo top right), although the National Weather Service tweeted that one of their off-duty employees had measured 10 inches in Oracle. ADOT crews were out in force, plowing the snow off the highway and keeping the traffic running. Kids attending Mammoth-San Manuel Schools got a rare 'snow day' because their teachers from the Tucson area were unable to get to school. Oracle students were already off for the day due to Rodeo Days. Oracle photographer Laura Flores went hunting for snowmen finding several. She just had to get a selfie with the snowbear (above at top). Our thanks to her for sharing these treasures. Most folks waited until Saturday to go out to play in the snow and Oracle had a steady stream of visitors.

Jamboree started in May of 2017 and has traveled through Asia, Russia, Siberia and Mongolia. By the time the Jamboree is complete, those participating will have traveled 21,750 miles and 21 countries. Each segment is cycled by a team of at least five people and a sixth person may attend from another Scouting group depending on the country they are cycling through.

The group cycling from Arizona flew into Los Angeles and drove to Tucson to start their Arizona adventure which will travel from Tucson to the Grand Canyon. Encountering so much rain and snow has delayed their adventure a bit more than expected but along the way in the Copper Corridor they have met a few helpful residents who have aided them.

Once in Tucson, they camped at Catalina State Park before making their way to Winkelman where they were assisted by Rose Slotter at the Palo Verde RV Park. With the cold, wet weather becoming more of a hinderance to the trip, Rose welcomed them into her home for a dinner and overnight stay and breakfast.

The cyclists started on their trip to Globe on Highway 77 over El Capitan pass. Rose did not want to see them have too much of a struggle so she drove over to Globe and picked up lunch to take to them and help them along the way. The pass proved to be challenging for a few of the riders so she loaded them and their bikes and away they went to Globe. Once in Globe she helped them find a repair shop that was able to help with a few bike repairs and to shop for groceries, with the bad weather setting in she knew it would be an additional challenge for them to be cycling to the grocery store for supplies.

What no one could have expected, was the winter storm of all storms to get in the way of this trip. The cyclists were held up in Globe and eventually made it down to Superior after being delayed with road closures, snow and ice. They had planned to camp at Oak Flats but traveled into Superior to camp at the Box 8 Ranch due to the heavy snow fall and running creeks at Oak Flats. They were all impressed at how friendly and helpful everyone has been on their journey. They were curious as to why the mountain in Superior in has a big S on it, which was explained that letters on the mountains are a landmark and brand for each little mining town in the area.

Their tents were set up to stay warm on the cold clear night and they would leave Superior on Sunday to travel to Apache Junction. The next leg of their trip from Apache Junction will take them through the Apache Trail to Roosevelt Lake and then on to Payson, Sedona, Flagstaff, then finally the Grand Canyon. They will treat themselves to a visit to Las Vegas and the fly home from Los Angeles. They have six weeks to complete their leg of the Jamboree.

Equine Emergency First Aid Clinic coming to Oracle in March

Horse people know the truth of this old adage: It's not IF... but WHEN ...you'll face an emergency.

That's why horse owners of Oracle are thinking ahead.

Working with the Oracle Fire Department, they are helping to develop evacuation plans and community preparedness. Last fall, they offered a trailer loading clinic (free of charge!) for the community. They urge Oracle residents (who have not yet registered) to stop by the Fire Department to sign up for the reverse-911 call system, which will notify you at the number of your choice in case of fire, evacuations, or other emergencies. They believe that the worst time to start planning to evacuate horses or other livestock is during a crisis. That's why the Oracle Horse Owners Evacuation Preparation Group is trying to help fellow horse owners know what to do if...and when... an emergency happens.

And that's why the Oracle Horse Owners Evacuation Preparation Group is sponsoring an Equine Emergency First Aid Clinic this spring. Do you know which situations require a vet, and are you aware of what your vet needs to know before you call? Do you know how to take vital signs? Do you know about different types of wounds and how to treat them? Are you knowledgeable about colic, choke, collapse, hoof injuries, etc.? Do you know what to include in a first aid kit, and do you know how to use it? If you'd like to prepare yourself to be better able to help your horse in emergencies, then you might like to sign up for the Equine Emergency First Aid Clinic being offered on Saturday, March 23, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., in Oracle.

