LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Respecting our San Carlos Tribal Elders: Return the Holy Ground Crosses from Oak Flat

My name is Karen Kitcheyan Jones. I am an enrolled member of the San Carlos Apache Tribe. I have lived here most of my life with exception to grade school year where my late father's employment took us off the reservation. I can safely say my exposure to off reservation life is a blessing as I was encouraged to make friends with non-native people of other ethnic origin. It was this experience I gained much value of what family is. My upbringing involved our practice of the matriarch, my paternal grandmother passed on strong, strict, moral lessons to her family. She practiced this by example and when we were old enough to understand only then were we allowed to question. Mable Dosela Kitcheyan was our late Grandmother's name. We are not allowed to say the names of those who have passed on. This is allowed only in times to confirm our own identity.

My grandmother raised us in our sunrise ceremony circle, raised us in our own Healing Ceremony circle, with this foundation of our teaching I have the ability to tell you the truth. So with great respect I share with you this truth.

First, Yes our Apache people were a nomadic group of people who traveled by clan to harvest seasonal food.

Second, change came, boundaries were drawn and a year of exploring our earth revealed that rich copper and more land was taken. Now we live within what is 1.8 million acres that was cut down drastically. Much, much change has occurred for the good and the bad. Boarding schools began to break up the family bond, re-location to employ our people in the urban-environment. In the midst of all this change, grandmother reminded us not to fear but to cling close to God that our worship to protect what our culture and tradition has already laid out; our own foundation. To keep up with change, stay in school, keep away from people who may mislead you for their own gain and rob you of your way, prayer and dance. Be aware of what alcohol abuse could lead to and it will destroy you! Today we see that drug abuse has already destroyed many of our beautiful people.

Third, Tribal government established another change which included a political agenda. Real issues facing our tribe or made up issues inspired by false information from our own tribal members who make a living on destroying and hunting people with their words. Another change that is highly influenced by money and special favor, this always keeps a one sided picture. Our tribal members face money concerns within the boundaries of our homeland. This is why I am taking the steps to clarify and make my statement that Oak Flat has no sacred significance to our Apache people. Yes, Acorn can be harvest there among many other areas on and off the reservation. Oak Flat does not influence nor determine the outcome to our on-going battle against our social ills, drug abuse, alcohol abuse, unemployment, housing issues, crime issues and education issues. I support the quiet elder members who have said "Oak Flat is not sacred. There are no sacred songs or sacred prayers that say Oak Flat is a Holy Place". These very elders also ask "Why is there a Holy Ground over there, WHY? That is not good".

Fourth, it has been said many times we are reminded by the statements that come from our sacred sweat that "Change will ultimately happen". Along with that statement, a true warning is also said "Do not let this change make you crazy!" Protect the sacred core of our people, culture, tradition, language. Protect our livelihood so that we continue to be strong and to welcome change gracefully.

I am a daughter to our creator God. I am a daughter to my parents who co-created this gift to my family as mother and grandmother. We must continue to let honesty generate peace, to let courage promote fairness and to keep praying for unity. So be mindful of respecting each other's uniqueness as we welcome others hand of

On Racial Terrorism

The horrible killing of nine innocent people in a church in Charleston, South Carolina has shown that racism still exists in America. Add hatred and ignorance and you get someone like Dylann Roof who believes he's on a mission to start a "race war." This was a terrorist act carried out by a white supremacist. Whether he acted alone or was part of a group remains to be seen. If he did it on his own, he was at the very least influenced by white supremacist websites and rhetoric. This influence was shown when he spouted out a white supremacist diatribe, "You rape our women; you're taking over our country," and repeated their mantra of the coming race war.

He hoped to start a war but only found forgiveness and prayers for his soul from survivors and his victims' families and church members. Along with Presidents Obama's moving eulogy for Pastor Clementa Pinckney, the consciousness of people all around the country has been raised. So much so that South Carolina looks like it will remove the Confederate battle flag from government buildings. This symbol of slavery, hatred, discrimination, KKK terror and white supremacy is about to go down. It is about time!

Unfortunately while most Americans were empathizing with the victims' families some were more worried about Obama coming for their guns. They sit hunkering in their bunkers with their German shepherds waiting for the start of the imaginary race war. Five churches have been burned in the South, churches where the majority of members are African-American. No evidence yet that it is arson but the timing is too coincidental. The Ku Klux Klan is also planning a protest against the removal of the Confederate battle flag. When will they ever learn?

President Obama and civil liberties groups have been on a roll thanks to the Supreme Court. SCOTUS made gay marriage the law of the land, the Affordable Care Act is still standing strong, and they supported the will of the people in Arizona where gerrymandering may soon be over.

