Who said Pinal County has a water problem?

As we prepared to say goodbye to the month of June, we would be remiss not to think that we have had it pretty easy. While the average temperature is 3 degrees higher than the average temperature in the past it feels cooler in Pinal County.

In 2013, Apache Junction City Councilwoman Robin Barker helped lay the foundation for something that would become life-changing for hundreds of people. Barker gave her water bottle to a woman in need during the summer months. Knowing how hot it was outside and knowing that by staying hydrated, you can remain alive, she mobilized and created the "water for a living" drive in Apache Junction. Over the years, the Water for a Living Drive has grown, morphed, and been adopted in new communities throughout Pinal County. Six years later, the water drive is organized and led each year by the United Way of Pinal County as part of the Pinal County Homeless initiative.

The drive has evolved. Still sticking to its roots of a water collection effort, in 2018, the UWPC along with Central Arizona Governments, the Pinal County Public Health Department, Community Action Human Resources agency and communities in Pinal County formed a coalition, the Pinal County Heat Relief Network (HRN). In collaboration with more than 70 government, business, social service, and faith-based agencies this network provides information on hydration stations, refuge locations and water donation sites throughout Pinal County to prevent heat-related deaths among people experiencing homelessness and other vulnerable populations.

In 2016, heat-related deaths took 233 Arizona residents from us. According to the Arizona Department of Health Services, 38 percent of all Pinal County heat-related hospital visits were due to occupational hazards/exposure. In 2017, the largest population of emergency department visits across the Grand Canyon State were from 20-44 years of age. Of the 2,957 heat-related illness visits, 2,634 were residents of the state.

Pinal Rural firefighters, others complete wildland fire training

By John Hernandez
Copper Area News

Twenty-five firefighters completed wildland fire training and celebrated the event on Sunday, June 30, 2019 at the Pinal Rural Fire Rescue station in Mammoth. Twenty of the firefighters were from Pinal Rural, three from the San Manuel Volunteer Fire Department and two from Bomberos Voluntarios Esqueda (Volunteer Firefighters from Esqueda, Sonora Mexico).

The firefighters completed a 40-hour basic wildland fire fighting course. They will need to complete a physical agility test to receive their Red Card which will then certify them to fight wildland fires.

“Their own fire department will be doing follow up training and the physical agility test,” said training officer, Cliff Maloy.

Pinal Rural celebrated the day with a luncheon. The food was donated by Carniceria Rancheros of Mammoth. They also had water which was donated by Anheuser Busch and the National Volunteer Fire Council.

Congratulations, firefighters!

Web series comedy

By John Hernandez
San Manuel Miner

Ernie Bustamante grew up in Mammoth and graduated from San Manuel High School. He now lives in Los Angeles where he works as a writer in the entertainment industry and is the creator and writer for an award-winning web series Border Patrol. The cast and crew of Border Patrol recently came to Mammoth where they filmed the second season of the comedy series. Some locals were used as extras and a few were cast in supporting roles.

Ernie is the son of Martha and Ernesto Bustamante of Mammoth.

Ernie said he chose Mammoth for its views.

“The Town of Mammoth has beautiful scenic landscapes that look amazing on film, so it was an obvious choice to shoot season two. More importantly, our production had the support of the town and town officials. We also had the cooperation of businesses and business owners like Maggie Mae Franks at the Bluefront, who opened their doors and allowed us to shoot at their establishments. I would love to shoot season 3 in Mammoth if given the opportunity,” Ernie said.

The first season of Border Patrol has been screened at various film festivals. At the Arizona Underground Film Festival, it won “Best Short Narrative”.

Ernie created and wrote the series because, “Anyone who watches the news can see the ways in which the US-Mexico border and Latinos are misrepresented by the media. I wanted to tell a different narrative about the border from the point of view of Latinos, and make it comedic. So, I created a comedic web series about a group of Latino Border Patrol Agents working on the Arizona-Mexico border, where the dangers they face are the problems they create for themselves. It’s like Reno 911 on the border.”

After graduating from high school, Ernie received his BA in Political Science from Stanford University and his Master in Fine Arts in screenwriting from UCLA.

