OBITUARIES

Enedina S. Cruz

Enedina S. Cruz entered into rest on Aug. 11, 2014, one day before her 58th wedding anniversary.

She was born in Hayden, AZ on July 7, 1938 to her parents Francisca Lopez and Francisco Sanchez but was raised by her grandparents Nana Nacha and Tata Jesus Lopez, who she loved dearly. After graduating from Hayden High School in 1956 she married the love of her life, Filiberto "Gili" Cruz and had five daughters, Rosa (John) Escalante, Elena (late Marcos) Escalante, Susie (Robert) Escalante, Patty (Iva) Cruz and Kathy Cruz. She was then blessed with 11 special grandchildren who she was extremely proud of and loved unconditionally, John-John (Danyell), Sonia (Chris), Mikey, Richard (Natasha), Daniella, Nick, Andy (Emily), Chris (Celina), Baby Angel, Matthew, and Sarah. Just when Nana Negra thought the world was great it became greater! She was blessed with 19 great-grandchildren who could bring the biggest smile to her beautiful face even on her worst days. They were the joy that kept her going and could make each one of them feel as if they were the "favorite".

Enedina was a woman who was very active in the community. She was a room mother in the school system for many years, she served on the school board as well as the town council and various other clubs. Her service to the Lord was also important in life. She was a catechism teacher, member of the Altar Society, a lecture, volunteer secretary for the parish, and a Curisillista. She loved baking, crocheting, sewing and especially reading and/or listening to her books. She was a fan of athletics and supported her Lobos, UA Wildcats, and Dodgers.

Enedina is survived by three brothers and sister, Leonardo (Mary Ann), Melquides (Alda), Arturo (Diana), Loraine (Eddie). She is preceded in death by her parents, step-father Manuel Vega, brother Jose, sister Lucy, son-in-law Marcos, grandson Angel Escalante and great-granddaughter Angelina Escalante. She leaves behind many family, friends, Godchildren, and memories.

Services for Mrs. Cruz were held Saturday, Aug. 16, at St. Joseph Catholic Church in Hayden. Interment followed at Mountain View Cemetery in Hayden.

OBITUARY

Lisle Jean Forrester Johnsen

Lisle Jean Johnsen, beloved wife, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, died suddenly on August 14, 2014. Lisle was born in Salt Lake City on October 18, 1930, to Lisle Keele Forrester and James Donald Forrester. Her father was an exploratory geologist who brought his young family from Utah to Cornell University in upstate New York in the 1930s, where he obtained a Ph.D in mining engineering. Eventually Dr. Forrester would be teaching at the University of Missouri Rolla School of Mines, where one of his graduate students was Stanley Johnsen, newly discharged from the Army Air Corps after World War II. At the time, Lisle was still in high school, but, as she put it later, she set her cap for Stanley, and they married in 1950. After beginning their married life in a one-room apartment in Chicago (she liked to go alone to matinee Cubs games on "Ladies' Day"), the couple moved to Idaho and then Arkansas before arriving in Ray, Arizona, in 1958. Stanley took a job as drilling and blasting foreman at Kennecott Copper Company's Ray Mine, eventually rising to Operations Superintendent at the mine, and Lisle (who went by her middle name, Jean, until much later in her life) raised their five children. In her spare time, she became the best "Anglo" Mexican-food cook in the Copper Basin. In Arizona, Lisle also re-connected with her beloved

