Fireworks Safety

So just where were fireworks invented? It is said that they originated in 7th century China and were used for celebrations. Now that the warmer weather of summer is here, we will enjoy BBQ's, parades, fun in the pool or at lakes and beaches. We will also enjoy fireworks displays especially on the 4th of July when our country celebrates its birthday. Beautiful and mesmerizing as a fireworks display can be, a fireworks display should be left to the professionals and not set off by people not trained in their proper use.

Each year there are many injuries and fires caused by the improper use of fireworks. According to the USCPSC (U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission) in 2017 at least eight people died and approximately 12,900 people sought medical treatment after a fireworks-related injury. Most of these injuries were due to amateurs trying to use professional-grade, homemade or other illegal fireworks.

While fireworks can be and are used throughout the year, the 4th of July is the one day each year when injuries and fires caused by fireworks are reported the most. The NFPA (National Fire Protection Association) estimates that fireworks cause an average of 1,300 structure fires, 300 vehicle fires and nearly 17,000 other fires. The NSC (National Safety Council) advises people to stay away from all consumer fireworks and if they want to see a fireworks display put on by professionals.

The following are some fireworks that are legal for consumers to buy in some states. But just because they are legal doesn't make them safe!! Check out the following list of fireworks that may be legal to purchase in your area. To be safe and obey the law, check with authorities first BEFORE making a purchase:
SPARKLERS – While often seen along parade routes, at festivals and other events, parents don't realize that sparklers can burn at approximately 2,000 degrees! At this temperature, some metals can melt and a spark from a sparkler can quickly ignite clothing.
BOTTLE ROCKETS – Are small rockets that have a stick/tail, are lit by a fuse, and fired from a bottle or can. Many people, especially teens, have bottle rocket "wars", firing them at each other causing head, chest

Governor Katie Hobbs celebrates nearly $1 billion to support broadband connectivity in Arizona

This week, Governor Katie Hobbs announced Arizona will receive $993.1 million to build infrastructure and deploy technology that will expand high-speed internet access to millions of Arizonans. The announcement comes after Governor Hobbs secured $23 million in this year's budget agreement for the creation of the Rural Broadband Accelerated Match fund in anticipation of these awards.

"Access to reliable internet is critical to creating equal opportunities for all Arizonans," said Governor Katie Hobbs. "For too long, millions of Arizonans have lacked this access, preventing them from attaining good paying jobs, quality education, and even basic healthcare services. With this funding, my Administration will work with local, Tribal, and industry partners to connect every Arizonan, in every community, across the state and build an Arizona that works for everyone."

The money is received through the federal government's BEAD program. Broadband, Equity, Access, and Deployment Program (BEAD) managed by the National Telecommunications Information Administration (NTIA) under the US Department of Commerce. The BEAD Program provides critical funding that invests in long-needed infrastructure improvements to ensure broadband is affordable and accessible to hardworking families across the state. In March 2023, Governor Hobbs met with NTIA Assistant Secretary Alan Davidson to reiterate Arizona's commitment to utilizing BEAD dollars to close the digital divide and ensure all Arizonans have access to affordable and dependable high-speed internet. The program is a critical item in President Biden's Investing in America agenda.

The Arizona State Broadband Office, within the Arizona Commerce Authority, began planning and

About Town

You may be wondering what's going on in the spaces formerly occupied by the La Cantina and the bank on Alden Road. Kearny Innovation Retail Center, the local owner, is preparing them to house the Kearny Library and Kearny Town Hall. The bank will be the temporary home for the Kearny Town Hall and the La Cantina space will house the library while the original buildings are undergoing renovations.

ROMAN CANDLES – Shoot exploding shells from a tube but can cause severe burns to the hands of the person holding the firework which can result in loss of fingers and hands as well as severe burns.

Two words to live by when thinking of using M-class fireworks – JUST DON'T!! M-80s, M-100s, even M-250s can cause an unmistakable explosion that can be big enough to rattle house windows. They are produced illegally with no quality control, short fuses, and cause hundreds of severe injuries every year.

If fireworks are legal to use in your area here are a few safety tips you should follow:

- Never use fireworks with impaired by alcohol or drugs.
- Never allow young children to handle fireworks.
- Older children should use them only with close adult supervision.

- Never use them indoors.
- Anyone using fireworks or standing nearby should use protective eye wear.
- Use them away from people, houses, and flammable material.
- Light one at a time and maintain a safe distance after lighting.
- Never ignite devices in a container.
- Do not try to re-light or handle malfunctioning fireworks.
- Soak unused and spent fireworks in water for a few hours before discarding.
- Keep a bucket of water or a fully charged garden hose nearby to extinguish fireworks that don't go off or in case a fire starts. In case of fire, Do Not Delay in calling the Fire Department!!

