OBITUARY

Mary Guzman

Mary Guzman, a beloved mother, grandmother, aunt, friend and community servant, passed away on Monday, March 2, 2015, at her home in Superior at the age of 84 years young.

Mary was born in Jerome, Arizona on Dec. 1, 1930 to Adolfo and Ysabel DaRugna. The oldest of four children, she moved to Superior at the age of 16. She graduated from Superior High School in 1949, playing the violin in the band.

In 1953, she married the love of her life, Manuel Guzman III. She was a Eucharistic Minister, longtime Fiesta Patria coordinator, member of the Altar Linen Society and funeral luncheon cook at St. Mary's Center.

Mary served over 30 years as the Superior Volunteer Fire Department's Dispatcher #3. She was an early helper for Project Happy Face which eventually grew into the Superior Food Bank. She was a 24-year veteran of the Arc of Northeastern Pinal County helping people with disabilities and helped found the first hospice program in Superior.

Mary is survived by one brother, Jess DaRugna (Patty); five children, Manuel IV (Theresa), Yolanda, Rosemary, Arlene, and James; five grandchildren, Manuel V, Ricardo (Sarah), Serina, Peter, and Adam; and three great-grandchildren, Emma Rose, Xavier and Ava Jade.

How Many People Does It Take for Pioneer Days?

It takes a lot of people to have Pioneer Days in Kearny, and I'm not talking about the parade entrants. No, I'm talking about everyone in the Copper Basin Chamber of Commerce. Angela Hillan-Ramirez, the chamber director, has been doing double duty. Gerry Kaufhold, the new chairman of the parade this Saturday, has undertaken his job with enthusiasm. Chamber members and friends are all volunteering their time. And Rosalind Padilla's quiet and effective presence will be felt everywhere.

The Kearny Police Department is deeply involved too. Chief Richard Corso has set up extra patrols, and deputies from Pinal County will be assisting. Moreover, several Arizona Rangers are coming to help out, providing historical color as well as real assistance. Police from the towns of Hayden and Winkelman will also be on hand.

Finally, your friends and neighbors who are members of Volunteers in Patrol (the VIPS program) will be working during Pioneer Days, helping oversee the parade, walking patrols at the Carnival site, and driving extra patrols night and day. You will know them by their gray VIPS shirts and their bright reflective vests.

Being a VIP is not just a once-a-year thing. These residents of Kearny give liberally of their time throughout the year, patrolling on foot and in police vehicles to provide extra eyes and ears and other assistance to our police officers. They meet monthly for training and organizational purposes, and stand ready to assist the officers at any time.

The VIPS are an integral part of our community. They are volunteers pure and simple. Their only pay is the shirt they wear! Well, they are also paid with the satisfaction of doing a good job in helping to keep our community safe.

The VIPS are eager to expand their presence with new members. Residents who would like to serve are encouraged to let Chief Corso or any current member of VIPS know of their interest. Training is required, and all VIPS are finger printed and given a background check before beginning. The VIPS schedule is very flexible, allowing volunteers to give as much of their time as they desire.

The next VIPS meeting will be Sunday, April 19, at 2 p.m. at Constitution Hall

Take marijuana cultivation question to Pinal County voters

On Feb. 27, 2015, the group Citizens Against Open Cultivation filed a referendum petition application (REF20150227) against Ordinance No. PZ-C-001-14, which is a text amendment to the current medical marijuana ordinance. The Pinal County Board of Supervisors approved the text amendment to the current ordinance on Feb. 18, 2015. The Planning and Zoning Commission voted 9-1 and recommend the Board of Supervisors deny the proposed changes. The Pinal County Attorney's office and the county staff members assigned to the case also recommended the board deny the changes to the current ordinance.

The new ordinance dramatically alters the manner and location of which medical marijuana can be cultivated in Pinal County. Under the prior county ordinance, medical marijuana could be cultivated in an enclosed building

Pinal County resident shares memories of Selma

By Jennifer R. Carnes
Copper Area News

There are times in our lives that define who we are. There are the small things, personal tragedies and triumphs. Then there are the big things. The things that make us ask, "Where were you when?"