P.E.O. sisterhood, and she remained a loyal and active member of Chapter AR, in Kearny, and BD, in Scottsdale, being honored with her 50-year membership star in 2009. As her children neared college age, Lisle took at position as the receptionist at the company medical office in Kearny, where her quick instincts, grace and tact served her well. Woe to anyone who called for an appointment when Lisle's "book was full." After retiring from Kennecott, Lisle and Stanley moved to Scottsdale, where they were season-ticket holders during the Diamondbacks' inaugural season and volunteered at St. Maria Goretti Catholic Church. Lisle is survived by her husband, Stanley; her five children, Diane Johnsen (Roger Brodman), Barbara Nabours (Gerald Nabours), Donald Peder Johnsen (Cindy Currence), Mary Loroña (Samuel Loroña) and Stanley Johnsen, 12 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Shortly before her heart suddenly failed, Lisle was blessed by a glimpse of an ultrasound image of her fifth great-grandchild, due in December. A funeral Mass will be celebrated at 1 p.m. Monday at St. Maria Goretti Catholic Church, 6261 N. Granite Reef Road, Scottsdale. Private interment to follow. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests donations to the Memory Unit at Westminster Village, 12000 N. 90th St., Scottsdale, 85260; Catholic Social Services or the P.E.O. scholarship Fund.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

PRFR numbers for tax estimates given incorrectly

In his comment about my Letter to the Editor on August 13, 2014, James Hodl still appears to be confused about how to calculate the expected taxes for the proposed Pinal Rural Fire Rescue and Medical District (PRFR&MD). The most accurate approach is what I outlined using the rightmost column of the impact statement for each parcel. That is, take the Primary Net Assessed value given in this column and multiple it by 3%. The correctness of this calculation of taxes that I presented verbally and in a handout was confirmed in an email to me on 8/11/14 from Steve Turcotte in which he stated "You are correct in your calculations using the figures on the far right column of the spreadsheet as your base assessment."

Supervisor Todd House suggested that the Full Cash Value could be used to calculate the potential taxes if it were multiplied by 10% to give an estimate of the Primary Net Assessed Value. This amount could then be multiplied by 3% to give the tax amount. First, the Primary Net Assessed values I used were already multiplied by percentage rate making a second multiplication by 10% as Todd House suggested incorrect. Second, his approach is more approximate than what I recommended (the actual rate on our two parcels is not 10% but 10.6% and 16.0%) and these differences are reflected in the value in the rightmost column.

Unfortunately, in addition the examples in the PRFR&MD impact statement incorrectly suggest using the Secondary Net Assessment value (second column from the right), a value which has already been multiplied by around 10%. For their method, they should instead suggest using the Full Cash Value (fourth column from the right), which is about ten times higher, before first multiplying by 10%, and then by 3%.

In other words, the numbers that I gave for the amount of property taxes and the potential increase in the property taxes of 32.4% are correct. Todd House was wrong in his estimate of what the taxes would be and fittingly at the Board of Supervisors meeting he would not guarantee to me that his claim that the taxes would be 1/10 of what I had calculated. It should be clear that the increase in taxes from the proposed district will be substantial and will increase our property taxes by nearly one-third. The grossly incorrect calculations of property taxes suggested by the supporters of PRFR&MD makes me concerned that many other statements by them might also be incorrect.

/s/ Phil Hedrick
Winkelman

Editor's Note: Copper Area News writer

James Hodl used the property tax estimates that were presented to the Pinal County Board of Supervisors by Pinal Rural Fire Rescue because they were part of the official record of the meeting and the impact statement. The group has a year to gather signatures in favor of the new district and it's voices like Mr. Hedrick's that will provide counterpoints to the issue. We at Copper Area News appreciate differing viewpoints and invite others to participate in the community discussion.

County Code Compliance works with residents to prevent unhealthy conditions

Pinal County Community Development Services, Code Compliance Division is responsible to our property owners and residents to ensure that our neighborhoods and properties are well-kept to enhance the overall image of our community as a whole. As a means of ensuring that property values are maintained and citizens are afforded the quality of life they desire, our Code Compliance Division works with our residents to prevent unsightly, unsafe, and unhealthy conditions by ensuring that all properties meet the code requirements and are not left to deteriorate and become unsightly.

Often, violators are unaware that they are in violation of county requirements pertaining to general property maintenance and zoning. The goal of the division is to promote and encourage voluntary compliance with county codes, before enacting strict compliance.

Supervisor Pete Rios is sponsoring a proactive information approach to code compliance, to better enable our citizens to improve their neighborhoods with voluntary compliance; believing better informed citizens will lead to better communities.