The BEST way to enjoy a fireworks display? Grab a blanket and patch of lawn, relax, and watch the display provided by the experts!

Kearny author invests his all into writing full time

Nicholas Wilkinson is the author of books in many different genres. He lives in Kearny.

Nathaniel Lopez | CBN

By Nathaniel A. Lopez
Copper Basin News

On the edge of Kearny resides local author Nicholas Wilkinson, who lives on his property known as Fort Wilkinson with his family, and a few farm animals. Originally from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Wilkinson has been a resident in Kearny for three years.

“We moved from Philadelphia to Phoenix, then after about 10 years of living that city life, we just lucked out and found a property here in Kearny. We absolutely love it here,” Wilkinson commented. “I’d say I’ve lived a very interesting life. I was on my own at an early age, due to abuse and neglect. I have this philosophy that, I know what I want and I go out and do it. I was a professional wrestler. I was an EMT. I was in the Army. I have done a lot of exciting things.”

Wilkinson has invested all of his working time into being a full time writer, due to the difficulty of finding work in his wheelchair.

“I thought, well, I’ll pour everything I have into my writing, whether I get paid millions or not, at least I’m getting these stories out there, to me that’s what matters. I get these characters, these ideas, and these things in my head and the only way to get them out is by writing a story, or a book, or a novella, or whatever it is at the time,” Wilkinson added.

From a young age, he had a desire for writing, he began writing in notebooks, on computers, and on laptops, deciding to just go for it. In 2009, Wilkinson published two non-fiction self-help books on Amazon.com. The internet boom helped him find small publishers, and groups of other writers.

“One thing I tell young writers is get your story out there; it doesn’t matter if it’s bad. There are people out there who will help you make it better,” Wilkinson said with hope.

One of his books, Teens in Crisis, had a chapter that was studied by a class of students in Norway, after Wilkinson was contacted by a professor. He recalled it being a big sale for him.

Wilkinson threw a small Meet the Authors event at the end of May at Kearny bar and grill The G&J, with one other author. Despite it not being the turnout he had hoped for, Wilkinson has plans to host more events to let the community know about other local authors, giving them a chance to meet and speak to them.

Nicholas Wilkinson has books of the sci-fi, horror, young-adult and children’s genres available to purchase and read on Amazon.com. Show some support to a local Copper Basin artist!

stakeholder engagement in December of last year for successful and equitable deployment of this historic broadband investment. Over this process, the Office submitted 60,000 successful challenges to the Federal Communications Commission broadband maps to ensure all unserved and underserved Arizona households were accounted for in the BEAD formula funding. The Broadband office and Commerce Authority will now administer the deployment of the nearly $1 billion in BEAD funds over the next five years to ensure all Arizonans are connected to affordable, high-quality internet.

“High-speed internet access is becoming a greater need throughout all tribal communities in the state of Arizona,” said Speaker Crystalyn Curley of the 25th Navajo Nation Council. “The funding will be very beneficial for first responders, students, businesses, and many others on the Navajo Nation. We look forward to working with Governor Hobbs and the state agencies to ensure that tribal nations maximize the benefits of the NTIA funding.”

“This funding will be instrumental to keep all of Arizona’s economy growing and thriving,” said Mayor Mila Besich. “For small rural communities like Superior, having reliable internet not only helps connect our residents and grow our economy, it will be critical to public safety as well.”

“Today’s announcement is great news for Arizona, our 91 cities and towns, and residents across our great state. This money will provide opportunities for cities and towns to support broadband availability and adoption in their communities that will help close the digital divide and ensure rural, suburban, and urban communities have equal opportunity to access and afford high-speed internet” said René Guillen, Deputy Director, League of Arizona Cities and Towns. “In conversations with mayors and city and town managers across the state, whether it’s for economic development, educational purposes, or just personal access, the need for high-speed internet access has been a common refrain. We look forward to collaborating with our state and federal partners on putting this money to good use to benefit our residents.” “This nearly $1 billion investment in Arizona’s broadband infrastructure will be a game changer,” said

Arizona Water Company (the “Company”) has released its 2022 Water Quality Report (Consumer Confidence Report) for its Winkelman water system, PWSID 04-003. The Company will not be mailing a copy of the report to its customers, because Arizona Administrative Code R18-4-117, granted a mailing waiver to small water systems with a population less than 10,000 people. Copies are now available: at the Oracle office located at 470 E. American Avenue; via mail by sending a request to Arizona Water Company, P. O. Box 5209, Oracle, AZ 85623; via our website at www.azwater.com; or by calling the local office at 520-385-2226. The entire report is also printed in the newspaper today. The Company recommends that customers serving more than one housing unit post a copy of the 2022 Water Quality Report in a conspicuous place.