We are just now as a country experiencing the anniversaries of those defining moments.

We mourned again in 2011 the 10th anniversary of the terrorist attacks in New York and at the Pentagon. The nation remembered the 50th anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in 2013. Last year marked the 70th anniversary of the end of World War II.

Saturday, though, was the anniversary of one of the most powerful times in American history.

On March 6, 1965, Civil Rights Activists began their historic march from Selma, Alabama to the state capitol in Montgomery in protest of practices that the local government were using to obstruct voter registration of African Americans. That day became known as Bloody Sunday after 600 peaceful unarmed marchers were attacked by Alabama State Troopers as they attempted to cross the Edmund Pettus Bridge.

A second march began March 9, 1965. Protesters again headed to the Bridge, but when Troopers stepped aside to allow them to pass, they instead returned to the church in Selma.

It wouldn't be until March 21, 1965 when the march would finally get underway.

Alabama Governor George Wallace refused to help the marchers in any way and so it fell to President Lyndon B. Johnson to intervene. The marchers, under the protection of the United States Army, National Guard, Federal Bureau of Investigation and U.S. Marshals, crossed the bridge and began the 50-mile, four-day trek to the Alabama State Capitol in Montgomery. Just outside of Montgomery, the protesters were joined by more than 25,000 students and church members from across the United States, who walked the remaining two to three miles to the square in Montgomery where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. delivered a speech.

For those born after 1965, the march from Selma to Montgomery is just a chapter in a history book. It's real, but not really tangible. It's studied in school, dissected in college courses, but hard to really understand. Hollywood has brought this time back to life with it's dramatization of those events in the movie Selma. This makes the history a little more real.

Former Pinal County Attorney James Walsh shares his memories of Selma, Alabama and the Civil Rights Movement.

HAYDEN

Baseball – The Lobos opened the 2015 season with a win at home against Arete Prep, 7 – 5. Unfortunately it's the team's only win of the season so far after losing its next three game against Superior (11 – 0), Florence (6 – 5), and Santa Cruz Valley (8 – 0). Upcoming schedule: Mar. 14 at Duncan (12 p.m.) and Mar. 17 at San Manuel (4 p.m.)

Softball – The Lady Lobos started their season with one win sandwiched between two losses, including an 18 – 3 defeat in their opener against Thatcher. That loss was followed by a win at home versus Amphitheater (6 – 5) and then another lopsided loss at Superior, 15 – 5. Upcoming schedule: Mar. 14 at Duncan (12 p.m.) and Mar. 17 at San Manuel (4 p.m.).

RAY

Baseball – The seventh-ranked Bearcats went 0-2-1 during pool play of last week's Joe S. Padilla Tournament before winning both games in bracket play, defeating San Tan

Foothills (6 – 2) and Round Valley (11 – 2). The Cats tie game came against Round Valley earlier in the week. Upcoming schedule: Mar. 13 vs. San Carlos (4 p.m.).

Softball – The Lady Cats won the Noel Morris Softball Tournament which took place last weekend at Valley Union High School. The Cats were one of six teams competing in the two-day tournament, including Valley Union, Pima, Ft. Thomas, St. David and Bisbee. Currently ranked third in the state, according to the most recent rankings released by azcentral.com, the Lady Cats figure to be one of only a handful of teams who can be considered state title contenders. Last weekend's tournament provided an opportunity for head coach Rikki Galka to get her less experienced players some valuable playing time. Galka knows this year's team has a chance to be special, saying, "I am excited about our Bearcat team." Upcoming schedule: Mar. 13 double-header vs. San Carlos (4 p.m. & 6 p.m.).

Regional leaders meet with Rio Tinto global executives

By Mila Besich-Lira
Copper Area News

Leaders from throughout the Copper Corridor met with Rio Tinto Global Leader Sam Walsh and Jean-Sebastian Jacques, Rio Tinto Chief Executive of Copper and Coal. The local leaders were hosted at Resolution Copper east plant operations. The meeting consisted of brief remarks by Walsh and Jacques followed by a question and answer session.