On the lighter side, Donald "Latinos Love Me" Trump, the billionaire celebrity, announced his candidacy for President and now ranks second in the polls of all the Republican candidates. Then he opened his mouth and made derogatory comments about Mexicans. "They're bringing drugs. They bring crime. They're rapists and some, I assume, are good people." Thank you, Donald, this means more Latinos will be voting Democrat. The Republicans will need almost 40 percent of the Hispanic vote to have a chance in the 2016 election. Not looking good. Trump, also when asked about his views on the gay marriage ruling by the Supreme Court, says he believes in traditional marriage. By that he means three marriages, two divorces and three

Kearny River Fire deemed suspicious; PCSO seeking tips from public

By Mila Besich-Lira
Copper Area News

The Pinal County Sheriff's office is still taking tips regarding the Kearny River Fire. Last week in a press release issued by PCSO, it was announced that the 1,400-acre blaze was suspicious in nature and human caused.

At this time no arrests have been made and the fire remains under investigation.

The blaze burned for three days and forced the evacuations of 300 Kearny residents. Five structures were lost early on in the fire. There were no major injuries.

"We believe the fire was started near the livestock corrals in the northwest part of the town," Sheriff Paul Babeu said. "At this point, we have ruled out accidental causes for the Kearny River Fire and are now looking at who was seen in the area when the fire started."

State and local fire crews are still monitoring remains of the fire and say it is 100% contained.

If anyone has information about the suspicious origin of the fire, please call the Pinal County Sheriff's Office at 520-866-5111.

Residents work to move horses to safe area after a fire breaks out behind the Kearny Corrals.

Oak Flats nominated as sacred site

By Mila Besich-Lira
Copper Area News

During late 2014, the officials within the Tonto National Forest along with the San Carlos Apache tribe filed the nomination paperwork to designate the Oak Flats campground as a culturally and historically significant site. The nomination application is now at the desk of the the Keeper of the Record at the National Register of Historic Places, National Park Service.

The nomination application process has gone through multiple layers of federal government review prior to it being finalized by the United States Keeper of the Record in Washington D.C. The application was submitted by the Forest Supervisor, Neil Bosworth. Once it was reviewed by the forest supervisor it was sent the regional office of the Western Forest Service in New Mexico. The application process allowed for Pinal County Supervisor Pete Rios to submit a letter from his office to support the nomination or offer comments against the nomination. Following

In December, Supervisor Rios wrote a letter of non-support for the application and included letters from local residents who opposed the nomination of Oak Flats as a culturally significant site. Those letters and comments were to be included with the nomination application that was sent to the regional forest service offices in New Mexico. The application was received by the National Register in Washington D.C. in May. The National Register took comments for and against the nomination through Monday, June 29, 2015. At press time it was unknown when the Keeper of the Record would decide on this nomination application.

The listing application is named Chi'chil Bildagoteel Historic District; the address for the application is listed as restricted and the town of reference is listed as Kearny (spelled Kearney), Arizona in the online listing. In addition to this nomination, the National Trust for Historic Preservation has also named the Oak Flats as one of America's top 11 endangered places. It was listed along with the Grand Canyon. According to the Trust's website, the organization has used the list of America's 11 Most Endangered Historic Places to raise awareness about the threats facing some of nations greatest treasures.

Since the Southeast Arizona Land Exchange and Conservation act was approved by Congress in December 2014, groups opposing the land exchange and the Resolution Copper project have continued to fight the project. The San Carlos Apache Tribe has been allowed to maintain a camp at the campground and install holy crosses in the campground. Those opposing the mine maintain the site and are planning to caravan cross country to Washington, D.C to continue to build their opposition. In mid June, Arizona Representatives Raul Grijalva and Ruben Gallego along with 10 other members of Congress introduced a bill to repeal the Southeast Arizona Land Exchange and Conservation Act. The bill has not been assigned to a committee at this time.

Put God First in Your Life; Live for God

In Daniel chapter 3, we read of three great heroes of the Bible – Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. They respectfully spoke to the king and said: “we do not need to defend ourselves before you in this matter. The God we serve is able to save us, and He will rescue us from your hand. But, even if He does not, we will still obey Him and not you.”

In Jeremiah 29:11, God says that He has plans for each of us. These are plans of prosperity, blessing and a wonderful future.

The reality of it all is based on our obedience to what God has declared and required of us. It is not about what we want, but about what the Lord desires to see happen in our lives.

When we put God first in our lives, He will bless and protect us. Let the choice for your life be to honor and obey the Lord God Almighty. Live as these three men did, for God!

friendship. I am my mother's clan and I am born for my father's clan. Please accept my statement of truth. Let it be known from this day forward that I will support valid issues that threaten our tribe. I will support our neighboring communities genuine concerns of water, environment and employment as that will also affect us here at home on the reservation. Furthermore, let it be known that I will support truth and fact and encourage all of you to call on your elders and the elders of our community as it is their voice that should be represented and respected – a voice that has not been at the forefront of the tribes endeavor. May we pray that the sacredness of our culture will no longer be exploited and the true representation, honor and integrity be restored to our ceremonies.

Finally, I call upon our leaders to respect the wisdom of our elders, and return the holy ground crosses as they have asked. As Apache people we were always taught to respect our elders and spiritual leaders, and as leaders of our tribal government, I ask that you honor the voice of the people of the San Carlos Apache Tribe.

Respectfully submitted,
