Hoo-RAY! Lady Bearcats win second state championship in four years

By Andrew Luberd
Copper Area News

The Ray softball team won its second state championship in four years on Monday night at Farrington Stadium on the campus of Arizona State University, defeating rival and defending state champion Superior, 7 – 4.

“Our girls never gave up,” Ray head coach Rene Pacheco said after the win. “We knew we were going to have some clutch hits. We had faith in each other.”

Ray, which entered the playoffs as the state’s top-ranked team, and Superior have combined to win the past five Division IV then 1A Conference championships. The Pantherettes took the title in 2015, 2017-18 while the Lady Cats won in 2016 and now 2019. During that time, the two teams have played at least twice during the regular season and three more times in the state playoffs, including twice in the championship game. Superior defeated Ray to win the 2017 title, 1 – 0 before Ray exacted a little revenge in 2019. To say the teams are familiar with one another would be an understatement.

“We have three small communities within 20 miles – Superior, Hayden and Kearny – all baseball and softball little towns,” Pacheco said. “Our girls knew it probably was going to come down to us two. We had to hope we weren’t on the same side of the bracket because we wanted a chance to play Superior in this game.”

“We have a lot of respect for the Superior girls,” he continued. "Every game has been a battle as you can tell."

Ray held a 4 – 2 lead entering the Superior fifth, when the Pantherettes scored a pair of runs on an error and RBI single by Marissa Estatico to tie the game. Ray answered in its half of the inning after Danielle Barajas hit an RBI single to drive in Ameer Kenyon, who had doubled earlier.

The Lady Cats added a pair of insurance runs in the sixth. Julie Meza singled to drive in a run before Kenyon, who went 3-for-4 in the game, tripled to plate Meza.

"(That run) was extremely important," Kenyon said. "It was a good feeling."

Ray starter Daniella Hinojos, who started every game this season, earned the victory. Having the Lady Cats' ace on the mound was a confident booster for her teammates.

"We knew having Daniella on the mound would give us a chance; she has all year," Pacheco said.

Added senior Tara Lorona, Ray's All-Region catcher: "There was no doubt Daniella was going to have a good performance. She's been prepared for this all season and she was dialed in."

Superior, which scored the first to runs of the game, just couldn't match its offensive production in the later innings.

"We had some fatigue," Superior head coach Al Lopez said. "I thought we were going to hit the ball better (at the end) but we didn't."

Skyline Flutes to perform in Oracle for Mother's Day

A foursome of flutists named "Skyline" will be coming to the Oracle Center for the Arts to present a sublime tribute themed "Music for Mothers." The concert is set for 3 p.m. on Mother's Day, May 12.

Skyline Flutes is an ensemble of four skilled musicians who perform on flute, piccolo, alto and bass flutes. Formed in 2009, they offer formal programs, music for weddings, receptions, parties and other special events. Their repertoire includes pieces written specifically for flute quartet as well as transcriptions of familiar light classics from composers such as Pachelbel, Bach, Vivaldi, Mozart and Ravel. Tunes by Gershwin, Berlin, Sousa, Ellington, Joplin and others are additional audience favorites.

Jerry Ervin started playing flute at age nine. His family moved to Tucson in 1955, where he attended Tucson schools and the University of Arizona, played in the UA Band and Orchestra and in the Tucson "Pops" Orchestra. While serving in the US Army in Germany, he played in the Oberammergau Passion Play Orchestra. Upon retiring as a professor of Russian at Ohio State University, he returned to Tucson and founded Skyline Flutes.

Fran Moskovitz grew up outside of Philadelphia. She received a Master of Music at Stony Brook University. Currently principal flute of the Civic Orchestra of Tucson, Fran is also co-principal of the Arizona Symphonic Winds and a member of the Dolce Musica Woodwind Quintet. She works to protect the great outdoors through her position as Gift Planning Officer with The Nature Conservancy.

Jeneanne Rabon was born in Hawaii, but grew up in several different places due to her father's Army career. She received her bachelor's degree in music from Arizona State University and continued studying flute while earning her Master of Library Science Degree from the University of Arizona. Jeneanne plays in the Arizona Symphonic Winds and is second flute and piccolo with the Sierra Vista Symphony. She feels blessed with her two grandchildren, Samuel and Elizabeth.

Sandy Schwoebel grew up near Philadelphia and began playing the flute at age nine, going on to earn bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees in flute performance. Currently, she teaches flute at Pima Community College and freelances regularly with such ensembles as Broadway in Tucson, the Arizona Bach Festival Orchestra, and the Southern Arizona Symphony. Her primary passion other than flute is dancing Argentine tango.