This article will focus on questions regarding miscellaneous scrap according to county code:

Gila Board of Supervisors approve tax rates; ASARCO devalues Hayden property

By Mila Besich-Lira
Copper Basin News

The Gila County Board of Supervisors met on Monday, Aug. 18, 2014, to approve the tax rates for the entire county. This is an annual function of the Board; the procedure is required by state law and allows the County Treasurer to accept and disburse the property taxes collected.

Normally this procedure is not met with much explanation or discussion as it is mostly a housekeeping procedure.

This year it was much different as the board of Supervisors discussed the centralized valuation submitted by ASARCO for the Hayden Smelter Operations.

In 2013-14 ASARCO reported an assessed value of $13 million. For the 2014-15 budget, ASARCO reported an assessed value of $3 million. The devaluation will cause the personal property taxes of the Hayden and Winkelman residents to double. Local property owners will be forced to pay the taxes levied by the local taxing authorities, town governments and the school district. Those tax bills will be delivered to residents in October.

The overall discussion amongst the Supervisors, County Management and other elected officials was grim. Supervisor Tommie Martin asked if other communities with mines were facing this issue. "Are the other mines devaluing their property?" Based on the levy for the Town of Miami and Miami Unified it did not appear the Freeport McMoRan devalued their properties in Gila County. All of the County supervisors stressed that the County is not the entity imposing these rates and levies.

"This is a grave situation for Hayden/Winkelman, it will have a huge financial impact on our school district in that area. It may force them to close," explained Supervisor Marcanti.

How will this devaluation affect the homeowners of the area? Because of the fact that ASARCO will not be paying the majority of the tax levy based on their former valuation, the residents will pick up the rest of the levy in their property taxes.

Town of Hayden residents will be paying $8.07 per $100 of assessed value, for Hayden that is a jump of $4.00 from the previous year. Winkelman Residents will be paying $5.89 per $100 of assessed value which is not as much of an increase for town services. The biggest increase will be seen by residents in the Hayden-Winkelman Unified School District. They will have a $12.34 per $100 of assessed value to cover both the primary and secondary tax rates. While the percentages may have been the same regardless of the devaluation, the taxpayers will be paying more of the overall tax levy rather than the majority of the taxes being paid by ASARCO. Several years ago the Gila County Assessor froze the property values in Hayden/Winkelman to provide some tax relief to the residents. The values will remain frozen again this year to maintain some tax

While the average citizen in Arizona can't call up the county assessor and self assess their property, large corporations and mines can. The state no longer sends out a third party, objective assessor to assess these multi-million dollar company properties. Arizona state law legally allows these companies to self assess their property. They then report it to the Arizona Department of Revenue. Once the Department of Revenue accepts the valuation it is then forwarded on to the County Assessor to be included in the local valuations.

"These days there is a shift with industries passing on the support (tax) for communities onto the residents of those communities. We appreciate the jobs they bring to the economy, but do we wake the sleeping giant?" asked Don McDaniels, Gila County Manager.

Residents may remember about a decade ago ASARCO/Grupo Mexico did not pay any of their property taxes, which once again put the tax burden onto the residents of Hayden and Winkelman. To alleviate the cash flow pinch that the non payment created at the school district, the Arizona State Legislature passed a law to allow the Department of Education to loan the school district the money to keep the school doors open until ASARCO/Grupo Mexico paid its taxes. This situation will be much different than that as there is no legal recourse to fight the devaluation.

Jr. Bearcats want one more win in 2014

By Andrew Luberd
Copper Basin News

The Jr. High Bearcats return about 12 players to their football team that was one win away from the Central League Jr. High Championship in 2013. Head coach Frank Luchega believes the Jr. Bearcats have what it takes to win that final game this season.

Luchega admits he has an inexperienced group in 2014 with only one returning starter from last year – lineman Danny Garcia. With so many inexperienced players, Luchega is counting on Garcia to provide leadership and help teach the younger players.

The quarterback duties will be shared by Jaden Pace and Anthony Lopez. The latter played at Hayden last year. Lopez will also play at running back for the Jr. 'Cats.

