GEORGE WASHINGTON

Finding the Facts

George Washington is known as the “Father of Our Country.” Read about George Washington to see why he was given this nickname. After you read, complete the sentences.

George Washington was born in Virginia on February 22, 1732. At this time, America was ruled by England. When he was a young boy, George had to travel a very long distance to get to school. To get to his first school, George had to walk seven miles each way. George studied hard and became a surveyor. A surveyor is someone who measures land and makes maps. George Washington's home was a farm called Mount Vernon. As an adult, he married a woman named Martha Custis. Martha had two children, and George helped raise them. At this time, there were a lot of people living in America who did not want America to be part of England anymore. George Washington was chosen to be the Commander in Chief of the American army. He fought in the Revolutionary War so that America could be a separate country. After a long and difficult fight, America won the war and gained its independence from England. It became the United States of America, and George Washington was elected as the first president in 1789. At that time, the capital of the United States was New York. The capital later became Washington, D.C., named for George Washington.

Mining industry adjusts to COVID-19 protocols

In the mining industry, safety is a top priority even when there is not an active global pandemic. Local mines Resolution Copper and Capstone - Pinto Valley shared some of their latest protocols to ensure their work force and their communities stay as safe as possible through the duration of the COVID-19 pandemic. Mining remains an essential service and operation in Governor Doug Ducey "Stay Home, Stay Healthy, Stay Connected" Executive Order.

Without a doubt, each of these mines are following the CDC and State protocols for following physical distancing, disinfecting high touch/high traffic areas and of course encouraging hand washing as much as possible. Staggering lunch times and breaks to keep groups from congregating together, allowing as many staff to work from home as possible has also become a new normal for both mines. Employees are encouraged to stay home if they are not feeling well.

Obviously, many jobs in mining cannot be done from home so both companies must balance having enough staff on site to do the jobs safely and ensure that physical distancing can occur to avoid any unintentional spread of the virus.

At Pinto Valley, employees and contractors there are required to take their temperatures upon arriving on site. They also limit employees to only two per vehicle and beginning on May 1, everyone onsite will be required to wear a N-95 mask. Both companies have limited their visitation to only business-critical visitors to the mine sites and travel amongst the employees of these mines have been restricted as much as they possibly can.

Both Capstone Pinto Valley and Resolution Copper report that to date none of their employees have tested positive for the virus. Capstone has donated N-95 masks to the Cobre Valley Regional Medical Center and Resolution Copper is developing local plans to provide food and necessities to vulnerable populations in their areas.

"The health and safety of our employees, contractors, and the community is our top priority. We are making every effort to protect our people while safely operating our business," said Dan Blondeau, a Senior Advisor in Communication for Resolution Copper.

Grupo Mexico-ASARCO was contacted for the story but did not submit comments for the article.

Pinal Rural offers fire safety tips for staying at home during COVID-19

The Pinal Rural Fire & Medical District reminds you that while you are practicing social distancing and staying at home in observance of Governor Ducey's Stay At Home Order, please remember to apply fire prevention and safety while at home cooking, cleaning and completing home improvement projects.

Although you can't remove every possible source of a kitchen fire, you can minimize fire risks by removing hazards and maintaining your kitchen. It would be an exponential tragedy for a family member to survive the Coronavirus, only to perish in a residential structure fire.

Follow these prevention tips to keep your family safe while in the kitchen:

- Stay in the kitchen while you are frying, grilling, or broiling food.
- Be on alert! If you are sleepy or have consumed alcohol, don't use the stove or stovetop.
- If you are simmering, baking, or roasting food, check it regularly, remain in the kitchen while food is cooking, and use a timer to remind you that you are cooking.

- Keep anything that can catch fire — oven mitts, wooden utensils, food packaging, towels or curtains — away from your stovetop.

If you have a cooking fire:

- Just get out! When you leave, close the door behind you to help contain the fire.
- Call 9-1-1 when you are outside of the house
- If you try to fight the fire, small fires only, make sure others are getting out and you have a clear way out.

Please visit our website

pinalruralfirerescuemd.com often as we will be regularly adding fire and burn injury prevention tips and information such as the attached Cooking Safety Fact Sheet on our website. Additionally, in the community section there are story time and other videos recalling the history of firefighting and fire protection from Arizona and around the country.

