Georgia Marie McKay

Long time Tri-Community resident Georgia Marie McKay passed away on Aug. 21, 2014 after a brave and courageous struggle with cancer. Georgia was an inspiration to her friends and loved ones, not only throughout her life, but especially the way she chose to live the last few months, with love, laughter and living each day to the fullest.

Georgia was born in Searchlight, Nevada on Sept. 25, 1931 to Jack and Mae Starr. She grew up in many mining towns throughout the west, but most of her life was spent in Eureka, Nevada where she met and married William (Bill) McKay. They were married in Ely, Nevada in October of 1948. They had four children, Binki (Jim) McNulty of Newcastle, WY, Bill (Becky) McKay of Gold Canyon, Arizona, Gina (Gary) Knight of Newcastle, WY and Donna (Julio) Garcia of Brighton, Colorado. Georgia was the loving grandmother to nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Everyone who knew Georgia knew the bond and love between her and her sister Donna Clements. Those who loved and knew Georgia will greatly miss her kindness and her beautiful spirit.

Georgia and Bill moved to Tiger, Arizona in 1948, then to Mammoth, finally settling in Oracle in 1960. She was active member of the Oracle Union Church, serving on the Board of Trustees for many years. A great lover of bridge and Mahjong, her family and friends. She served as volunteer at the Oracle Library for years. Georgia loved helping her fellow man and spending time with her family and friends. She was an accomplished artist and a published poet.

Services will be held at the Oracle Union Church on Saturday, Aug. 30, 2014 at 2 p.m. In lieu of flowers, Georgia's request was donations be made to the Oracle Union Church, PO Box 381, Oracle, Arizona 85623.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Mammoth and the R/O Unit ... $1,000,000?

Many years ago I drank reverse osmosis water almost exclusively, believing that it was the best drinking water. However, since then I have discovered (through personal experience and research) that the health disadvantages outweigh the advantages.

As far as I can tell, there is only one health advantage R.O. water has over tap water—and that is that the R.O. system does remove some unhealthy contaminants.

A good R.O. system can remove contaminants such as arsenic, nitrates, sodium, copper and lead, some organic chemicals, and the municipal additive fluoride.

Disadvantages

You might be interested to know that reverse osmosis was actually developed as a water treatment method over 40 years ago. The process was used primarily to de-salinate water. The following are three of the main disadvantages of drinking R.O. water:

1. The water is demineralized. Since most mineral particles (including sodium, calcium, magnesium, magnesium, and iron) are larger than water molecules, they are removed by the semi-permeable membrane of the R.O. system.

Even though you may find some contradictory information online about the health benefits of reverse osmosis water, I am convinced that drinking de-mineralized water is not healthy.

The World Health Organization conducted a study that revealed some of the health risks associated with drinking demineralized water. Just a few of the risks include gastrointestinal problems, bone density issues, joint conditions, and cardiovascular disease. See reference below to review the WHO study online.

Removing the naturally occurring minerals also leaves the water tasteless. Many people thus have to add liquid minerals to their R.O. water to improve the taste.

2. The drinking water is acidic. One of the primary reasons R.O. water is unhealthy is because removing the minerals makes the water acidic (often well below 7.0 pH). Drinking acidic water will not help maintain a healthy pH balance in the blood, which should be slightly alkaline.

In the natural health and medical communities, acidosis in the body is considered an underlying cause of most degenerative diseases. In fact, in 1931, Dr. Otto Warburg won the Nobel Prize for discovering the cause of cancer. In essence, he said it was caused by a lack of cellular oxygenation due to acidosis in the body.

Medical research has also determined that drinking acidic water (as well as other acidic beverages) will often cause a leaching of essential minerals, such as calcium and magnesium, from the body, especially from the bones and teeth, in order to neutralize the acidity.

3. Some critical contaminants are not removed. While reverse osmosis is effective for removing a variety of contaminants in water, it does NOT remove volatile organic chemical (VOCs), chlorine and chloramines, pharmaceuticals, and a host of other synthetic chemicals found in municipal water.

Live ammo found at brush site

By Larry Southard
Oracle Fire Chief

During the past 10 years, the Oracle Fire Department has been managing the Oracle Brush Disposal Site as a way for Oracle residents to easily dispose of flammable yard clippings and dead trees. Over the years we've encountered numerous items that simply do not belong in piles of brush that will eventually be burned. When people dump such things as household garbage, old lumber products, construction debris and other non-allowable items (clearly posted at the entrance gate) they cause our firefighters to have to dig through the piles, collect garbage items and then dispose of them in the fire department dumpster.

