Summer Youth Employment: office work, groundskeeping and more

Age 16 and older: school ends in a few weeks, are you looking for a summer job? Apply with Gila County Government before the May 6 deadline for summer positions, an innovative program matching teens who live in Gila County with a range of jobs in local government, paying $11-per-hour. In addition to working for Gila County offices or departments there are jobs in towns throughout the county: Hayden, Winkelman, Miami, Payson, Young, Star Valley - and city of Globe. Apply online at gilacountyaz.gov

Gila County seeks adaptable, well-rounded applicants enthused to explore local career avenues, acquire skills – and begin to build a network in their community. May 6 is the application deadline for these are fulltime jobs, which begin June 10 and last through July 26.

Are you skilled with office programs such as MS-Word, Excel and PowerPoint? List those when you apply, because Gila County summer jobs include comfortably air-conditioned indoor clerical positions for data entry, filing, mail processing, faxing, and copying; front office reception, and other general administrative and clerical support.

Do family and friends compliment the creative short videos that you film, edit and post on Facebook or Instagram? List your video production skill, too – there just might be a summer job that includes creating content as a social media intern.

You'd rather work outside? They're hiring groundskeepers to rake, prune, pull weeds and pick up trash – using tools, pruning saws, hedge and brush trimmers.

Summer youth employees should be ready to help with special projects, possibly attend staff meetings. And, of course, 'other duties as assigned.'

Apply online at gilacountyaz.gov.

Hayden author pens memoir

John Hernandez | Miner

By John Hernandez
Copper Area News

William “Bill” Kishbaugh, a long time resident of the Hayden-Winkelman area, has written a book, Memoirs of Hayden, Arizona 1936 – 1950. William chose those years as they were the years he grew up in, graduated high school and then temporarily left Hayden to serve in the military.

Bill is a Korean War Veteran (1950 – 1951) having served in the Navy for eight years. He said he was all over the Pacific and was also an Atomic Veteran for serving in the Marshall Islands where the United States was testing atomic bombs.

Following his military service, Bill went to work for the Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Department. It was there he sharpened his writing skills working on reports. He moved back to Arizona and went to work for the Pinal County Sheriff, Coy DeArman, as a deputy. He was stationed in San Manuel in the early 1970s. He was then transferred to Dudleyville. He then went to work for ASARCO as a security guard.

“The pay was better than a deputy’s pay at ASARCO,” he said.

He worked there for the next 25 years before retiring. Bill has been doing genealogy and history research for years. He started writing down his memories about growing up in Hayden. From there the idea of a book was planted. He sent a copy of a rough draft to Shauna Griffith Kuykendall for her input. She sent him back some copies of old photographs and encouraged him to do the book.

Bill’s family was living in Hayden-Winkelman prior to the depression. His father, George worked for ASARCO. When the depression hit, his father was one of the many workers laid off when the smelter shut down in 1930. The family moved to New Mexico where William was born. The family returned to Hayden in 1936. William attended the old elementary school and remembers the Principal, Mrs. Leonor Hambly who gave him a “licking” he never forgot for fighting with another student on school grounds! The present elementary school is named after Leonor Hambly.

In the book, Bill talks about growing up in Hayden and what it was like living in a company-owned town. He talks about the good and the bad including the segregation in housing between the Mexican and Anglo populations and the prejudice of the time.

HAYDEN AUTHOR

“It was a culture passed down through the years,” said William.

He remembered how it was a “no no” for Anglos to date a Mexican.

There are photographs and history of some of the old buildings and places no longer standing in Hayden. These include the Rex Theater, post office, drug store, grocery stores, Jacome’s Department Store, churches, schools and many more. He talks about some of the people in Hayden such as the business owners, teachers, deputies, Justice of the Peace, and others. It is an interesting read for those with no knowledge of Hayden or its history and, for those people who lived in the area for years, it will bring back some memories.

Bill said he wrote the book knowing it will not be a best seller but he hopes someone will read it and become interested in history and willing to research and write down some of the area’s history and stories.

“History is more than just names and dates; everyone has a story,” he said.

Memoirs of Hayden Arizona by Bill Kishbaugh is available for $9.99 (free shipping). Send check or money order to: William Kishbaugh, 4793 S. Longhorn Lane, Winkelman, AZ 85192 or send Pay Pal account to wkishbaugh@gmail.com.

Hayden officer among 16 recognized during ceremony

On Tuesday April 9, 2019, Pinal County Attorney's Office held its National Crime Victims' Rights Week 3rd Annual Law Enforcement Appreciation Night. Law enforcement professionals across Pinal County received recognition for going beyond the call of duty during the event. County Attorney Kent Volkmer welcomed about 165 law enforcement, family, and other community members to the Anthem Grill in Florence for the award ceremony.

"We need to show law enforcement our appreciation. By holding an event like this it allows our law enforcement partners to share inspirational messages and stories recognizing their hard work," Kent Volkmer said.

Additionally, Victim Services Manager Teresa Fuller, spoke about why the annual event is important to Pinal County Attorney's Office Victim Services Division.

"Our awards evening is important to us because it gives us the opportunity to recognize law enforcement officers in Pinal County. We want to recognize the dedication that our law enforcement demonstrate to ensure our victims' voices are heard, rights are upheld, and that justice is served," Victim Services Manager Teresa Fuller said.

In the Copper Corridor, four officers were recognized: Officer Robert Youdelman (Hayden Police Department), Officer Anthony Clubb (Kearny), Sergeant Michael Green (Mammoth) and Officer Tyler Hall (Superior).

Hayden Chief Tamatha Villar said, "Officer Youdelman's tenacity and determination to help others has set the stage for his continued progress and success. He is a dedicated officer who takes every aspect of his responsibilities and service to his community very seriously. Officer Youdelman is hardworking, caring and professional and is an asset to the Hayden/Winkleman Communities."

Pinal County Attorney's Office wants to congratulate the award recipients.

"We want to thank our law enforcement partners for their hard work and dedication," a spokesperson said.

Art Show is this Sunday in Kearny

The annual exhibition by the ArtUS Group will open this Sunday, April 28, in the Little Gallery of Good Shepherd Church of Kearny. The public is invited to the free opening reception from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

For nine months of the year, these artists from the Copper Basin meet each Friday from 9 a.m. to mid-afternoon.

They are oil painters, acrylic painters, and colored pencil artists. Some of them are skilled in making frames. Occasionally these artists work their magic on objects such as saw blades and figurines.

Whatever the medium, the group values the close-knit support of fellow artists. They consider themselves students who teach, and teachers who learn. Beginners and old hands benefit each other.

The Little Gallery is a room in Ray Hall devoted to area artists. It features gallery walls and lighting, and is convenient to the larger hall for refreshments and conversation. The annual exhibit allows the public to see the works and meet with the artists.

This is also an opportunity for area artists and beginners to consider taking part in the Friday art sessions. There is no fee except for helping to meet the heating and cooling expenses for the use of the room. Interested persons are encouraged to visit the Friday sessions and see how it all works.

Families with children are especially invited to the showing this Sunday. The facility is also handicap-friendly, and there is plenty of parking.

Guyrene Ward is pictured as she sits back to contemplate the "next steps" in her painting Guyrene has been part of the ArtUS Group for several years. She enjoys painting in the style of the late Tucson artist Ted DeGrazia, and also enjoys colorful landscapes.
