OBITUARY

Rosalie Frances Graham Frazier

Rosalie Frances Graham Frazier peacefully passed away at home in San Manuel on July 24, 2015. Rosalie, known to her friends and family as Rosie, was born on Sept. 8, 1945 in Dillon, Montana to Sarah and George Graham. She attended beauty school after high school and loved doing hair and being a beautician. In 1964, she married Glen Russel Frazier; their marriage would last 40 years. Rosie put her career on hold to raise a family of five children. Although she never went back to work as a beautician, her passion never faded and is apparent in her daughters' grade school pictures with Beehives and home perms.

In 1973, Rosie and family moved to San Manuel, a company mining town built in 1953 for the employees at Magma copper company. In order to work at Magma, her daughter Debbie remembered her mom putting heavy copper nuggets in her pockets her Dad had brought home to make the required minimum weight at the mine. Over the years she held several different jobs at Magma; her favorite and last position at the company was a tinsmith.

One of her favorite treasured possessions was a vintage wardrobe steamer trunk that her sister Hazel had restored and hand painted beautiful pink roses on. Inside hanging on perfectly preserved wooden hangers were two long sleeve faded blue denim shirts that had the words, "sisters are forever" embroidered in red with white lace on the collars and two black and white pictures on the pockets. One picture of Rosie and Hazel as children and the other picture of Rosie and Hazel grown up. Just looking at those pictures you can hear the two sisters giggling. All Debbie's memories of the two of them together, are of them laughing and giggle at everything.

I can DO that....I can MAKE that....are words that Rosie's kids say often because of their mom. She possessed the ability to look at knotted up pieces of driftwood lying on a rocky beach on the coast of Oregon and see beautiful end tables.

One winter she had the creative vision and green thumb to look outside her window on 4th Ave. in San Manuel at her desert dry and bare backyard and see a vegetable garden. That spring the family were eating lettuce and tomato salads with little green inch worms. Rosie's words: "He won't eat much, just pick him off, it's not going to hurt you." To their surprise, Rosie's kids didn't die from eating little green inch worms that summer and they all gained an appreciation for the outdoors and gardening.

Rosalie loved taking their old Ford pickup truck with the over the cab sleeper camper camping to the Gila River. Daughter Debbie remembers jumping into the brownish green river without an inner tube, her mom yelling from the shallow part of the river bank where she could sit in the water, "You better swim cuz I can't swim to save you!" The kids' heads were barely visible as they bobbed down the fast current, laughing when they got caught in the rivers strong whirlpools that would spin them around and pull them under. Thanks to Rosie during those hot summers they all became strong confident swimmers and most importantly learned not to panic in water or in life. "Just go with the flow and don't worry about the whirlpools."

If you knew Rosie, you knew she loved rocks! In every room of her house she had displayed beautiful precious rocks, some she just picked up walking and others she had collected from years of going to the Gem and Mineral Show and traveling to her favorite places.

"Snoopy rock", the "cooking rock", "lava rock with a face", "Christmas rock"....her children, grandchildren, great grandchildren and generations to come without a doubt will have sentimental attachments to what most people think are ordinary rocks. But because of Rosie, those ordinary rocks had names and to this day the family lugs them from house to house and still asks each other about them.

Rosalie loved deeply and one of the ways she showed you she loved you was by making you a quilt. If you were blessed with receiving one of her handcrafted masterpieces it was her way of saying to you, "I love you, I thought of you with every stitch I sewed. I thought about the moments we spent together and cherish them all."

Rosalie was preceded in death by her sister, Hazel; brother, Charlie; and her oldest son, David. She is survived by her brother, Tommy of Dillon, Montana; children, Danny (New Hampshire), Debbie (California), Tammy (Arizona) and Tony (Arizona); 11 grandchildren, Michael Horne (36), Frances (32), Tiffany (28), Ryan (28), Michael (27), Chris (25), Chris "Bubba" (23), Mark (21), Shane Glen (18), Peyton Eli (6) and Teagan Kane (6); and four great-grandchildren, Sanaira (3), Spencer (2), Vera (16 months) and Samara (2 months).

Sea Lions look sharp in League relay meet

The newly opened Florence Aquatic Center was the site of the Central Arizona League Relay Meet Saturday. A total of seven teams represented communities from Coolidge, Globe, Florence, Eloy, Anthem Merrill Ranch, San Tan Valley, and San Manuel at the meet. It was the first swim meet held at the new facility which includes a state of the art eight-lane competition pool. A co-ed relay only format with combined age groups was used. No team scores were kept, but team pride was on the line for every event.

The Sea Lions looked awesome at the meet. Sea Lions relays won 17 out of the 20 events held.