ARIZONA WATER COMPANY

– 2022 ANNUAL WATER QUALITY REPORT FOR WINKELMAN, ARIZONA, PWSID NO. 04-003 –

This report contains important information about your drinking water.
Este informe contiene información importante sobre su agua potable.
Tradúzcalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

Arizona Water Company provides groundwater to its Winkelman customers from wells located throughout the Winkelman area.

All water samples are collected by state-certified employees of Arizona Water Company or by the Arizona Department of Environmental Quality (“ADEQ”). Samples are analyzed by state-certified independent laboratories and the results are forwarded to ADEQ. The following report provides detailed information about the quality of the water delivered to customers. The water supplied by Arizona Water Company complies with all state and federal safe drinking water standards and regulations.

DETECTED WATER QUALITY CONSTITUENTS - GROUNDWATER

Primary Standards
Water Quality Constituent	Units	MCLG	MCL	Range of Levels Detected	Sample Year	Typical Source of Detected Constituent

Inorganics
Arsenic	ppb	0	10	4.8	2021	Erosion of natural deposits; runoff from orchards; runoff from glass and electronics production wastes
Barium	ppm	2	2	0.026	2021	Discharge of drilling wastes; discharge from metal refineries; erosion of natural deposits
Fluoride	ppm	4	4	1.2	2021	Erosion of natural deposits; water additive which promotes strong teeth; discharge from fertilizer and aluminum factories

Disinfectant / Disinfection Byproducts
Water Quality Constituent	Units	MCLG (MRDL G)	MCL (MRDL L)	Average Level Detected	Range of Levels Detected	Sample Year	Typical Source of Detected Constituent
Chlorine Residual	ppm	(4)	(4)	0.7	0.4 - 2	2022	Drinking water disinfectant
Haloacetic Acids (five)	ppb	NA	60	4.7	4.7	2022	Byproduct of drinking water disinfection
Total Trihalomethanes	ppb	NA	80	10.1	10.1	2022	Byproduct of drinking water disinfection

Additional Constituents (Unregulated)
Sodium	ppm	NS	NS	130	130	2021	Unknown
Hazard Index (GenX, PFBS, PFHxS, PFNA)	NA	1*	1*	0.025	0.02 - 0.03	2022	Man-made substance used in surface coatings and protectant formulations. Discharge of runoff from fire training/response sites, industrial sites, landfills and wastewater treatment plants.

Lead and Copper Monitoring
Water Quality Constituent	Units	MCLG	Action Level	90 th Percentile of Sample Results	Number of Samples That Exceeded the Action Level	Sample Year	Typical Source of Detected Constituent
Copper	ppm	1.3	1.3	0.01	0	2022	Internal corrosion of household water plumbing systems; erosion of natural deposits; leaching from wood preservatives
Lead	ppb	0	15	0.006	0	2022	Internal corrosion of household water plumbing systems; erosion of natural deposits

*Proposed (non-enforceable and non-regulatory)

Your drinking water complies with the United States Environmental Protection Agency’s (“USEPA”) safe drinking water standard for arsenic, though it contains low levels of arsenic. USEPA’s safe drinking water standard balances the current understanding of arsenic’s possible health effects against the costs of removing arsenic from drinking water. USEPA continues to research the health effects of low levels of arsenic, which is a mineral known to cause cancer in humans at high concentrations and is linked to other health effects such as skin damage and circulatory problems.

Public Notice

Arizona Water Company is publishing this notice to inform its customers about the presence of Per- and Polyfluoroalkyl Substances (“PFAS”) in drinking water. The test dates and test results are shown in the table above. USEPA’s proposed Maximum Concentration Level (“MCL”) and/or Hazard Index (“HI”) for PFAS are non-enforceable and non-regulatory.

USEPA’s proposed MCL and/or HI for PFAS offer information that indicates the safe levels of exposure to these individual PFAS. If you are concerned about potential health effects from exposure to these PFAS above the MCL and/or HI, contact your doctor or health care professional.

For more detailed information and USEPA’s answers to questions about its PFAS proposed MCL and/or HI, visit:

- USEPA’s Fact Sheet for the Proposal to Limit PFAS in Drinking Water March 2023 https://www.epa.gov/system/files/documents/2023-04/Fact%20Sheet_PFAAS_NPWDR_Final_4.4.23.pdf
- https://www.azdhs.gov/documents/preparedness/epidemiology-disease-control/environmental-health/environmental-public-health-tracking/PFAAS_Infographic.pdf
- <https://www.epa.gov/pfas>
- <https://azdeq.gov/map>

For more information about what ADEQ is doing about PFAS in Arizona, visit: <https://azdeq.gov/pfas-resources>.