The clinic will be taught by a certified instructor endorsed by EquiFirstAid USA. Participants will experience a full day of lectures, demonstrations, and hands-on practice, all designed to let muscle memory kick into gear in the face of a horse emergency. A first aid booklet and training certificate will be awarded to each participant. The course is appropriate for ages teen through 90. The cost is $159. Call TeriAnn at 602-579-1437 to register.

A shorter class, suitable for 5-10 year olds will be taught on Sunday March 24, 10-1.

As a previous student said, "I thought it was a lot of money, until I discovered I knew exactly what to do and how to do it when I found my horse needing immediate medical attention."

It's not IF...it's WHEN...

More information about Oracle Horse Owners Evacuation Preparation Group can be found at Oracle Equine Evac on Facebook or oracleequineevac@gmail.com.

JAMES ENRICO CECALA and JANE DOE CECALA, husband and wife; JOHN DOES I-X; Defendants. Case No. CV2018-091032 SUMMONS THE STATE OF ARIZONA TO: JAMES ENRICO CECALA YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED and required to appear and defend, within the time applicable, in this action in this Court. If served within Arizona, you shall appear and defend within 20 days after the service of the Summons and Complaint upon you, exclusive of the day of service. If served out of the State of Arizona—whether by direct service, by registered or certified mail, or by publication—you shall appear and defend within 30 days after the service of the Summons and Complaint upon you is complete, exclusive of the day of service. Service by registered or certified mail outside the State of Arizona is complete 30 days after the date of filing the receipt and affidavit of service with the Court. Service by publication is complete 30 days after the date of the first publication. Direct service is complete when made. YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that you are being served as a defendant in the above-entitled action in this Court, and that in case of your failure to appear and defend within the time applicable, judgment by default will be rendered against you for the relief demanded in the Complaint. If you are served other than by publication, your failure to appear and defend would permit a money judgment, as well as loss of Arizona property, to be rendered against you. This Court has the power to render such a money judgment pursuant to the laws of this State, including Article 6, Section 6, Arizona Constitution; Rule 4(d) and 4(e) of the Arizona Rules of Civil Procedure; and 12-123, 12-124, Arizona Revised Statutes. Such jurisdictional power over nonresidents of Arizona and corporation incorporated under the laws of any other state or foreign country which have no legally appointed or constituted agent in Arizona, is conferred through the allegation in the Complaint that the claim arises out of an event you caused to occur within Arizona. You are cautioned that in order to appear and defend you must file an answer or proper response in writing with the Clerk of this Court, accompanied by the necessary filing fee within the time required and you are required to serve a copy of that answer or response upon the plaintiffs' attorneys whose names and addresses are shown below. The CookShack opens in Oracle

Stacy and David Raneri, owners of the Patio Café have opened another restaurant in Oracle. It is located in the building previously known as Chula's at 405 E. American Ave.

The CookShack was an idea started years ago said the Raneris. They owned a food truck up near Wickenburg known as "The Cook Shack" and often thought about bringing it back. When they heard about the opportunity to get the space that was Chula's, they took it.

"It was a good space and we were sorry to see Chula's close but we are glad we could offer something," Stacy said.

What they offer is good food served quickly.

"We wanted to offer people a place where they could come in or call in an order and take it home," she said. When the weather gets warmer, they hope to have some more tables and chairs in their outdoor area.

The staff will look familiar as their workers from the Patio Café will also be spending some time at the CookShack. The cook is Johnny Navarro who has been at the Patio for over one year. They may add new staff in the future.

The menu consists of "good eats quick" food items. They have a variety of burger options; build your own burger with your choice of regular quality beef, buffalo meat or jojoba range fed beef from local rancher Gregg Vinson's Jojoba Beef Company; Portobello burger; gluten free bun option; regular or beer battered French fries with choice of dipping sauces; homemade gluten free onion rings; chicken basket; chili fries; a really good hot dog or chili dog; and Raneri's cheese steak – shaved rib eye, peppers, onions, mushrooms provolone, and Raneri's steak sauce.

They also offer specials during the week. On Wednesday and Thursday, enjoy an Asian dinner such as orange chicken or ginger beef tenderloin with vegetable lo mein, fried rice, peanut noodles or spring rolls. Friday is fish day and they offer authentic British fish & chips. New England clam chowder is also available.

The CookShack is open Tuesday through Sunday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Closed Monday. You can call in an order at (520) 225-0005.