Coach Luchega expects his players to perform a certain way on and off the field. If players refuse to adapt to his rules, they won't play in games. A student-athlete must perform in the classroom and on the field.

"It's a privilege to play sports in school," Luchega told the Copper Basin News. "Academics always come first."

In addition to striving for strong academic achievement, Luchega wants his players to display a good attitude and carry themselves well in the classroom and on the field. Players who work hard, give great effort, and show respect to coaches, teammates, and opponents are likely to earn their fair share of playing time in games.

The Jr. Bearcats finished 7 – 1 last year and expect a better record this season. They'll need a couple of things to go there way, including staying healthy. According to Luchega, there are a couple other keys to achieving a successful season.

"We have to execute our game plan and the way we designed it," he said. "We need 100 percent effort and participation from every player on the team."

The Jr. Bearcats open their season at home on Tuesday, August 26, 2014, versus Superior.

Spend Saturday at the Prickly Pear Festival

By Mila Besich-Lira
Copper Area News

Are you looking for something to do this Saturday? Have you missed the last two Prickly Pear Festivals, and wondered what it was all about? Maybe you have thought that these little cacti were nothing more than a nuisance and were nothing to celebrate? Come learn more about these cacti and enjoy a day celebrating the many things that are good about our little town of Superior.

Saturday, starts out at 6:30 a.m. with two hike choices; both hikes will include walks through the Tonto National Forest where there is ample viewing of Prickly Pears. The first hike is the annual walk into Pinal City with Tonto National Forest Archeologist Scott Wood. Wood will share historical information on the once famous mining town that was set the foundation for settlement into the area. The second hike is new to the schedule this year and will include a loop walk from Picket Post Mountain and into Arnett Canyon. This hike is being led by local hiking expert Bill Vogler. Both the loop trail and the Pinal City trails are part of the Legends of Superior Trails system, so if you have been meaning to check out these trails this is a great time to take a guided hike. Those hiking should begin meeting at the Superior Airport on US 60 at 6 a.m.

Those who have ventured out on a morning adventure on the hikes will return in time for the Annual Superior Fire Department Pancake Breakfast. Our local first responders make a filling breakfast of pancakes, ham, eggs, juice and of course, prickly pear syrup! For a suggested donation of $6 per plate you can fill up and be ready to explore the rest of the Prickly Pear Festival. For those of you who are not early birds, you can still grab this delicious breakfast from 7-11 a.m. Breakfast will be served at Porter's Cafe Patio.

The rest of the festival kicks off at 9 a.m., and that's when the celebrating really begins! Event goers can participate in classes that teach you how to brew prickly pear beer and wine, or cook healthy meals with the prickly pear cacti pads and fruit. There will be vendors on hand selling all sorts of arts and crafts, cookbooks and edible desert items. The vendor booths and beer/margarita garden will be held at the Superior Chamber of Commerce office. The first 100 festival goers who register at the Superior Chamber of Commerce office will receive a prickly pear cacti pad. The brewing classes will be held at Porter's Cafe and the other culinary classes and lectures will be held at the Superior Senior Center on Main St..

You will want to get checked in at the Chamber so you will have a full menu of items being sold by local restaurants. Felicia's Ice Cream will feature a prickly pear ice cream; La Serna will have her famous red or green chile nopales (these are probably the closest to nopales made by your nana, just saying). Stop by Jade Grill for a BBQ Sandwich made with prickly pear sauce or Lucy's famous egg rolls with her prickly pear syrup. Los Hermanos, Casa Denogean, Edwardo's Pizza will also have prickly pear inspired items on their menus this Saturday.

The Bureau of Land Management and the Copper Corridor Economic Development Coalition will have information out on the the 50th Anniversary of the Wilderness Act and will have activities for the kids. They will be located on Neary and Main St. near Besich Park.