“My most influential high school teacher, who also encouraged my writing, was my AP English teacher, Ms. Linda Brooks,” he said.

Ernie’s first job in the entertainment industry was as a writer’s assistant on the one-hour drama Boston Legal Ernie Bustamante hosts a conference on the Latino Vote.

spoofs Border Patrol; films in Mammoth which starred William Shatner, James Spader and Candice Bergen. He continued to work on various shows until he sold his first pitch, a television series to Freeform in 2010.

“I’ve been working as a TV writer since then, either selling my own projects and scripts or writing on the staff of another show,” he said.

“I have written pilot scripts for ABC and Fox, TV movies for Nickelodeon and Freeform, and was a staff writer on Rob! (CBS), Liv and Maddie (Disney Channel), and Lab Rats (Disney XD). I am currently developing a comedy series based on the life of Sonia Manzano aka “Maria” from Sesame Street.”

Season two introduces new Border

Patrol characters played by Vanessa Vasquez (Hulu’s East Los High) and Greg Roman (ABC’s Modern Family), and Vanessa Gonzalez (Comedy Central Stand-Up Presents).

Vasquez portrays “Estella” – the tough-talking, no-nonsense Border Patrol agent who never cracks a smile and Roman is her new partner “Scotty” – who would rather be taking pictures of the desert than patrolling it. Gonzalez portrays “Lydia” – Estella’s best friend who has just been assigned desk duty after accidentally setting her work truck on fire.

Season two also features Kobe “The Stunna” Ortiz (Spike TV’s Fight Master) as villain the “Chato”; and reprising their roles from season one are Eric Bustamante as “Julio” – the friendly neighborhood coyote and Erin Darling returning as “Azul.”

Crew members included: John Lopez (Director) who was recently writer/producer on the CBS All Access series Strange Angel, Carlos Duhaime (Director of Photography), Tyler Stephenson (Associate Producer), Cecelia Swanson (Hair and Makeup), Jaye McAuliffe (Production Sound Mixer), Joe Becker (Camera Operator), David Guilfoyle (Production Assistant), and Andrew Tuchel (Production Assistant).

“A special thanks goes to the following people for their cooperation and contributions to the production: The Arizona Film Office, Mayor Joe Dietz and the Town of Mammoth, The Lodge, Ernest and Martha Bustamante, Elyssa Bustamante, David and Delilah Carbajal, Jack and Rosemary Carbajal, Danette Carbajal, Jack and Tere Carbajal, Josh Talamantes, Freddy and Norma Rios, Elissa Crosby, Annie Medina, Ralphie Valencia, and Maggie Mae Franks at The Bluefront,” Ernie said.

You can learn more about Border Patrol and watch series 1 at www.borderpatrolcomedy.com or like and follow them on Facebook. “Find out what’s really happening at the border.” Season two of “Border Patrol” is scheduled to be released online this summer. Follow the show on Instagram (@BorderPatrolComedy) for updates.

Endangered Gila topminnow to combat mosquitoes in Pinal County; fish will be used to reduce threat of West Nile, Zika viruses

PHOENIX — Pinal County will have a new ally in the battle against mosquito-borne diseases this summer: endangered Gila topminnow.

The Arizona Game and Fish Department (AZGFD) will provide 100-200 of the native fish to the Pinal County Public Health Services District on Friday, June 21 to be held for natural propagation, and later to be stocked into standing urban waters throughout the county.

The project is being done under an Endangered Species Act Safe Harbor Agreement between AZGFD, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and Pinal County to cooperatively reduce a public health threat by using the endangered fish to target mosquito larvae, reducing the threat of mosquito-borne diseases, such as West Nile and Zika viruses.

"This endangered species has proven itself as a solid contender in the battle against mosquito larvae in Pima County and we are now pleased to partner with neighboring Pinal County on this highly effective project," said Ross Timmons, AZGFD's project coordinator. "Standing waters of any type are prime breeding habitat for mosquitoes, and that can pose a serious public health threat."

Pinal County was scheduled to receive the endangered fish at a county health facility in Florence on Friday, June 21. They will later be placed into urban water sources, such as abandoned green swimming pools, fountains and backyard ponds within the county.