This was the first time that Sam Walsh had visited the project. Earlier in the day they took arial tours of the region and they had a barbecue with local contractors and staff at the mine.

Much of the discussion during the meeting focussed on the needs of the region including education and infrastructure needs to be able to support the growing mine and work force. The supporters in the room also encouraged the executives to continue their investment in the Resolution Copper project.

Walsh stressed Rio Tinto's global commitment to health and safety along with social performance. He explained that they want to work with the local communities.

Leaders in attendance included representatives from the Gila County Board of Supervisors, Pinal County Board of Supervisors, Town of Kearny, Town of Miami, City of Globe, White Mountain Apache Tribal council members along with former San Carlos Apache tribal council members, the Superior Chamber of Commerce and representatives from the Bullion Plaza Cultural Center in Miami.

The meeting lasted about an hour, just as the question and answer period was about to end, former San Carlos Apache Tribal Council Chairwoman Kathy Kitcheyan presented an authentic hand woven Apache basket, wove by one of the most talented basket weavers from the San Carlos Apache Tribe.

CULTIVATION LETTER

no more than 2,000 square feet and located in a commercial zoning district. The new ordinance allows medical marijuana to be cultivated in an open field, on no more than five acres of land, in general rural zoning districts. General rural districts include residence uses.

The Rose Law Group, on behalf of Sidewinder Dairy, proposed the new law. The Rose Law Group argued, to the Board of Supervisors, the open cultivation of medical marijuana would allow local farmers another farming option. This information is misleading because according to Arizona law, medical marijuana is not an accepted agricultural product and it does not receive an agricultural farming exemption. The ordinance change will result in an overabundance of medical marijuana in Pinal County. It is important to note, there is just over 2,500 qualified medical marijuana patients in Pinal County. The overabundance of medical marijuana in Pinal County will greatly increase the access of marijuana to the county's youth and likely increase the potential for criminal activity throughout the county.

It is the intent of Citizens Against Open Cultivation to send the newly adopted county ordinance to the voters of Pinal County to decide if outdoor cultivation of medical marijuana should be permitted in the county. The group must obtain approximately 8,000 signatures, from registered voters in Pinal County, on the referendum petition by March 20, 2015 for the issue to be presented to the voters. The vote would be held at the next general election in November 2016. Pinal County citizens interested in signing the petition or helping should send inquiries to CitizensAgainstOpenCultivation@gmail.com. Locally, email Alicia Bristow at alicia.bristow@q.com.

Sincerely,
/s/ Breanna Boland

MEMORIES OF SELMA

But for one Pinal County man, this is more than a story. It was very real.

James Walsh, the former Pinal County Attorney, grew up in Chicago, Illinois, "in the real city," he said, and not a suburb. It was a segregated city with real divisions.

"I grew up in an atmosphere of bigotry," Walsh said. He explained that he attended a Catholic high school for boys. There was only one African American boy in his entire school.

Segregation was worse in the south with the "Jim Crow" laws which kept the races "separate."

In 1955, the Montgomery Bus Boycott began after Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat in the "colored" section of the bus to a white person. This act of defiance became a symbol in the Civil Rights Movement and the mark on the timeline of where it all began. She collaborated with civil rights leaders including Dr. King, who at the time was a new pastor at the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in Montgomery, Alabama. African Americans stopped riding the buses, crippling the public transportation in the city.

King advocated a non-violent form of protest, learned from Mahatma Gandhi, called passive resistance.

"This was a very powerful form of protest," Walsh explained, "and a very dangerous form of protest." He said people died from this. In spite of being teargassed or clubbed, protesters did not fight back.

African Americans were prevented from protesting and they were prevented from voting. Sure, they could vote if they were registered, but the government had devised several deterrents for registration:

They issued a "poll tax" which had to be paid before the person could register to vote. African Americans in the south were some of the poorest in the country.

