Woodbury Fire burning northwest of Superior

Woodbury Fire

A human caused fire, named the Woodbury Fire, is burning near Superior. It started June 8 and has grown to 1,400 acres and as of Monday, June 10, was 0% contained.

An update issued Monday by the U.S. Forest Service said that the fire is actively burning within the wilderness and can be seen by nearby communities. Tree crews and five engines are assigned to the fire and additional resources have been requested. The Superstition Wilderness is extremely steep and rugged and the fire is burning in an area with thick brush, making direct suppression tactics a safety concern for firefighters.

The public is asked to avoid the Woodbury and Roger's Trough trailheads and roads in the area to allow firefighters to work safely building their fire lines.

For more information on the fire, visit inciweb.nwcg.gov/incident/6382/

Meetings are usually held at the Superior Chamber of Commerce at 165 W. Main St. in Superior 6-8 p.m.,

Head Start to reduce services to Copper Corridor

By Jennifer Carnes
Copper Area News

Pretend play is one of the skills that children attending Head Start are encouraged to explore.

Late last week, educators and town officials throughout the Copper Corridor were stunned to learn that Pinal-Gila Community Child Services (PGCCS) would be closing Head Start preschools beginning with the 2019-20 school year.

Superior town and school officials learned of the planned closure of the Superior Head Start when a member of the community approached the town manager and informed him. He immediately contacted Superior Mayor Mila Besich with the news. Besich is also a member of the Superior Unified School District Governing Board.

In an email to Charity Russell, Chief Executive Officer of PGCCS, Besich expressed her outrage that the information about the closure didn't come from the organization.

"I would like to assume that this decision was not made lightly," Besich wrote, "but it is disrespectful that this was not explained to our community leadership and has happened under our noses without any consultation to the Town of Superior or the Superior Unified School District."

Russell, in response to the inquiries about the closure, cited budgetary shortfalls as the reason for closing the Superior site.

"We are a federally funded grant program," Russell responded, "and, other than a few cost of living adjustments (less than 2%), have been flat funded over the past 13 years. The increase in Arizona minimum wage and continuing rising costs have hit our agency extremely hard. I assure you agency and community data was reviewed before we were forced to make decisions that cause great heartache for us."

"We have been in that same situation for several years.," said Steve Estatico, Superintendent of the Superior School District. "This doesn't even include healthcare costs, which have risen over 20 percent in the last three years alone. We had to be creative in our operations so that we could maintain the same programs and quality of education for our kids. This includes maintaining full-day kindergarten, small class sizes, 100 percent free breakfast and lunch, and a tuition free preschool. These programs are in place because we have built partnerships and have advocated for Superior Schools. If we were notified in advance of our Superior Head Start closure, we would have taken action to support its existence."

Estatico reached out to First Things First, a voter-created, statewide organization that funds early education and health programs to help kids be successful once they enter kindergarten, to see if they had any programs that could assist the school district. During that conversation, it was learned that the Mammoth, Payson and Globe sites were also being closed, which Russell later clarified that PGCCS would be closing Globe and Superior this year. Payson's Head Start closed last year. Mammoth's Head Start moved from classroom-based to home-based last year. She said that Mammoth's enrollment in the home-based program would drop to 30 from 36.

Russell explained that the PGCCS program plan for 2019-2020 includes reducing their capacity by 55 Head Start slots across its entire service area and that only 12 currently-enrolled children will lose its services. Russell

Superior volunteers recognized with BBQ

The Superior Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Town of Superior and the Superior Optimist Club hosted a volunteer appreciation BBQ at the Food Court park on Main Street, Saturday.

"We could not do all the things we do, without our many volunteers," said Superior Chamber President Sue Anderson. "This event was something we had been wanting to host for a while."

Mayor Mila Besich greeted all the volunteers and thanked them for their service to Superior. She explained that she is guided by the quote of Margaret Mead: "Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful committed citizens can change the world. Indeed it's the only thing that ever has."

She gave a brief update on the many upcoming town projects.

"It takes all of our groups working together, that is what is attributing to our recent success. Together, we are Superior!" she said.

The Superior Optimist Club cooked its famous hamburgers for the event.

"The Optimist are the burger masters," said Anderson.

Each non-profit was encouraged to invite its board and volunteers to enjoy a hamburger meal compliments of the Superior Chamber of Commerce. Each group was also given a few minutes to share what types of volunteer positions and service was needed in their organization.

Those in attendance were also able to meet Superior Police Chief Frank Alanis, who started on the job in that week. Several reserve officers were also in attendance and met with local volunteers at the event.

added that it was her understanding that the children in Superior affected by the closure would be enrolled in the preschool at the Superior School District.

Estatico told Copper Area News that the preschool classes offered through the district has a very limited capacity, between 20-30 students over two daily classes (morning and afternoon half days). The preschool is tuition-free and is funded entirely by the district, which receives NO funds from the state government for the program. The district offers full-day kindergarten, of which the state government funds only half. Superior's preschool is limited to children age four.

Further, Russell also stated that a private school that is opening is "willing to take all Head Start children that do not get into the school district at no cost."