The following swimmers swam on winning relays at the meet on Saturday:

Michael Oldham (9) was named Sea Lions Beast of the Week. Michael swam faster than he ever had before in each of his relay swims, but it was the Beastly size of his improvements that earned him the title. His hard work in practice is the key to his rapid improvement. The Sea Lions team is home to some very fast 9-10 boys, and Michael showed that his Backstroke and Breaststroke are among the best on the team.

The Sea Lions swim team will host the Central Arizona League Championship Meet in San Manuel on Saturday, July 18, at 8 a.m. The Sea Lions have won the League Championship every year since 2007, and have hopes of winning it again this year.

Summer time prep for kindergarten

PINAL COUNTY – School is letting out and many families have summer pool parties and vacations on the mind. For parents and caregivers of children under 5 years old, summer is also a great opportunity to help kids going into kindergarten prepare for success!

Today's schools expect 5-year-olds to arrive with basic academic and social skills so they are prepared on day one to start learning to read, write and do basic math.

Casa Grande's Mesquite Elementary School kindergarten teacher Alice Baker, who just finished her 36th year of teaching, is looking for simple ways of preparedness.

"Can they sit for 10 to 15 minutes at a time?" she asked. "This tells me whether they'll be able to sit through a story or lesson. How good are they at following simple directions? Have they used a pencil or crayons? If they can do those things, it's easy to start beginning to learn."

Baker's answers echo a survey of 4,500 kindergarten teachers were asked what skills a child should have to help ease his or her transition to school, the answers included:

- Pretends to read. Understands that words are read from left to right. Looks at pictures and tells a story.

- Recognizes own name and tries to write it.
- Counts to 10 and can count objects.
- Pays attention and follows simple directions.
- Can repeat sequences of numbers, sounds and parts of stories.
- Controls a pencil and crayon well. Cuts shapes and pastes them on paper.
- Is toilet trained. Dresses self. Brushes own teeth.
- Recognizes authority. Shares with others. Works independently.

"Parents are very important because a child's education starts at home," Baker said. "It's very noticeable when families spend a lot of times with their children. The child sees that learning is important to their mom and dad and think, 'They want me to do well.'"

First Things First offers tips to families and caregivers to help prepare their child for kindergarten.

Reading - Read with your child at least 20 minutes per day. Try books that repeat words about familiar objects; involve activities like counting, identifying colors, objects or letters; or, are about things your child likes. Ask questions about the story like, "What do you think happens next?"

Talking - Talk and sing with your child everywhere – at home, in the car, at the store. Make up stories or songs about your outings.

Routines - Help your child get used to the structure of the school day by establishing regular routines for waking up and dressing, meal times, and bath and bed times. Do a test-run of the big day by practicing all the activities that will happen at school. This will help overcome any fears. Include waking up at the scheduled time, walk to the bus stop and talk about where to sit. If you drive, talk about landmarks on the way. Pack a lunch and practice opening things together.

Early writing - Writing begins with scribbling. Give your child safe writing tools to play with, like crayons, chalk or markers and blank paper. Ask your child to tell you about their drawings. Use salt or coffee grounds as a tactile way to practice writing alphabet letters.

Talk change - Start talking to your child about the change that is coming when they start school. Be positive, and give your child the opportunity to ask questions or express fears. Read books with your child about starting kindergarten.

For more tips to prepare kids over the summer for their first day of school and success beyond, First Things First offers resources at azfff.gov in the Parent Section under Early Education.

If you don't have kindergarteners this year, it's never too early to start helping kids prepare. Children who have positive experiences from birth to 5 are more likely to be prepared when they start kindergarten and do well in school. By turning everyday moments into learning moments, we can help our children develop the skills and the love of learning that will help them succeed in school and in life!

About First Things First

First Things First is a voter-created, statewide organization that funds early education and health programs to help kids be successful once they enter kindergarten. Decisions about how those funds are spent are made by local councils staffed by community volunteers. To learn more, visit azfff.gov.

First Things First's top 10 ways to help your child prepare for kindergarten Summertime is a great opportunity to help kids prepare for their first day of kindergarten. Today's schools expect 5-year-olds to arrive with basic academic and social skills so they are prepared on day one to start learning to read, write and do basic math. Fun, everyday activities help kids develop basic skills.

First Things First has tip sheets to help parents prepare their kids over the summer for their first day of school and success beyond. These resources can be found at azfff.gov in the Parent Section under Early Education.

"One thing these tips all have in common is that they involve high quality interaction between the child and an adult," said Ginger Sandweg, First Things First Senior Director of Early Learning. "This interaction is the one way to make sure these every day moments are learning moments."