Note: In addition to the constituents listed in this report, Arizona Water Company conducted monitoring for over 80 additional constituents and the results show none of those constituents were detected in the water. Data presented are from the most recent testing done in accordance with applicable regulations. Some constituents are monitored less frequently than once a year because either their concentrations do not change frequently, or they are not likely to be detected. Therefore, some of the water quality testing data contained in this report, although representative, may be more than one year old. If you have questions about this water quality report please contact Regina Lynde, Environmental Compliance Manager, Arizona Water Company, P. O. Box 29006, Phoenix, Arizona 85038-9006; telephone (602) 240-6860 or e-mail mail@azwater.com.

In 2000, ADEQ completed a Source Water Assessment of the water sources used by Arizona Water Company’s Winkelman water system. ADEQ reviewed the adjacent land uses that may pose a potential risk to the water sources. ADEQ determined that activity on adjacent land use poses a high risk to two water sources. Arizona Water Company regularly monitors drinking water sources to make sure your drinking water complies with the Safe Drinking Water Act.

The complete Assessment is available for inspection at ADEQ, 1110 West Washington Street, Phoenix, Arizona 85007, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Electronic copies are available from ADEQ at recordscenter@azdeq.gov. For more information visit ADEQ’s Source Water Assessment and Protection Unit website at: www.azdeq.gov/node/735.

The USEPA and ADEQ require Arizona Water Company to provide the following information:

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some constituents. The presence of constituents does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about constituents and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the USEPA’s Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Some people may be more vulnerable to constituents in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. USEPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial constituents are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radiological material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Constituents that may be present in source water include:

- Microbials, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
- Inorganics, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.
- Organics, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are byproducts of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
- Radiological material, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, USEPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain constituents in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for constituents in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Arizona Water Company is responsible for providing high quality drinking water but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the USEPA’s Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/lead>.

DEFINITIONS, ABBREVIATIONS, AND UNIT DESCRIPTIONS:

Action	=	The concentration of a constituent which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
Level	=	United States Centers for Disease Control and Prevention
CDC	=	United States Food and Drug Administration
FDA	=	Maximum Contaminant Level, the highest level of a constituent that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs using the best available treatment technology as is economically and technologically feasible.
MCL	=	Maximum Contaminant Level Goal, the level of a constituent in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
MCLG	=	Maximum Residual Disinfection Level, the highest level of a drinking water disinfectant that is allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.
MRDL	=	Maximum Residual Disinfection Level Goal, the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial constituents.
MRDLG	=	None detected
NA	=	None detected
ND	=	None detected
NS	=	No standard
pCi/L	=	Picocuries per liter
ppb	=	Parts per billion, or micrograms per liter (µg/L)
ppm	=	Parts per million, or milligrams per liter (mg/L)
PWSID	=	Public Water System Identification

Mignonne Hollis, Executive Director of the Arizona Regional Economic Development Foundation. “This is especially so in rural areas, where access to reliable high-speed is one of the biggest impediments to economic development, access to telehealth, and quality of life. We look forward to working with the Hobbs Administration on the placement of these grant funds into Arizona’s rural communities.”

“Common Sense Media’s research has shown that internet service is essential for families, whether for education, work, health care, or connecting with loved ones,” said Ilana Lowery, the Arizona Director of Common Sense Media. “This historic federal investment will ensure that every Arizonan, no matter where they live or how much they make, has access to affordable, high-speed broadband.”

Veteran and artist creates mural on VFW Memorial at Superior Cemetery

A new mural has been created at the VFW Memorial at the Fairview Cemetery in Superior. The mural was the inspiration of Alfonso "Sonny" Cruz. Sonny, a Vietnam Veteran, has always shared great pride for his military service and the recognition of others who have served.

"Our hometown has been deeply affected by the consequences of war, as were our neighboring communities," he said.

Cruz has utilized art to reduce the symptoms of post-war Post Traumatic Stress Syndrome. Over the past several years, he restored a classic car as a tribute to his military service. The car features memorabilia as well as a history of his military service. He often displays the vehicle during the Dia de Los Muertos event in Superior and other car shows.

Another project is called the healing wall. "The healing wall is a tribute to all branches of the armed services. The mural depicted is a visual representation and symbol of respect and appreciation for all comrades, friends, and brothers who gaucher for life and freedom," explained Cruz.

Cruz's latest project is coordinating a mural on the VFW Memorial at the Fairview Cemetery. The mural is being painted by Myron Starr of Peridot, he is the son of a Vietnam Veteran. A few local veterans wanted to make contributions to the art work, and while Cruz had intended to fund most of the project himself including some support for Myron Starr, who agreed to volunteer his time and skills. After seeing the mural, more people suggested they wanted to be able to make donations.

Donations can be made via GoFund me: <https://bit.ly/3NDkoG5> or you may Zelle a donation to Jeanette Cruz, Sonny's wife at 602-770-3179. You may also call them to learn more about the mural and how you can get involved.
