Superior High School Annual

Keepsake Edition

Big plans ahead for the Valedictorian and Salutatorian from Class of 2016

Superior's top two students, Valedictorian Elias Olmos, right, and Salutatorian Ivie Lopez, will address their fellow classmates Friday at the commencement ceremony.

Mila Besich-Lira | Sun

By Mila Besich-Lira
Superior Sun

Elias Olmos and Ivie Lopez have earned the top honors in their graduating class of 2016 from Superior High School. Olmos was number one in his class, earning the title of Valedictorian, and Lopez came in a close second to earn the position of Salutatorian. The duo have attended the Superior Unified School district since Kindergarten. Olmos also attended the Pre-K program at JFK.

Both of them have parents who are SHS Alumni. Elias Olmos is the son of David and Angela Olmos (class of 1995) and Ivie Lopez is the daughter of Joseph Lopez (class of 1997) and Renee Vega (class of 1998). These two top students have big plans for their futures and some advice for their classmates and incoming freshmen.

Olmos explained that he is sad to leave his friends. "I am going to miss seeing them everyday and making memories with them," he said, adding, "but I am excited to see what the future holds."

He has a merit scholarship along with many local scholarships to attend Arizona State University in the fall where he plans to study Exercise and Fitness. He plans to become a personal trainer then further his education in business management. His goal in life is to open a gym. He isn't quite sure that his target market for his gym is in Superior, but he would consider opening his gym in Superior if it was a good business move, he explained.

His involvement in local athletics inspired his education and career choice. Since he was old enough to swing a bat and throw a football, he has been an aspiring athlete playing Little League, Black and Gold Youth Football League and, of course, he played football and baseball in both junior high and high school. During his high school career he was an active member of FCCLA, DECA, Future Educators of America, Student Council and served as a class officer.

His advice to future Panthers: "Cherish every moment. Take criticism the right way, don't let it get you down," he said. To his classmates, his wish: "Go out and help make a difference in this world."

Lopez will be attending Paradise Valley Community College in the fall where she has been recruited to play softball for the Pumas. She plans to major in Early Childhood Education and then transfer to a university where she will study to become a Special Education teacher. Lopez would like to return to Superior to teach Special Education and coach, she said.

Ivie has been a well rounded student and athlete during her school years. She has been playing softball since she was old enough to be on the girls' softball teams at the Little League and got her start in the early years with T-Ball. She also played on a few travel softball teams during

Superior Optimist Club recognizes honor roll students

The Superior Optimist Club hosted the annual honor roll banquet as part of the end of year activities for the Superior Junior-Senior High School. The honor roll banquet originated as a program of the Beta Sigma Phi organization and the tradition continued with the Superior Optimist Club.

Students start in the eighth grade on their quest to earn a laptop computer their senior year in high school. In order to achieve the laptop level, students must earn the honor roll the first three quarters of the school year beginning their eighth grade year and maintain that throughout their senior year. If they miss a year they start the process over again, starting at the certificate level. This year, nine eighth graders began their quest for a laptop computer

These Juniors are on their way to earning a Laptop Computer. Dominic Perea, Maribel Castro and Allison Martinez received their gold medals.

Superior High School honors student-athletes at sports awards banquet

By Andrew Luberdia
Superior Sun

Superior High School Principal and Athletic Director William Duarte emceed the school's Annual Sports Awards Banquet, which took place on May 4.

Duarte, along with Superior's coaches and teachers, has helped facilitate success in the classroom and on the field for the Panthers' student-athletes.

"It's a dream I've been having for a long time," Duarte said about the dual success of the school's student-athletes. "It starts at the junior high and we want to build successful programs."

"Winning isn't everything," he continued. "The biggest thing I can say about these kids is their hard work. The rewards for that work are coming to fruition and that's my happiest time."

Seniors Jose Lira, Phalicittee Thomas and Elias Olmos took home the top awards at the event. All three are multi-sport student-athletes.

Lira, who plans to complete his prerequisites at Central Arizona College before studying Sports Journalism at ASU's Walter Cronkite School of Mass Communication and Journalism, was the winner of the Manny Ruiz Award, which is given each year to the student-athlete who displays good citizenship, excels academically, and performs well on the court or on the field.

"It means a lot to me," Lira answered when asked what winning the award means to him. "What (Mr. Duarte) said about me in the little intro about wanting to play sports, I was hoping that's how people (would think about me) and it feels really good for it to be a reality."

Lira was a member of the Panthers' football, basketball and baseball teams.

Phalicittee Thomas, a four-sport athlete, was named the Female Athlete of the Year in addition to being selected girls' basketball MVP, winning the Leadership Award on the Basketball Spiritline, and being named the softball and five seniors were awarded laptop computers.

Earning laptop computers were: Elias Olmos, Gabriella Kipp, Ivie Lopez, Phalicittee Thomas, and Terrece Flowers. There were a total of 47 students recognized for their honor roll achievements.

The awards are given out during a banquet that the club has catered. This year, with the help of Red Bear Outfitters, the students and their families were served a steak dinner. This year's guest speakers were:

- Matthew Magallanez, who was a laptop recipient in 2009 who graduated a few years ago from ASU. He talked to the students and their families about his experiences at ASU.

- Jesse Garcia a 1967 Superior High School graduate was the keynote speaker for the evening. He thanked his wife for the many successes in his life. Garcia is a retired Lieutenant Colonel from the US Army and also retired from the US Postal Service. He spoke of determination and reminded the students to never give up as he shared personal stories from his career.

her off seasons. In her Junior year she was the starting pitcher for the Panther's softball team that won the state championship in 2015.

"I am going to miss the bonds of playing with my friends and family that sports bring," she said. About her upcoming graduation from SHS, she says, "I am nervous, but I am excited."

Her advice to future Panthers and incoming Freshmen, "Don't give up, just keep going but don't give up." Her wish for her classmates: "I want for them all to succeed and be happy in life."

Both agreed that having the use of social media will help them to keep in touch with their classmates.

Victoria Juarez, Jose Lira Jr. Gabby Hernandez, Tatianna Babino, Arianna San Miguel, Yasmine Rangel, Matthew Hernandez and Analysse Jaurez. Received Silver Medals for earning the honor roll three consecutive quarters for three years.

team's Offensive Player of the Year. She also was a member of the volleyball team.

"It means a lot to win the award considering a lot of little girls tell me that I'm their role model and they look up to me," said Thomas, who will attend Gateway Community College in the fall on a softball scholarship.

Thomas said her academic and athletic success go hand-in-hand.

"It definitely keeps my grades up," she answered when asked why athletics has been important to her at

Superior. "My coaches did grade checks weekly so it kept me on top of my school work."

Olmos, a three-sport athlete and future Arizona State University enrollee, was named Male Athlete of the Year in addition to individual awards in football and baseball. He has been named to a myriad of All-Division, All-Section and All-State teams during his Superior career.

"First of all, I want to thank my teammates because without them none of this would be possible," Olmos responded when asked about winning the award. "I'm grateful to have the talent that I do and so it means a lot to growing up in a town where sports meant a lot to me. This is the way I wanted to go out."

Olmos was also named football MVP and earned the baseball Coaches Award at the banquet.

Just about every Superior student-athlete is a multi-sport competitor and it showed at the banquet earlier this month as several athletes won awards in multiple sports.

Congratulations to all.