Local man meets a legend

What do you do when you meet a legendary baseball player? Ask him to sign your shirt, of course. Last week, that's exactly what Santiago Pina did when he met Reggie Jackson (yes, that REGGIE JACKSON). Santiago was given tickets to the Diamondbacks vs. the Yankees and was invited onto the field during batting practice. It was there that he met former Diamondback Luis Gonzales and former Yankee Aaron Boone. The two signed a baseball for Santiago. Later, Reggie Jackson joked with Santiago and signed his shirt. This was a dream come true for the diehard Yankees fan.

Public-private investment creates the Arizona Center for Student Success at 10 Arizona community colleges; goal to increase completion

The Office of the Governor, Helios Education Foundation, Pima Community College Foundation, and the Arizona Community Foundation have jointly awarded a $1,350,000 grant to create the Arizona Center for Student Success at the ten community colleges in the state. This newly created center will assist traditionally underserved student's complete certificates and associate degree programs that move them directly into high-demand jobs or transfer programs into the university system.

The Arizona Center for Student Success (Center) joins the national Student Success Center Network, managed by JFF, a national nonprofit that drives transformation in the American labor market through system disruption and innovation at scale. The Center is part of an emerging trend in the national college completion movement in states traditionally void of a strong centralized tradition of community college governance. Its role is to organize Arizona's ten community college districts around the common goal of improving student persistence and completion.

"My administration has worked extensively with business and education leaders to advance the Achieve60AZ initiative to increase postsecondary attainment rates in the state," said Governor Doug Ducey. "The Arizona Center for Student Success will enhance this initiative by boosting community college completion rates and by extension will lead to a more robust and effective workforce."

Arizona's community colleges provide the most efficient pathways to a four-year college or university. More than 78 percent of students who transfer from an Arizona community college to a public university with an associate's degree go on to graduate with a bachelor's degree within six years. Arizona's community colleges are also the recognized leader for regional workforce development, serving nearly twice as many students as Arizona public universities and offering hundreds of career-ready certificates and associate degree programs.

"The Arizona Center for Student Success will be instrumental in helping reach Arizona's postsecondary attainment goal. It directly aligns with the vision of Achieve60AZ, which is to have a diverse, well-educated, highly-skilled workforce in our state," said Vince Yanez, senior vice president, Arizona Community Engagement. "Helios is pleased to help support the efforts to identify and implement proven strategies to increase student success and degree completion."

"One reason students are drawn to community colleges is we prepare them to be career-ready quickly," stated Dr. Colleen A. Smith, president of Coconino Community College, and chair of the Arizona Community College Coordinating Council. "After they graduate, they continue to bring economic vitality to our communities because more than 85 percent stay in Arizona and contribute $13 billion in added income." President Smith further stated that "Maricopa Community Colleges Chancellor Dr. Maria Harper-Marinick and Central Arizona President Dr. Jackie Elliot were instrumental in obtaining funding and writing the proposal for this initiative which will benefit students all over the State of Arizona."

The Arizona Center for Student Success will build a cohesive approach to engagement, learning, and policy advocacy across the state's community colleges. "Arizona's community colleges have a history of reducing barriers to student success and ensuring equitable opportunities," stated Steve Seleznow, president and CEO of the Arizona Community Foundation. "We are proud to be a partner in this collaborative approach that has the potential to help more students from diverse backgrounds succeed in postsecondary education."

The Arizona Center for Student Success will focus on helping Arizona's community colleges fundamentally redesign the way students chose, enter, navigate, and complete programs that prepare them for further education and careers. This will entail a guided pathway approach that replaces the cafeteria model that most colleges use for students to choose from a broad range of disconnected courses, programs, and support services.

"Students often have difficulty navigating choices and end up making poor decisions about what program to enter, what courses to take, and when to seek help," stated Dr. Jackie Elliot, president and CEO of Central Arizona College. "The Arizona Center for Student Success will help us implement guided pathways and give students what they need to make more informed choices."

JFF will aid in launching the new Center, continue to provide strategic guidance, and strengthen state-level capacity for data-informed decision making on efforts to increase community college completion rates. The Center's first convening, scheduled for June 10, 2019, will assist in developing program priorities for the upcoming year.

Copper Area News

On Saturday April 27, 2019, the 3C Ranch debuted its new 3-D Archery Range. A number of local archers as well as many from out of town showed up to try out the range.

The Grand Opening of the range included raffles, beer, wine, free hot dogs and membership sign up for the 3C Archery Club.

A regular shooting range overlooks the Galiuro Mountains. There are trails with shooting courses that the archers can hike. Along the trail courses are 46 top quality 3-Dimensional targets, replicas of animals including elk, mountain lion, bighorn sheep, coyote, antelope, bear and deer. This is a wonderful archery range located in a beautiful mountain setting.

For more information about the range or the 3C Archery Club, call (520) 896-2372 or email 3CRanchHeadquarters@gmail.com.