Estatico said that while there is someone claiming that a preschool will soon open in Superior, the person in question is not certified nor licensed for that service. He said that the person making the claims is doing so only on Facebook.

PGCCS's website, pgccs.org, lists 12 sites in the two counties: Apache Junction, Casa Grande, Coolidge, Eloy, Florence, Mammoth, Maricopa, Miami, San Tan Valley, Stanfield, Toltec and Winkelman.

Your drinking water complies with the United States Environmental Protection Agency's ("USEPA") safe drinking water standard for arsenic, though it contains low levels of arsenic. USEPA's safe drinking water standard balances the current understanding of arsenic's possible health effects against the costs of removing arsenic from drinking water. USEPA continues to research the health effects of low levels of arsenic, which is a mineral known to cause cancer in humans at high concentrations and is linked to other health effects such as skin damage and circulatory problems.

Note: In addition to the constituents listed in this report, Arizona Water Company and ADEQ conducted monitoring for over 90 additional constituents and the results show none of those constituents were detected in the water. Data presented are from the most recent testing done in accordance with applicable regulations. Some constituents are monitored less frequently than once a year because either their concentrations do not change frequently or they are not likely to be detected. Therefore, some of the water quality testing data contained herein, although representative, may be more than one year old. If you have questions about this water quality report, please contact Regina Lynde, Environmental Compliance Manager, Arizona Water Company, P. O. Box 29006, Phoenix, Arizona 85038-9006; telephone (602) 240-6860 or email mail@azwater.com.

In 2003, ADEQ completed a Source Water Assessment of the water sources used by Arizona Water Company's Superior water system. ADEQ reviewed the adjacent land uses that may pose a potential risk to the water sources. The result of the Assessment was a low risk to the water sources.

The complete Assessment is available for inspection at ADEQ, 1110 West Washington Street, Phoenix, Arizona 85007, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Electronic copies are available from ADEQ at recordscenter@azdeq.gov. For more information, visit ADEQ's Source Water Assessment and Protection Unit website at: www.azdeq.gov/enviro/water/dw/swap.html.

The USEPA and ADEQ require Arizona Water Company to provide the following information:

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some constituents. The presence of constituents does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about constituents and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the USEPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Some people may be more vulnerable to constituents in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. USEPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial constituents are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radiological material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Constituents that may be present in source water include:

- Microbials, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
- Inorganics, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.
- Organics, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are byproducts of industrial processes and petroleum production. They can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
- Radiological material, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, USEPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain constituents in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for constituents in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Arizona Water Company is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the USEPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/lead>.

Winkelman's Head Start does not include classroom learning – it is strictly home based. Jeff Gregorich, Superintendent of the Hayden-Winkelman Unified School District, clarified that the Lobitos Preschool being operated out of the Winkelman Primary School has no affiliation with Head Start. Head Start, he said, only has an office on the campus and hasn't been a classroom-based preschool for many years.

Julie Dale Scott, Superintendent of the Mammoth-San Manuel School District, learned of the closure when Copper Area News reached out to her for a comment. Scott was very concerned when learning of the news.

“Our rural area certainly needs the Early Childhood Resources it receives and more, so cutting back is detrimental to our young population,” she said.

“I am very concerned about the cuts being made to Head Start Programs in the Copper Corridor. As an educator of over 33 years, I believe early identification and intervention is the hallmark of quality early educational system and is supported by countless educational research-based studies. Reducing early education programming for disadvantage children is a serious mistake that will have a lasting impact on learning and emotional growth for many children in our geographic area,” Gregorich said.

“Head Start provides the foundation for our youngest residents,” Besich said. “It is often a life-changing program for many families in Superior.” Gregorich concurred.

“This program is a game changer and is needed in through the United States and especially in rural Arizona communities that don't have other programs and options to provides these services. I know that Head Start is a no brainer early educational program that works, and I hope there is still have time to prevent any reduction to Head Start programs,” he said.

“I recommend everyone let our political leaders understand that making cuts to Head Start Programs will hurt children and parents who need it the most,” Gregorich added.

Congressman Tom O'Halleran has been apprised of the situation. His office has not yet released a statement, but is working with local educators and town officials to mitigate the loss of the Head Start sites.

The PGCCS website lists its governing board members. A check of the Arizona Corporation Commission's website (ecorp.azcc.gov) lists their home addresses. PGCCS governing board members include:

- Jesse Kraus, President (San Tan Valley)
- Tracy Anders, Vice President (Casa Grande)
- Caryl Chase, Treasurer (Casa Grande)
- Linda Good, Secretary (Casa Grande)
- Aimee Powell, Member (Casa Grande)
- Amy Curtiss, Member (Florence)
- Kyle Ott, PC Member (Globe)
- Lizbeth Shepherd, PC Member (unknown – not listed as a member on the ACC website)

Congressman O'Halleran can be reached through his website, which provides email links, and phone numbers and locations of his offices in Arizona and Washington, DC: ohalleran.house.gov.

“I sincerely hope the political discourse at the top doesn't forget about the many needy children and parents that are serviced through Head Start,” Gregorich said.