In the past we have occasionally gotten such large items that we've had to haul loads of garbage and other waste materials to the Oracle Transfer Station operated by Waste Management Corp. Although our staff tries to regulate what gets brought into the brush site, occasionally people abuse the rules by dumping things that clearly don't belong there. A few of the offenders have been permanently banned from using the brush disposal site and for the past couple of years garbage has not been much of an issue.

Recently an alert citizen reported to us that bullets were seen lying in the dirt along with the brush. My firefighters then had to do a search for those bullets and hopefully they were able to find all of them.

The on-duty crew returned to the fire station with around 30 live rounds of ammunition that ranged from small 9mm, to .45 caliber, to assault rifle rounds, to large hunting rifle bullets. All of these items were unspent live rounds of ammunition that could have the potential of injuring firefighters during our next brush burn.

Although an exploding bullet during a fire, has a much different and generally lessor reaction than a bullet secured inside of a rifle chamber, they can still be hazardous to anyone in the near vicinity.

Burning huge piles of brush presents us with a number of hazardous conditions, including smoke & embers, heat exposure, desert critters, etc. Extinguishing such a large fire requires a great deal of physical energy including getting right in with the ashes and turning over the unburnt material. It's extremely hot, dirty and physically demanding work... and now our firefighters have to be concerned about live ammunition exploding when they are working the burning piles.

Please help us to manage and to continue this important community program by being careful about what is in your load of brush.

ASARCO plans $100 million upgrade of Hayden smelter to meet new EPA sulfur dioxide emission limits

Project not expected to disrupt operation of plant or employees' hours

Asarco Smelter in Hayden

By James J. Hodl
Copper Area News

Plans for a $110 million upgrade of the Hayden copper smelter that will bring the apparatus in compliance with new federal regulations concerning emissions of sulfur dioxide (SO₂) have been filed by owner ASARCO/Grupo Mexico with the Arizona Department of Environmental Quality (ADEQ).

The rules issued by the US Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) require that SO₂ emissions from the smelter be reduced from 140 ppb (parts per billion) to 75 ppd during a 24-hour period. The Hayden smelter has until Oct. 3, 2018 to meet this standard.

Meeting the standard is important to keep the Hayden copper smelting plant operating and providing employment for residents of the Hayden/Winkelman area.

To meet EPA's goal, the plan ASARCO filed on June 24 with ADEQ describes a converter retrofit project that will replace the smelter's five current 13-ft. diameter converters with three 15-ft. diameter converters. Also included in the plan are the installation of improved primary and secondary hoods, and an electrostatic precipitator for solids removal prior to SO₂ recapture at the smelter's existing acid plants. Larger ladles (300 cu. ft. instead of 200 cu. ft.) will be installed to reduce the number of hot metal transfers. Additional upgrades will capture secondary gases and direct them to the acid plant for conversion to a sulfuric acid product.

Overall the plan aims to reduce SO₂ emissions at the Hayden smelter by 85 percent, with a total SO₂ capture rate of 99.7 percent of what is produced during the copper smelting process.

The plans were made public during a meeting of the Arizona House Committee on Energy, Environment and Natural Resources held Aug. 22 at the Gila Community College Pueblo Campus in Globe.

ADEQ is expected to rule on the ASARCO plan by late September. If approved the plan will then go to EPA for an additional 45-day comment period. With EPA approval, ASARCO could begin work on the upgrades before year's end.

Work on the converter retrofit will be performed as to not disrupt the operation of the smelter and keep all employees working their regular daily schedules, said Krishna Parameswaran, director of environmental services and compliance assurances at ASARCO. The smelting plant must operate within the EPA emission limits by Oct. 3, 2018.

The smelter and surrounding operations are an important parts of the Hayden economy.

It employs 1,400 hourly and salaried workers, who are annually paid $140.8 million in wages, salaries and fringe benefits. The operations also generate $28.6 million in property, severance and sales taxes. The company annually generates spending of $345.8 million on materials, fuel and supplies into the Arizona economy.

Each year the Hayden smelter produces more than 300 million tons of copper that is important in all electri-

Copper Corridor getting its turn to participate in Pinal County Workforce Assessment Survey

By James J. Hodl
Copper Area News

Residents of the Copper Corridor are getting their turn to take part in the Pinal County Workforce Assessment Survey.

The Pinal County Economic Development Program (EDP) has announced that the survey went online on Aug. 20 and invites all citizens in the area that includes Superior, Kearny, Winkelman, Dudleyville, San Manuel, Oracle and SaddleBrooke to participate. By answering the questions and telling Pinal County what jobs skills they possess, the county can better promote businesses to relocate here and create new jobs within a shorter commuting distance, said Tim Kanavel, EDP manager.