Volunteers change lives and save taxpayer dollars; consider changing a child's story during Volunteer Appreciation Week, April 19-25

The week of April 19-25 is set aside each year to honor and thank volunteers. But if you ask the 65 million Americans who donate their time and talents to nonprofits, most would say that they're the ones who should be thankful.

"One of the most gratifying things I've ever done is helping abused and neglected children navigate the often overwhelming foster care system so they can find safe and permanent homes," says local CASA volunteer, Bob McLarty. "It feels great to know I've changed a child's story."

Court-appointed special advocates are volunteers empowered by the courts to advocate for children in foster care, to help protect their rights and safety, and to guide them through the child welfare system. For many abused children, a CASA volunteer is the only constant adult presence in their lives.

The child welfare system is too overburdened to provide this one-to-one advocacy. An entire year of CASA volunteer advocacy costs the same as a single month of foster care. In fiscal year 2019, approximately 1,200 CASA volunteers in Arizona contributed 92,054 advocacy hours, the equivalent of more than $2.2 million in taxpayer dollars if they had been compensated for their service.

CASA volunteers are not only efficient, they're very effective! Foster children who have a CASA volunteer by their side are more likely to succeed in school; substantially less likely to spend time in long-term foster care; and are half as likely to re-enter foster care, all as a result of finding a safe, nurturing permanent home.

CASA of Gila County is grateful for the current 28 volunteers who stand up for foster children in our communities. But many more children are waiting for advocates of their own. Currently there are over 128 children in out of home care in the Globe/Miami area alone. Only 18 of those children (14%) are being represented by a CASA. Get involved now and change a child's story.

During National Volunteer Appreciation Week, consider learning more about becoming a CASA volunteer by visiting www.casaofgilacounty.org or calling Coordinators Patti Dremler at 928-474-7145 in Payson or Emily Nader at 928-402-4427 in Globe.

Arizona Science Center steps up to support parents, educators and students with new online resources

During COVID-19 shutdowns, Arizona Science Center continues to build on its mission to inspire, educate and engage curious minds through science.

"As Arizona's largest provider of interactive on-site and outreach STEM education, we are stepping up to deliver critical online science learning resources for parents, educators and students throughout our state," said Chevy Humphrey, The Hazel A. Hare President & CEO, Arizona Science Center. "Families and educators alike are looking for support and resources to make teaching and learning from home easier, and we are here to help."

Parents added the role of educator to their already busy lives. To support this new role, the Science Center developed a range of interactive, online resources (<https://www.azscience.org/learn/educators>) to assist parents in planning, preparing, and supporting their children's learning from home.

To help children with online schoolwork, the Science Center developed weekly online lesson plans, including hands-on activities, science demonstrations, and other learning materials for use in grades K-8. Each lesson plan follows the state of Arizona Science Standards and provides 150 minutes of weekly science content.

Leaders and educators from the Center's Learning Team are providing ongoing counsel for parents who are new to tackling online learning.

Teachers are working to transition classroom lessons to online activities at a moment's notice, and to feed curious minds of all ages looking to be inspired by engaging science content. Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:30am AZ

Wildfire Safety

Much of the southwest is considered a high-hazard fire environment. Within this hazardous environment are individual homes, and entire communities ill-prepared to survive an intense wildfire. It is not a question of "if" a wildfire will occur, but when. The odds of losing human life and property are growing. The Town of Kearny would like to protect you and the community from the dangers of wildfires. The Fire Chief is very concerned about this upcoming fire season. Even though we have received more rain than usual, it has caused more weeds. Once the rain stops, the weeds will dry out and this will make for a dangerous fire season. Please clear weeds, dry grass, dry shrubs or dead trees surrounding your property. Thank you for your support.

This includes a 9:30 a.m. AZ time Facebook broadcast, Early Learners Live, designed for children in pre-K through grade 2; and a 1 p.m. science demonstration with appeal to all ages.

Look for these on Facebook LIVE daily Monday through Saturday and view past videos on Arizona Science Center's YouTube channel.

Finally, the Science Center continues to support the community by providing resources and tools to help make sense of the science behind COVID-19 and learn new ways to keep families healthy and safe during this unprecedented time. Check azscience.org/about/covid-19 for updates.