Local leaders participate in Rural Policy Forum

By Mila Besich-Lira
Copper Area News

Where do rural Arizona leaders go to learn about the latest trends in community and economic development? Where can these leaders go to network and find new resources to help their communities? There are plenty of conferences to attend, many with hefty price tags, many are a one size fits all approach to these important topics. Thanks to Local First Arizona, there is truly a conference for rural community leaders, "The Rural Policy Forum".

Finally there is a conference that rural leaders can attend and bring back ideas that may not be too hard to implement in their communities. This year the Arizona Rural Policy Forum was hosted in the Copper Corridor at the Bullion Plaza Museum and Cultural Center in Miami. Many of our local governmental entities and non profit organizations from the Corridor were in attendance at the two day forum, last week.

This was the third time, I was able to attend the conference and it was one of the best! The topics were relevant, interesting and truly provided encouragement and new ideas. Each session left ample time to ask questions with fellow rural leaders and with the presenters. There were sessions that taught us how to develop sustainable partnerships, how to brand and promote your community. A few of the sessions talked about education and how we must not allow rural Arizona to get left behind in education. One session that I particularly enjoyed was one on customer service and how encouraging our local businesses to have great customer service is important for tourism development. Representatives from Yuma shared how they started a program called Yuma 101, the program teaches customer services skills and about local attractions and things to do, to front end workers such as cashiers, bank tellers and visitor center representatives.

With so many local leaders in attendance I took some time to ask each of them what they enjoyed most about the conference and what they most wanted to implement.

Gila County Supervisor Mike Pastor: "My take away was the importance of the need to form strong private/public partnerships. Too often organizations count on one private partner such as the mines or county government and we tend to forget all other sources of support including the individual businesses."

Superior Chamber of Commerce President Sue Anderson commented, "Although most of the presenters didn't have a professional consultant assisting them in their projects, the ones that were most successful did use one. In order to move efficiently through redevelopment of our town (Superior) we should hire a professional consultant who has an extensive background in rural development to guide us through the process. The Town, the businesses, the non-profits and all the residents should all participate in the planning and implementation.

Kearny Mayor Sam Hosler explained that he was most impressed with the key note speakers from Clinton County, Ohio. Their topic was called "Plugging the leaks and Growing Local Ownership in Economic Development". Taylor Stuckert Co-Founder of Energize Clinton County and Christian Schock, chief planner and economic development representative for Clinton County, talked about ways they recovered their economy when DHL left their county. Hosler commented that as a short term goal he would like to deploy some of their methods to get people to shop local. "I would like to see our local businesses work with the Chambers of Commerce to promote specials, as a long term goal I would like for us (the Town of Kearny) to utilize grants from USDA to complete community projects. Local First Arizona, also provided many great ideas and statistics on the benefits of shopping local in our communities," he said.

Local leaders participating in the Rural Policy Forum.

Lee Ann Powers | Bullion Plaza

Another topic that was presented was the use of alternative energy in rural communities. One particular discussion was the installation of solar panels on tailings. Elizabeth Magallanez President of the Copper Corridor Economic Development Coalition (CCEDC) said, "I would like to see our municipalities begin to use solar energy to assist with utility costs for their operations" she explained. She would also like to begin working on partnerships and collaborations with the local businesses and local non-profit events to help encourage parents to shop local while they are attending hosted by non-profits on Main St.

The conference itself would not have been a success without the financial support of many local corporations that we are all familiar with. Freeport McMoran, APS, SRP and Resolution Copper. Resolution Copper provided registrations to members of the Superior Chamber

stored outside unless they are hooked to utilities and currently being used.

Question #2

I ride dirt bikes in the desert and keep spare bikes for parts, am I in violation?

Answer:

Yes, you are in violation. The code ordinance does not allow any motorcycle or vehicle parts, to be stored on private property unless they are in a garage or storage shed.

Question #3

I keep boxes and store household items in my open carport, am I in violation?

Answer:

Yes you are. The ordinance does not allow for storage in open areas but must be contained in a garage or storage shed.

Question #4

I have yard sales and keep left over items in my open carport until the next sale, am I in violation?

Answer:

Yes, you are in violation. The code does not allow storage in open areas regardless of use, as in this case would be a yard sale.