Drafted and conducted by San Tan Valley-based Strategic Research Initiatives (SRI) LLC under contract with EPD, the survey has already been successfully conducted among residents in the county's northwest pocket encompassing San Tan Valley, Apache Junction and Gold Valley. According to Tim Grainey, SRI member manager, questions asked on the survey include the level of education reached, if residents are homeowners or renters, why they moved to their current community, what they like and dislike about the community, and what their job ambitions are.

Although EDP planned to conduct the Workforce Assessment Survey in five steps, each targeting a segment of the county in successive six-week periods, it decided to first assess the survey and its results to see if it was getting the data it wanted. In the period from late May to early August, EDP and SRI determined that the survey was providing the desired results and was easy for participants to complete. The survey thus wouldn't be changed for the other four county areas.

But to make up for lost time and complete surveying all county residents before Christmas, the Copper Corridor segment and the Central Pinal segment covering Florence, Coolidge, Eloy and Arizona City would be conducted at the same time. In mid-October, the two remaining segments for the areas around Casa Grande and Maricopa will finally be invited to visit the survey's website, Kanavel said.

"We can keep the Copper Corridor and Central Pinal survey results separate by sorting by zip codes," Kanavel explained. "We already did that for the Northwest Pinal segment when we weeded out respondents from Queen Creek, which is mostly located in Maricopa County." The reason behind the survey is rather basic, he added.

"When EDP reaches out to businesses that could potentially relocate or set up shop in Pinal County, one of the first questions they ask is, 'How is your workforce? Do you have people with the skills we will need ready to recruit and hire?'" Kanavel said. "With the survey, we have those statistics ready to share," he concluded.

Once EDP knows what job skills are possessed by residents in specific areas of the county, it can target specific types of businesses to that area.

"Results from the San Tan Valley/Apache Junction/Gold Valley survey surprised us," Kanavel said. "We weren't expecting that so many residents would have skills needed by high tech and medical businesses. Obviously we will promote those types of businesses to that area rather than manufacturing."

The survey also found that the population in Northwest Pinal was relatively young (average age in the mid-30s) or that 40 percent of residents would have at least a high school diploma with many having some college and possessing college degrees. This, Kanavel said, is attractive to potential employees along with Pinal County's relatively low taxes, plenty of undeveloped land, warm winter weather and a plethora of entertainment and recreational assets. Kanavel is excited to see results of the Copper Corridor survey. While the population changes in that county segment haven't been as dynamic as in other areas, in the more southern sections like Oracle and San Manuel some residents commute into Pima County for their jobs and likewise would welcome new job opportunities inside Pinal County that don't require as long of a trip to reach. And the area is in need of additional employment opportunities.

Resident of the Copper Corridor can take the Workforce Assessment Survey by going online to: <http://bit.ly/1loTuON>.

The survey also is available in Spanish at: <http://bit.ly/1tGJ1km>.

According to Grainey, the survey can be completed in under 15 minutes. Because the growth in parts of Pinal County has been so dynamic since 2002, EDP plans to conduct additional Workforce Assessment Surveys at regular intervals in the future; perhaps as early as 2017, Kanavel said.

SMELTER

cal products, electronic equipment, and even bringing electricity to homes, according to Kelly Norton, president of the Arizona Mining Association. The smelter also produces more than 575,000 short tons of sulfuric acid each year.

Although originally built in 1912, the Hayden smelter has been expanded and upgraded on a regular basis, with the last major renovations taking place in 1989 and 1996. In 2012, ASARCO voluntarily undertook a $10 million project to reduce lead emissions through the addition of a monitor system to keep lead emissions to within EPA rules issued in 2008 that trimmed allowable emission levels to one-tenth of the former standard.

The EPA-required Hayden smelter renovation projects comes only a step behind a more expensive project for the smelter in Miami owned by Freeport-McMoRan. Budgeted at $450 million, the Miami smelter will receive new converter mouth covers, converter aisle canopy hoods and aisle scrubbers, an anode plant bag house and a smelter furnace upgrade to meet EPA SO₂ emission limits.

Freeport-McMoRan received its permit on July 21 and has begun renovation work that could be completed by the end of 2017. The Miami smelter, which was originally built in 1915, also has undergone numerous upgrades, expansions and renovations in the interim.

Norton emphasized at the meeting that copper smelting is an important contributor to the Arizona economy. At present there are only three copper smelting plants in the US and two are in Arizona (Hayden and Miami). The third is in Salt Lake County, UT, Norton noted.

