OBITUARIES

Audra 'Peg' Radcliffe

Audra W. "Peg" Radcliffe, 87, died Sept. 4, 2020 peacefully in her bed at By Your Side Senior Living facility in Apache Junction, AZ. A Celebration of Life for the long time Kearny resident will be held at the Kearny Senior Center on Friday, Oct. 16, from 2-5 p.m.

Peg was born June 14, 1933, in Orton, West Virginia, to Otis and Bertha Moore (every birthday she stated they were putting flags out to celebrate her birthday). Peg lived a long and fulfilling life doing many things that she loved dearly: spending time with her family, traveling the country on the motorcycle with her husband Lyman, watching her large extended family grow, sewing and most importantly her walk with the Lord. Peg was an avid collector of FROGs (all around the house and in her garden), which she translated to Fully Rely On God. She dedicated much of her time ministering to God, from teaching Sunday School to handling church finances.

Peg grew up in Rochester, Ohio where she met and eventually married her husband Lyman in 1952. They started their married life in New London, Ohio where she was a devoted wife and mother, homemaker and worked many years as a seamstress at C.E. Ward and Kent Sporting goods. In 1969, the family moved out west to the state of Arizona where they eventually landed in Kearny. Peg spent many years working at the General Kearny Inn and at the Ray school cafeteria where she eventually retired. She was well known in the community with her involvement with the church, attending many school sporting events with Lyman and if you ever had any sewing done it's likely she was your seamstress.

Peg is survived by her sons, Dan (Louise), Ron (Cynthia) and Dennis (Ann) Radcliffe; daughter, Debra (Robert) Soules; 11 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and 11 great-great-grandchildren.

Peg dealt with different ailments over the years so as an alternative to sending flowers, if you would like to make a charitable contribution in her name please do so by visiting the American Heart Association website at: <http://bit.ly/ForPeg>.

Superintendent receives Bastion of Courage Award

Hayden-Winkelman Unified School District Superintendent Jeff Gregorich received the Arizona School Administration "Bastion of Courage Award" for his efforts to address the COVID-19 pandemic in schools.

Over the past month Gregorich has spoken up about his concerns to re-open schools too early at both the state and national levels. He has been interviewed on Fox, CNN, MSNBC, and NBC, and by the Wall Street Journal and Washington Post in August.

"The Bastion of Courage Award presented to Superintendent Jeff Gregorich on Aug. 24 recognizes school leaders that face difficult challenges, while bringing their school district and community together. His description of the challenges school leaders are facing in the middle of the COVID 19 pandemic which appeared Aug. 1 in the Washington Post showed both courage and leadership and was dead on," Arizona School Administration Association President Dr. Donna Lewis said.

"I am honored to be recognized by my peers, but I would like to dedicate this award to the memory of Mrs. Kimberly Byrd, our beloved first grade teacher that passed away from COVID-19 in June while teaching summer school. She was a daily example of excellence and courage in the classroom to me and everyone. Kim would want me and all her colleagues to speak up and let national and state leaders understand the consequences of opening up schools in-person too early," Gregorich said.

"I want to see our students in-person again too, but if opening up schools before it's safe means risking the lives of my teachers, staff, students, parents, and families, I would not recommend it," added Gregorich.

The Hayden-Winkelman Unified School District started the school year with online instruction on Tuesday, Sept. 8, and will be online through Nov. 12, which is the end of the first quarter.

"We will review the state and county COVID-19 health metric data and will re-open school for in-person instruction after Nov. 12 only if, and when it's safe," he said.

Hayden High School cancels fall sports

Hayden High School will be canceling all fall sports for the health and safety of student athletes, families, and community.

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Hayden High School will not be participating in fall sports. The concern is that playing sports could increase COVID-19 exposure to our student athletes, families, and community. The safety of everyone outweighs the need to play sports and risks the lives of the most vulnerable in our community.