They were told they needed to pass a kind of "pop quiz" to prove they were smart enough to vote. They could have been asked to recite the Preamble to the Constitution (and this was way before School House Rock put the jingle in the minds of young people). Or they might have been asked to tell how many supreme court judges there are in the state/country/both.

In 1965, Dr. King and other leaders felt the time had come to do something about this. Selma, Alabama was chosen because of its low number of registered African American voters. Only 200 were registered in a place that was predominately African American. On March 6, 1965, King and others began the march to Montgomery to register their protest against such practices.

Dr. King and others realized that this issue was so much bigger than the state of Alabama. It really had implications for the entire country. A call was sent out to churches throughout the nation to send more protesters to Montgomery. "Alabama was never a place I wanted to go," Walsh said. But when sign-up sheets began appearing on his college campus, Walsh made the decision to go. His roommate who was from South Carolina "begged me not to go," he said. His roommate was convinced that someone would die.

Someone did. An auto worker and a white mother of five who had come to Alabama to support voting rights for African Americans, Viola Liuzzo was killed while helping to ferry protesters back to Selma from Montgomery.

Walsh joined the marchers in Montgomery and was there when Dr. King delivered his speech.

Walsh said he remembered mailing a letter to his mother just before leaving on the bus to Alabama, telling her of his decision to go. His mom, understandably, was upset by his decision. She told him in a return letter that "of all the damn fool things, this one takes the cake."

As a direct result of Selma, Congress passed the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Registered African American voters in Selma went from 200 to 9,000.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of these events. Many of those who were there, marching with Dr. King, are returning to Selma and Montgomery to remember. Walsh said that he had considered going to Montgomery to pay his respects and to reminisce, but ultimately decided not to go. Instead, he chose to speak to an American history class of freshmen and sophomores who have just begun to discuss the Civil Rights Movement.

"This was my Selma," he said.

One thing Walsh noted when speaking to the students, in the movie Selma at the end where Dr. King is delivering his speech, the only part that was used was the lyrics of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Movie makers ran into a copyright issue and were only able to use the portion that is considered Public Domain. Walsh read the speech to the students, who listened with rapt attention. He apologized in advance to the students explaining that when he reads the speech aloud, he often gets choked up.

Included below is an excerpt from the speech delivered by Dr. King and read by Walsh.

I come to say to you this afternoon, however difficult the moment, however frustrating the hour, it will not be long, because "truth crushed to earth will rise again."

How long? Not long, because "no lie can live forever."

How long? Not long, because "you shall reap what you sow."

*How long? Not long:
Truth forever on the scaffold,
Wrong forever on the throne,
Yet that scaffold sways the future,
And, behind the dim unknown,
Standeth God within the shadow,

How long? Not long, because the arc of the moral universe is long, but it bends toward justice.

*How long? Not long, because:
Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord;*

He is trampling out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored;

He has loosed the fateful lightning of his terrible swift sword;

His truth is marching on.

He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat;

He is sifting out the hearts of men before His judgment seat.

O, be swift, my soul, to answer Him! Be jubilant my feet!

Our God is marching on.

Glory, hallelujah! Glory, hallelujah!

Glory, hallelujah! Glory, hallelujah!

His truth is marching on.

Excerpt taken from "A Call to Conscience" (Grand Central Publishing; Reprint edition January 1, 2002). The full text of Dr. King's speech in Selma can be found at: <http://stanford.io/1ExdPfk>.

Arboretum Spring Plant Sale scheduled for March 13-29

Friday the 13th may keep trembling triskaidekaphobics indoors, but, the Spring Plant sale will have them flying out the door and making a beeline to the Boyce Thompson Arboretum (BTA).

The sale begins with a members-only shopping preview where BTA's most dedicated supporters are allowed first-pick of the colorful, rare and interesting plants. The seasonal sale opens to all Saturday, March 14 and continues daily through March 29 during regular business hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. No admission is charged if you're there only to buy plants during the sale, and don't enter the Arboretum grounds.