Stuff the Bus campaign successful

On Saturday, Aug. 16, Mt. Vista Elementary School in Oracle held their most recent "Stuff the Bus" campaign, with locations in Eagle Crest, Oracle, SaddleBrooke and SaddleBrooke Ranch.

The National Junior Honor Society Students, Oracle Elementary School District school personnel and board members had a great day helping with the collections and greeting all the residents.

The campaign was a success, with many generous residents donating cash, checks, school supplies and food. "Our school system is one of the best in Pinal County because of your involvement and support! Thanks again! And we look forward to seeing you all again next year." said a Mt. Vista Elementary School representative.

A gubernatorial visit to San Manuel

Making more of a pit stop than a visit, Arizona Governor Jan Brewer (and her plane) landed at the San Manuel Airport Friday. She was quickly whisked away by her security detail to a meeting in San Manuel. She is pictured above getting into the Suburban. It was unknown exactly why the governor was visiting SaddleBrooke, but Tuesday it was announced that SaddleBrooke resident Retired Colonel Richard E. Hudgins, USAF, was named as a member of the Installations and Operations Advisory Panel for the Governor's Military Affairs Commission. Hudgins was nominated by Pinal County Chairman of the Board of Supervisors Anthony Smith who is a sitting member of the commission. "The commission was looking for a representative from six counties to serve on the advisory panel," Chairman Smith said. "The ideal person they were looking for was a retired military general officer who had knowledge of the county and the military installations of the area. I immediately thought of Colonel Hudgins, I knew he had all the qualifications the commission needed for this position."

Inexperience won't slow Miners' volleyball team

By Andrew Luberda
San Manuel Miner

The Miners return only four varsity players from last season's team that finished 9 - 7 and in 4th place in the season-ending section standings. Mireya Tamayo, an all-section performer in 2013, Kadi Monfred, Lyana Waddell, and Ashley Vargas are the only returning players in 2014.

"We'll have 66 percent of our roster made up of new players," said San Manuel Athletic Director Al Trejo, who took over the girls' volleyball head coaching responsibilities this season. "What we lack in experience will be made up with tenacity. These girls are hard workers and we don't expect 100 percent effort, rather 110 percent from each player."

San Manuel Miner

It is pure enjoyment getting to know Janice Rapp who has been around the San Manuel area for many years after moving here from the New York area. Rapp has participated in many community activities throughout her life here in San Manuel. Some people described her as caring, smart, funny, a good business sense, interesting stories and easy to talk with. Rapp is also known at the San Manuel Historical Society for her diligence in the obtaining and gathering of our communities history then, keeping it all together as clear and concise as possible. Rapp is certainly a positive influence in our community.

A birthday party was held at the Oracle Inn for Janice Rapp Saturday, Aug. 16. Family members and friends who haven't seen each other in years were thrilled to assemble to help Rapp celebrate this extraordinary birthday. Many people attended the event including her two sons, her daughter-in-laws and grandchildren. It was certainly fun to see her reminisce about where she grew up in New York area and to meet some of her family and friends from that area.

Rapp enjoys the community and helping out where she can. Every year around the middle of August the Elk's wives get together to raise money for Toys for Tots, this is just one of the events Rapp is involved in. In the past they've put on a luncheon and fashion show. Clothes were lent to them by Cohen's and Mitchell's Department Store. "I volunteered at the library, started the historical society, not that the museum that was started by Jo Buttery, worked for chamber of commerce, organized the Halloween Parade for many years, volunteered at the San Manuel Museum along with Mike Vos, then took over management of the museum and Thrift Store," Rapp said. "I also tried to get this town incorporated, but that fell through. Now I just want to keep what little is left in this town alive."

Janice Rapp shared some adorable stories of having locked herself out of her own home and resolving the issue. She truly enjoys helping others in the community, through the Thrift Store, museum or any other way possible. If you have a chance to stop in and meet Janice, please do so and wish her a Happy 90th Birthday!

sophomores make up the Miners' 2014 roster.

Trejo says attention to detail will be important for his team this season. Capitalizing on opponents' mistakes and remaining focused, even when adversity strikes, will be keys to a successful season for the Miners.

Trejo, a former track and wrestling coach at San Manuel, is beginning his first season as a volleyball coach. His staff includes Miners' alum Cindy Navarro. Manny Navarro is the team's conditioning coach.

The Miners open their season at home on September 2 versus San Miguel. The match is scheduled for 6:00 p.m. Upcoming games include September 4 @ Ray (6:00 p.m.) and September 11 vs. San Carlos (6:00 p.m.)