"The Pinal County Public Health Services District's mission is to cultivate a healthy community, where everyone has the opportunity to reach their full potential," said Chris Reimus, division manager of environmental health with the District. "Gila topminnow should prove to be an effective tool in the vector control toolbox as a biological control for mosquitoes in habitats such as abandoned urban swimming pools. This innovative program allows us to be effective in our public health mission while also being stewards of our natural environment."

Research over the past 20 years shows that Gila topminnow are just as effective at targeting mosquito larvae as the use of the exotic mosquitofish, which is a non-native species. While mosquitofish have been used with some success in reducing disease-carrying mosquitoes, their use has unintended consequences for native fish and their ecosystems when they escape confinement.

"This is a great example of how the flexibility of the Endangered Species Act and innovative partnerships can further endangered species conservation and address human needs," said Doug Duncan, fish biologist with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. "Mosquitofish are a major threat to Gila topminnow, and using topminnow instead of mosquitofish helps lessen that threat."

The Gila topminnow is a small, short-lived fish, with a general lifespan of less than a year. As their name suggests, topminnows spend the majority of their time close to the water's surface feeding on plants, small crustaceans and small invertebrates, including mosquito larvae.

Historically, topminnow were the most abundant fish species in the Gila River basin from western New Mexico to central and western Arizona. Over time, habitat loss and degradation brought the topminnow to the brink of extinction. It was listed as a federally endangered species in 1967. Since then, AZGFD and its partners have worked to restore topminnow populations with the goal of delisting the fish.

For more information on topminnows, visit www.azgfd.gov/wildlife and click on "Nongame & Endangered Wildlife."

HEAT NETWORK

For the 2019 summer season, the HRN organizing partners set an ambitious goal of 50 pallets of water (110,000 individual water bottles) across Pinal County.

Launching the HRN on May 1, and running through Sept. 30, that gave five full months to collect and distribute that water. It's been a unique summer.

Generous community members, inspiring business leaders and a few unfortunate forest fires in Pinal County have led to tremendous response so we head into July with 47 pallets already in hand or distributed. The UWPC, in partnership with a local real estate office, Lost Dutchman Realty, and its accompanying community foundation, LDR Foundation, in Apache Junction, successfully held a water drive to distribute water to our local Pinal County first responders. It is important to note that the crews fighting the Woodbury fire in Pinal/Gila County are unable to accept donations as they are comprised of state and federal resources. However, what many do not realize is that their brothers in arms -- the local Pinal County crews -- saw their resources slipping from their grasps at a faster than average pace. The local first responders also help in "disaster mitigation" on top of dealing with their daily calls and emergencies.

Roughly 25 pallets of water, three pallets of Gatorade/electrolyte-style drinks, and a pallet and a half of non-perishable snacks were raised and distributed. Local emergency services agencies like the Queen Valley Fire District, the Superior Fire Department, the Superior Police Department, the Oracle Fire Department, Rural Metro, and the Gila County Emergency Management office were among the beneficiaries. The Gila County Emergency Management office received supplies due to the evacuation of the Roosevelt Lake area. An evacuation shelter was set up in the Globe/Miami community for the several hundred residents affected by the evacuation.

We are grateful for this generosity, but we are not done yet. There are three full months of summer heat ahead of us and donations are still needed for our local social service agencies. Pinal County Sheriff's office alone requires 16 pallets of water just for their patrol vehicles and services provided. The UWPC, in partnership with Pinal County Emergency Management, is also looking to place at least eight pallets in various strategic locations in case of an emergency as part of the Emergency Disaster Response Team.

"While we are blown away by the generous nature of Pinal County, we know the work is not done," said Braden Biggs, community programs manager for the United Way of Pinal County. "We are asking all of Pinal County to #LiveUnited to ensure that we stay hydrated and help our most vulnerable community members in the months to come!"

We are still in need of heat relief stations, hydration stations, drop off stations and emergency refuge stations across Pinal County. If you would like to donate, you can contact the United Way of Pinal County at (520) 836-0736. To make a monetary donation or learn more, text UWPC WATER to 313131 or visit www.unitedwayofpc.org/heatrelief.