What's new in the Spring Plant Sale for 2015? Pollinator plants, colorful fruit trees including a dwarf fig ideal for small spaces, plus, perennially popular desert lavender. Poke around the rows of plants and you might even find a rarity such as cork oak trees, recently featured in the Arboretum's newsletter. The cork oak is a tree well-suited to Gila and Pinal Counties and, with only two available at $50 each, they are expected to sell quickly.

"Its spring and buyers will see a lot of color," said Certified Nurseryman Preston Cox, who chooses plant sale stock, and oversees Master Gardener volunteer crews propagating plants onsite at BTA. "Milkweed, for example; the varieties of asclepias are important plants for pollinators such as queen and monarch butterflies, and, we'll have varieties including bloodflower, which blooms as colorfully as the name suggests, and pine leaf milkweed."

He continued, "We always get requests for desert lavender, so, we're ready to answer that demand. We have plenty of those in five-gallon pots and priced at $20. This year, we also concentrated on fruit trees, and, have several varieties of fig including white kadota and brown turkey; one fig tree I'll suggest to anyone trying to green-up a small space is the Violette de Bordeaux, a dwarf varietal designed so it does not reach the height of a standard fig, making it ideal for someone who wants a fruit tree sized for a patio or small yard space."

What tours and classes are on BTA's calendar for the week ahead? Plan your visit to include a daily guided tour of the main trail at 11 a.m. or a special wildflower walk March 12, 14, 15, 19 and 21; call ahead to enroll in the "build-a-terrarium" class March 12 or the "wine bottle wind chime" workshop March 26. Geology for beginners is the subject of a guided walk March 13 and 21. There's a class in advanced photography composition taught by Gold Canyon artist Sue Tatterson March 15; registration is $40.

Or, specifically for children, there is a special day with tours for Home-Schoolers March 11; on Saturday, March 14, Brownie Girl Scouts have a badge workshop, there's also a Trailblazer hike for kids age 5-12; and, in the afternoon Kathy and Tom McDonald of Smiling Dog Landscapes in Gold Canyon guide the edible and medicinal desert plants guided walk at 1:30 p.m. Complete details on these and more posted at ag.arizona.edu.

What could be better than the walks and workshops, plants for sale and plants for viewing? Taking it all in at a substantial savings. Annual membership is a bargain at $50 for a year for two people, and that includes a pair of one-time-use guest passes to bring friends or family for a visit. Until then, daily admission to the gardens and trails of $10 includes guided tours at 11 a.m. every day of March and April; as well as themed nature walks most weekends. Read the complete event schedule at ag.arizona.edu/bta.

Music, food, telescope viewing celebrates Dark Sky Park designation

A day-into-night celebration is set at Oracle State Park Center for Environmental Education on Saturday, March 21, to honor its designation as an International Dark Sky Park — only the 20th park in the world and the first state park in Arizona.

Extended hours for this "Dancing with the Stars" event at the Kannally ranch house and patios are 8AM to 10PM. Activities include an awards presentation at 4PM with officials of the International Dark-Sky Assn., local and state officials, and members of the Oracle Dark Skies Committee. Live music for listening and dancing will follow. Food will be available for sale, or visitors may bring their own lunch and beverages.

Representatives from regional organizations, among them Arizona Trail Assn., Lower San Pedro Watershed Alliance, Cascabel Conservation Assn., and Friends of Oracle State Park will welcome the public in the nearby group-use area from 1-6 p.m. with information tables.

The evening "star party," with telescopes pointed at the skies and astronomers on hand to answer questions, begins at sundown.

The event is free with park admission at the gate on Mt. Lemmon Rd. in Oracle. Because this is a day-long event, carpooling is recommended to ease parking congestion.

Information about this and all other park events is available at www.azStateParks.com/Parks/ORAC or by calling the park office at 520-896-2425. Oracle State Park Center for Environmental Education is open Saturdays and Sundays 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., and weekdays by appointment.
