Celebrating Memorial Day

About twenty years ago, a group of children touring the U.S. Capitol were asked by the guide what Memorial Day means. They responded, "That's the day the pool opens."

Well, that's certainly true in Kearny. The town pool opens on Memorial Day with swimming from 1-5 p.m., and a great day it will be. This is good news, but it is not the meaning of Memorial Day. In fact, soon after that group of children toured the Capitol, a national poll revealed that only 28% of Americans knew the real meaning of Memorial Day, which honors those Americans who died while defending our nation. I remember my grandparents referring to it as Decoration Day, for the day was originally set aside for people to decorate the graves of those who fell in battle during the American Civil War.

The president of the Memorial Day Association happened to overhear the children in the Capitol that day, and he told the story to several people. A groundswell of support began for a Moment of Remembrance at 3 p.m. on Memorial Day. The time was chosen because it is the time when most Americans are enjoying their freedoms. In 2000, President Bill Clinton signed the Moment of Remembrance into law.

Across the nation, ball games will be paused, Taps will be played, and the gift of those who have died will be honored. Yes, our pool will open that day. But we will

Pinal Airpark is named Airport of the Year

FLORENCE -- Tails rise from the desert like shark fins from the water.

Drivers on Interstate 10 can usually spot the tails from many of the aircraft stored at Pinal Air Park, but nothing else. It leads to the mystery of what is really on the west side of I-10. A secret training base? Testing grounds for new aircraft? Or perhaps a site for the CIA?

Built in the early 40's, the then named "Marana Army Air Field" trained pilots for World War II. The field was no longer used and decommissioned in 1948 when it was taken over by Pinal County. Since then, Pinal Air Park has been used primarily as a maintenance center for commercial aircraft and a storage facility for unused commercial aircraft

In 1975, Evergreen Aviation became the sole tenant for the maintenance facility. The company erected a guard post just outside the entrance of Pinal Air Park turning away those who did not have business at the facility.

"When I was elected in 2012 I took a trip out to the airport to see what was going on out there and I was turned away at the gate," stated Chairman Todd House. "Here it is, we own the air park and I couldn't even enter it."

Chairman House joined thousands of people who have been turned around after exiting I-10 at Pinal Air Park

Road and for Airport Economic Development Director Jim Petty, limiting access was a major problem at the property.

"There was a lot of activity through Evergreen's business at the air park," Petty said. "But once we started looking closer entire facility, we find out more and more Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) compliance problems. One of those was exclusive use by Evergreen."

Exclusive use was just one of five major compliance issues for Pinal Air Park. Not allowing public access to the facility was another issue. The Board of Supervisors took a major step forward to erasing those problems when in 2013 they adopted the fourth amendment to a 1992 lease with Evergreen Maintenance. The amendment

The swimming pool, by the way, is in great shape thanks to the support of so many people. Our Town Manager, Anna Flores, has announced that children 9 years of age and younger must be accompanied by an adult, a necessary safety procedure.

This is a day we should all be careful, especially with our children. Let's all keep a watchful eye out while driving, and make sure young people wear helmets when riding ATVs.

Future nurses recognized at Central Arizona College's nursing pinning ceremony

Twenty-five students were recognized for completing the college's nursing program, one of the most challenging curricula offered in higher education.

The pinning ceremony, a time-honored tradition of nursing schools across the country, signifies a student's completion of the program.

Director of Nursing Tina Berry and Acting President Dr. James Moore, welcomed guests and congratulated students on their accomplishments.

The graduates were then addressed by Sarah Deshler, Professor of Nursing. She discussed the advancements in nursing practices and stressed to the students that as a nurse you are "with people in the best times and worst times of their lives." Following a brief video showcasing the human connection to patient care from the Cleveland Clinic, Professor Deshler advised students, "Caring for your patients needs to be your priority."

Once the graduates received their pins, class speaker Nancy Jo Zinda-Faulkner addressed her fellow graduates. "It is an honor to care for those in pain and a gift not to be taken for granted."

Racquel Galvan was recognized with the Outstanding Clinical Student Award and Samantha Dolen was presented with the Certificate of Achievement Award.

The evening concluded with a candle lighting ceremony and the graduates taking the Florence Nightingale Pledge. The pledge, an adaption of the physician's Hippocratic Oath, was written in 1893 by Mrs. Lystra E. Gretter and the Farrand Training School for Nurses in Detroit.