Question #5

I have building materials in my yard since some day I am going to build a shed. Am I in violation?

Answer:

Yes, you are in violation. The code does not allow storage of building materials unless you have a current building permit. An exception to this would be if you have fence materials, which are allowed to be stored.

Question #6

I have trimmings from my trees and landscaping (organic debris), can I store this on my property?

Answer:

Our code does not regulate organic debris, but other departments at the county do, so it would be recommended to remove in a timely manner or obtain a burn permit from Pinal

County Air Quality.

Answer:

Yes, you are in violation. The code does not allow open storage of trash or garbage. Dudleyville does have a weekly curb trash service which should be utilized. Please contact the county for information regarding trash services in your area.

instrumental in helping HUSD keep its doors open during that financial crunch. He also expressed much concern for the local residents in Hayden/Winkelman. "At the end of the day, just because you can do it, doesn't mean you should do it. Shame on you, ASARCO, for placing your tax liability on your workforce."

ASARCO spokesman, Tom Aldrich provided the following written statement: "For property tax purposes, ASARCO does not set the value on any of our properties; the Arizona Dept. of Revenue does. Every year Asarco submits required data to the Department of Revenue; the most current year was for 2013. The State then calculates the value. The information we receive does not differentiate between Hayden and Ray. As a result of this process, the property taxes fluctuate yearly."

Distinguished Decals: Turning a talent into a business

Kearny - It is a situation most artistic or crafty people know. Out browsing a booth, somewhere, they see a painting, a necklace, or something else that, while catching the eye, also catches the imagination. "I could do that!" they say to themselves.

Usually, because, the cost of purchase is prohibitive, they pass it by with only a small regret. It is something they can do, but, it is usually something they won't do. Which is why, often, there is a booth at a fairground or swap meet, that says "Yes, but, have you done it?" or expresses a similar sentiment in different words. On seeing that sign, many are reminded that just because they can do it doesn't mean they will do it, and, so, conceding the point, they effect a purchase, if possible. In that respect, for the businesses who think to use it, it's a great sign.

Signs come into our lives in many ways. Shane and Jodie Olsen saw a sign, in more ways than one, which inspired the launching of their side business, Distinguished Decals.

"This all got started about five years ago, when I saw one of those cute little quotes that stick to the wall. I had to have it, but, it was over $50! I thought to myself, 'I'm crafty. I think I can make something like that.' So, somehow, we ended up buying a professional vinyl cutter and all the software, and, all the vinyl, and, all the tools, and, finally, started doing stickers!" said Jodie Olsen.

Their first big project was for Junior Radcliffe. He needed a sign, too, for his race car, #28k. "Boy, I don't know what he was thinking, trusting us to do that; but, luckily, he did, and we have been doing his race car, ever since! We are proud to say we now decal most of the Kearny race cars." Jodie Olsen said.

During the time they have been running Distinguished Decals, the Olsens have been learning and expanding their customer base, which now includes local businesses, unions and churches. Their biggest project, to date, was the Ace Pipe Cleaning vacuum truck, which came to them as a bare canvas this last July.

"We made and applied all the lettering and graphics, from the name badges to the truck numbers. This huge truck took approximately 8,100 square inches (56 sq. ft.) of vinyl, and, about four days to measure, design, print and install," said Jodie.

Honored by the community support, they strive to return it by donating signs and stickers to local individuals and groups, such as Kearny Little League. So, you see, it was a usual situation for those with talent, but, it was not the usual result. Following the desire for a sign, they changed not only their lives, but, in ways large and small, their community.

As for the wall quote that got this all started? The one that they felt that they had to have, which inspired them to purchase the equipment? It never did get made. Instead, they created and printed another sign, that quotes Gandhi, "Be the change you want to see in the world."

Distinguished Decals can be reached by searching for them on Facebook or by texting 480-518-1823. Gandhi's words of wisdom can be seen displayed in their office.

Jody and Shane Olsen have found a way to change their world, one sign at a time.