Below are the top 10 things to do with your child to prepare him or her for kindergarten.

1. Reading - Read with your child at least 20 minutes per day. Try books that repeat words about familiar objects; involve activities like counting, identifying colors, objects or letters; or, are about things your child likes. Ask questions about the story like, "What do you think happens next?"

2. Talking - Talk and sing with your child everywhere - at home, in the car, at the store. Make up stories or songs about your outings.

talk about landmarks on the way. Pack a lunch and practice opening things together.

4. Early writing - Writing begins with scribbling. Give your child safe writing tools to play with, like crayons, chalk or markers and blank paper. Ask your child to tell you about their drawings. Use salt or coffee grounds as a tactile way to practice writing alphabet letters.

5. Healthy breakfast - Start every day with a healthy breakfast. It helps kids concentrate.

6. Sleeping - Make sure your child gets 8-10 hours of sleep every night.

7. Staying healthy - Schedule a visit with your child's doctor and dentist. Health problems make concentrating difficult.

8. Sharing - Teach your child how to share and let them help you clean up so they get used to putting things back where they found them.

9. Hygiene - Teach your child how to use the bathroom by themselves, to wash their hands after going to the bathroom and before eating, to blow their nose and sneeze into their elbow.

10. Talk change - Start talking to your child about the change that is coming when they start school.

Be positive, and give your child the opportunity to ask questions or express fears. Read books with your child about starting kindergarten.

If you don't have kindergartners this year, it's never too early to start helping kids prepare. Children who have positive experiences from birth to 5 are more likely to be prepared when they start kindergarten and do well in school. By turning everyday moments into learning moments, we can help our children develop the skills and the love of learning that will help them succeed in school and in life!

More tips and information for supporting your child's health and learning can be found at aztft.gov in the Parents section.

CAC's 'College for Kids' receives big support from Eastern Pinal County

Pinal County, AZ – Each year numerous Eastern Pinal County community donors are instrumental in providing the College for Kids summer program at Central Arizona College. This year, more than $17,000 has been donated to cover the cost of supplies and provide student scholarships for eastern Pinal County youth to attend the eight day program.

The 2015 donors include: SaddleBrooke Community Outreach; APS Grant; Winkelman Resource Management Center; SRP Grant/Community Outreach; Resolution Copper; SMITHCO Enterprises; Capstone/Pinto Valley Operations; United Methodist Church/Good Shepherd; ASARCO; San Manuel Rotary Club; William Stanbaugh; Delta Kappa Gamma Zeta Chapter; P.E.O. Sisterhood, Chapter AR; Copper Area News Publishers; Town of Winkelman; Town of Kearny; Town of Hayden; and Pinal County RICO Funds.

“We are very grateful for the tremendous amount of support from our community members.” stated Jamie Wolgast, College for Kids Program Coordinator. “Because of their financial assistance, our program has grown over the years and will continue to provide fun, summer learning experiences for our local kids.”

Desert Critters is the theme for the 2015 College for Kids hands-on summer program happening at the CAC Aravaipa Campus. Classes began last week and already have enriched the lives and minds of those attending. Fifty children, exiting grades two through six, have had the opportunity to study the critters so often found in our local deserts up close. The first day included owl pellet dissections and last Thursday, kids were bused to the Oracle State Park to participate in Environmental Education.

The closing ceremonies for the camp will take place on Thursday, July 16, at 12:30 p.m. in the Cafeteria of the Aravaipa Campus (80440 E. Aravaipa Road, Winkelman, AZ 85192). Students will be presented with certificates and a slide show featuring the camp activities will be shown to the friends, family and community members in attendance. All projects created by the students during the program will be on display as well.

Wherever you live...
Natural gas is your neighbor.

Natural gas lines can be buried anywhere, even in areas that don't use natural gas, like all-electric or propane neighborhoods. So it's important that EVERYONE knows how to recognize and respond to a natural gas leak, wherever they are.

A leak may be present if you:

SMELL: An odor similar to rotten eggs, even if it's faint or momentary.

HEAR: A hissing or roaring coming from the ground or above-ground piping.

SEE: Dirt or water blowing into the air, unexplained dead or dying grass or vegetation, or standing water continuously bubbling.

If you suspect a leak:

- Leave the area immediately.
- From a safe place, call 911 and Southwest Gas at 1-877-860-6020, day or night, whether you're a customer or not. A Southwest Gas representative will be there as soon as possible.
- Don't smoke or use matches or lighters.
- Don't turn on or off electrical switches, thermostats, or appliance controls; or do anything that could cause a spark.
- Don't start or stop an engine, or use automated doors.

For more information about natural gas safety, visit swgas.com/safety or call 1-877-860-6020.