The following students received their pins during the ceremony and will receive an associate of applied science degree: Samantha Dolen, Tamara Ericson, Bibyanna Espinoza, Racquel Galvan, Jesus Guanajuato, Kelley Hanson, Brandon Hardin, Nicole Kranendonk, Jenna Minjarez, Samantha Orozco, Marissa Patchett, Liberti Ramirez, Jeffery Reel, Nicole Schall, Jessica Schooley, Michelle Shearer, Amy Spaulding, Nysa Taylor, Justina Valenzuela, Yuri Vavages, Hailey Watson, April Wolanin, Courtney Worthington, Paulina Zapata and Nancy Jo Zinda-Faulkner.

Bert and Jean Slater bought their home on 107 N. Johnston Drive and raised their family there. After Bert's death, Jean married Doug Hamilton, and together they "curate" a beautiful yard with a walled patio, small grassy areas, and lots of good old Arizona cacti. Carefully placed river rocks emphasize features, and a fountain splashes in the patio. Trees provide shade and connect the various features.

Arboretum Geology Walk with Rich Leveille May 28

Each trip to Boyce Thompson Arboretum offers a new opportunity to meet charismatic Grand Canyon Staters. Drive up Saturday, May 28, for an 8 a.m. walk along the trails and learn basic geology with tourguide Rich Leveille.

BTA is open daily with Summer hours 6 a.m.-3 p.m. (Memorial Day, too); daily admission of $10 includes weekend nature walks this summer.

It's fortunate that local luminaries such as Leveille choose to be among dedicated volunteers; his time is in high demand by one of Arizona's biggest companies. His work as an exploratory geologist for Freeport-McMoRan regularly takes him to exotic lands on all continents across the globe.

Rich grew up in the mining business (his dad worked for Kennecott), earned a geology degree in Utah, and has worked for the biggest mining companies (AMAX, Kennecott, Rio Tinto, Phelps Dodge) and countries (US, Mexico, Chile, Brazil), en route to his current title as Senior VP of Exploration for Freeport-McMoRan, based in Phoenix. Expeditions he leads find copper, gold, silver, zinc across several continents.

His wife, Janice, is also a geologist and they've raised two daughters in Mexico, Chile, Brazil and the US on a steady diet of hiking, backpack trips, canoeing, and kayaking (rock-related pop quizzes, too, we're sure!).

Ever wondered about the volcanism that produced the dramatic cliffs of magma which define BTA's topography? Or which stones are the most ancient along the rubble-strewn bed of Queen Creek? Want to hear the true origin of Apache Tears? Meet Rich Leveille on his guided walk May 28 ... be prepared to ask lots of "tuff" questions ... he assures you'll have a "gneiss" guided tour at BTA. June events include:

- June 4 and July 2: Guided Dragonfly Walk at 8:30 a.m. learn to identify Flame Skimmers, Blue Dashers and Mexican Amberwings
- June 11: Learn Your Lizards Guided Walk (repeats July 9, Aug. 13) 8 a.m. Kids love this entertaining guided tour around the gardens for all who enjoy Arizona's most common, colorful and charismatic little reptiles.
- June 18: Plants of the Bible Land Guided Walk (repeats July 16) at 8 a.m. Many same plants common in the Middle East thrive in our Arizona climate, and can be seen at BTA; volunteer tourguide Dave Oberpriller leads this tour to learn about palms, pomegranates, figs, olives, and other plants of the Bible Land.
- June 18: Main Trail Guided Walk 9 am. Can you name the oldest tree or oldest plant in Arizona? How old is a five foot Saguaro ... and can you identify a few edible desert plants? Hear the answers and learn about the Arboretum's history and mission on a relaxed, leisurely cured the many FAA identified compliance issues.

“I can say there is no longer a manned guard post at the entrance,” Petty said.

“I can also say there is more than one business operating there. But to get FAA grants, you must abide to 39 grant assurances they look for in an application. But thanks to the Arizona Department of Transportation’s Aviation Group, we have been able to take care of some problems that needed to be addressed immediately.”

Thanks to three major grants from ADOT’s Aviation Group, Pinal County has been able to repave the 6,850 foot runway, complete a taxiway overlay and develop a master plan for the air park.

There has been so much progress at Pinal Air Park that on Tuesday, May 3, it was named ADOT’s 2016 Airport of the Year at the Arizona Airports Association annual conference.

“I am extremely pleased,” said Vice-Chairman Anthony Smith. “This air park has tons of potential to be an asset in our economic development tool box. Winning this designation goes miles to show aviation businesses that we are serious when it comes to making Pinal Air Park a major destination for them”

Pinal Air Park joins San Manuel Airport as winning ADOT’s Airport of the Year honors. San Manuel won it in 2001.

“It’s a nice distinction,” Petty said. “The only two airports under our supervision have won this award. It’s goes to show everyone that we are serious when it comes to earning the business of the aviation community, both commercial and private.”
