April declared Promise for the Future Month throughout Pinal County

All cities and towns throughout Pinal County have officially proclaimed April as Promise for the Future Month to raise awareness that the Central Arizona College Foundation Promise for the Future program provides affordable higher education to students in Pinal County.

Pinal County along with the Cities of Apache Junction, Casa Grande, Coolidge, Eloy, Maricopa, and Towns of Florence, Kearny, Mammoth, Superior and Winkelman recognize the value of higher education. To help students reach their fullest potential, they support the Education Progress Meter and Achieve60 Attainment Goal. This will help grow local talent and improve economic sustainability for each community and the County.

Promise for the Future is an educational initiative made possible through a partnership between Central Arizona College, the Central Arizona College Foundation, and Pinal County Middle and High Schools. Promise for the Future was designed to encourage students who reside in Pinal County to remain in high school and graduate from a Pinal County high school. During the month of April, the CAC Promise coordinator schedules visits with eighth grade classes to provide information about the Promise for the Future scholarships and encourage students with their parents/guardians to pledge their educational commitment. The Promise for the Future requirements inspires students to reach their full potential by challenging them to graduate with a minimum of a 2.75 grade point average and participate in 20 hours of community service. Students who successfully meet Promise for the Future requirements will be eligible to earn a tuition-free education at Central Arizona College.

Individuals, businesses, corporations, government, and non-profits are encouraged to consider supporting the Central Arizona College Foundation Promise for the Future to create a sustaining legacy for students to achieve their full potential with a tuition-free post-secondary education at Central Arizona College.

To learn more about Promise for the Future or pledge support for the Promise 25 Changes Lives Campaign visit www.centralaz.edu/promise.

Superior, along with the other towns in the Copper Corridor, proclaimed April as Promise for the Future Month. Superior Mayor Mila Besich made the presentation.

Something fun coming to the Copper Corridor – Superior Burro Races

This weekend the Arizona Pack Burro Association along with Forever Home Donkey Rescue in Benson, Arizona visited Superior and hosted a Burro Cross 101 class to help potential runners participating in the upcoming Superior Burro Races scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 12, 2019.

The event on Saturday included a short 1.5 mile route at the Box 8 Ranch and a longer four mile run that took participants through the archery range which is off of Golf Course Rd. Local residents may have seen some of the runners and their burros enjoying the day. Participants came from as far away as Yuma and Cave Creek to learn more about how to participate in the October event. Forever Home Donkey rescue provides the burros for a donation to allow runners who do not own burros to participate.

Pack Burro races are a very popular event in Colorado and are often hosted in mining communities to celebrate the mining history and culture of the area. Superior will be the first community in Arizona to host an official Burro Cross Race. The event will be sponsored in conjunction with the Superior Chamber of Commerce, Town of Superior and the Legends of Superior Trails Inc.

Visitors from the Arizona Pack Burro Association and Forever Home Donkey Rescue were in Superior this past weekend ahead of the official Superior Burro Races planned for October.

Hayden author pens memoir

By John Hernandez
Copper Area News

William “Bill” Kishbaugh, a long time resident of the Hayden-Winkelman area, has written a book, Memoirs of Hayden, Arizona 1936 – 1950. William chose those years as they were the years he grew up in, graduated high school and then temporarily left Hayden to serve in the military.

Bill is a Korean War Veteran (1950 – 1951) having served in the Navy for eight years. He said he was all over the Pacific and was also an Atomic Veteran for serving in the Marshall Islands where the United States was testing atomic bombs.

Following his military service, Bill went to work for the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department. It was there he sharpened his writing skills working on reports. He moved back to Arizona and went to work for the Pinal County

Sheriff, Coy DeArman, as a deputy. He was stationed in San Manuel in the early 1970s. He was then transferred to Dudleyville. He then went to work for ASARCO as a security guard.

“The pay was better than a deputy’s pay at ASARCO,” he said.

He worked there for the next 25 years before retiring.

Bill has been doing genealogy and history research for years. He started writing down his memories about growing up in Hayden. From there the idea of a book was planted. He sent a copy of a rough draft to Shauna Griffith Kuykendall for her input. She sent him back some copies of old photographs and encouraged him to do the book.

Bill’s family was living in Hayden-Winkelman prior to the depression. His father, George worked for ASARCO. When the depression hit, his father was one of the many workers laid off when the smelter shut down in 1930. The family moved to New Mexico where William was born. The family returned to Hayden in 1936. William attended the old elementary school and remembers the Principal, Mrs. Leonor Hambly who gave him a “licking” he never forgot for fighting with another student on school grounds! The present elementary school is named after Leonor Hambly.

In the book, Bill talks about growing up in Hayden and what it was like living in a company-owned town. He talks about the good and the bad including the segregation in housing between the Mexican and Anglo populations and the prejudice of the time.

“It was a culture passed down through the years,” said William.

He remembered how it was a “no no” for Anglos to date a Mexican.

There are photographs and history of some of the old buildings and places no longer standing in Hayden. These include the Rex Theater, post office, drug store, grocery stores, Jacome’s Department Store, churches, schools and many more. He talks about some of the people in Hayden such as the business owners, teachers, deputies, Justice of the Peace, and others. It is an interesting read for those with no knowledge of Hayden or its history and, for those people who lived in the area for years, it will bring back some memories.

Bill said he wrote the book knowing it will not be a best seller but he hopes someone will read it and become interested in history and willing to research and write down some of the area’s history and stories.

“History is more than just names and dates; everyone has a story,” he said.

Unique trio coming to Oracle Center for the Arts April 28

A unique trio of Tucson residents, Elena Galbraith (soprano), Sandy Schwoebel (flute) and Marie Sierra (piano) formed Nota Bene in 2009. Soloists in their own right, these three friends and colleagues have collected a wide variety of music in various combinations from the Baroque, Classical and French Romantic eras, which they love sharing. However, they take special pleasure in introducing often-overlooked 20th Century music at concerts, much to the audience members' enjoyment and surprise!

Known for their rapport with audiences and a wide range of musical programming, their concerts include brief chats about the music as well as the composers and their lives and times. Surprises are always in store, and Elena, Sandy, and Marie have also been known to throw on boas for one piece or play percussion on the next.

In 2008 William Bradley Roberts wrote the song cycle Wit and Wisdom for Nota Bene, based on the writings of Dorothy Parker. The trio recorded this charming and witty group of songs on their 2011 debut album, simply called Nota Bene. Their second album, Delizioso, was released in November. Nota Bene has been celebrating its release by touring throughout southwest Arizona performing concerts in Tucson, Green Valley, Mesa, and Phoenix.

Nota Bene has performed on concert series with St. Philip's Friends of Music and Christ Church United Methodist in Tucson, Lutheran Church of the Risen Savior in Green Valley, First Presbyterian Church in Mesa, Trinity Cathedral in Phoenix, Bisbee's For the Love of Music series, Rincon United Church of Christ Friends of Music series, and Santa Cruz County Foundation for the Performing Arts music series.

Don't miss the opportunity to see this lively trio at Oracle Center for the Arts, Sunday, April 28, at 4 pm. Tickets are $20 at the door or may be purchased in advance on www.oraclepianosociety.org. The Oracle Center for the Arts is located at 700 E. Kingston St., Oracle.

Nota Bene will perform Sunday in Oracle.