The school district's top priority is the health of our students, families, and community. The sacrifice of a high school sport season in the middle of the worst pandemic in 100 years is the most responsible and the right thing to do.

The health risks are too high for our district to play sports which could create a COVID-19 community spread. Unfortunately, the virus has not gone away, and children and adults can become asymptomatic and pass it to others.

Athletes could contract COVID-19 and unknowingly pass the virus to family members and they could die. Many of our families are multigenerational which creates an additional health risk. It is simply too dangerous to play fall sports that will risk the safety and lives of our student athletes, families, and community, right now.

Hayden-Winkelman School District Superintendent Jeff Gregorich was honored with the Bastion of Courage award by the ASBA. (We love the helmet but can you wear a mask with that?)

Arboretum staff saves baby coyote

Recent fires and lack of rain have affected the lives of the birds and animals that live in the forest surrounding Superior. Naturally, the Boyce Thompson Arboretum serves as a respite for these animals and the staff and guests often find a variety of animals and birds who visit the Arboretum to find food and shelter.

On Friday morning, Arboretum staff found an injured coyote that had been hit by a car on US Hwy. 60 near the Arboretum. The Arboretum staff was able to bring the injured animal to safety and call Southwest Conservation Center in the Valley. Southwest Conservation Center reported back to the Arboretum that this female Coyote will make a full recovery and once her legs are healed she will be released back into the wild.

Plan your trip to the Arboretum to have a save and socially distant place to recreate. The Arboretum will also be celebrating the grand opening of the Wallace Garden in October. Learn more about how to book your tour of the garden online: <http://bit.ly/WallaceGarden>. There are also several different membership packages available inquire online at: <https://www.tbarboretum.org>

Hundreds expected to travel along Arizona Trail from Mexico to Utah in one day

Eight hundred miles is a long distance to attempt to drive in a day. If traveling by foot, bike, horse or any other self-powered means, it’s impossible within 24 hours.

Or is it?

On Saturday, Oct. 10, hundreds of outdoor enthusiasts from across Arizona will cover one of over 100 separate sections of the Arizona National Scenic Trail (AZT), which extends from the Mexico border to the Utah border in an attempt to complete the entire trail in a single day. Each person will have a few miles to complete and 24 hours to do it.

The Trail is a Refuge

Despite countless large event cancellations throughout the summer and wildfire activity along the trail, the third annual AZT in a DAY remains in motion.

“The trail is open and welcomes you to practice social distancing while traveling through breathtaking landscapes,” said Matthew Nelson, Executive Director of the Arizona Trail Association. “In times of uncertainty, the trail is a portal into a calmer, more beautiful reality.”

AZT in a Day offers participants a way to be part of a large group of people working toward a common goal, spread out over 800 miles.

“It took tens of thousands of volunteers over three decades to build the Arizona Trail, and now we’re delighted to be able to invite everyone to share this amazing public resource during one of the best times of the year. No matter how far you can hike, run or ride, we hope everyone can enjoy some time on the AZT throughout 2020 and especially on October 10 for AZT in a DAY,” said Nelson.

Choosing Your Section

The 800-mile trail has been divided into sections ranging in length from 1.8 to 15.1 miles. Participants will have 24 hours to complete their portion of the trail. Online registration is free and open to everyone.

Participants can choose between desert, mountain, canyon, forest or urban segments of the trail. The AZT passes through eight wilderness areas, four National Forests, two National Parks, one National Memorial, one State Park, and passes through or near 32 gateway communities.

“We advise participants be well-prepared. Some access points require 4-wheel drive or high clearance vehicles,” said Karrie Kressler, Administrative Director.

A few sections of the trail are remote and require extra planning. For these sections, participants familiar with backpacking will be required to camp in particular areas at least a day before the actual event to be ready to complete their portion on Oct. 10, according to Kressler.

“So far, we have hikers, runners, bikers and equestrians booked for over 90% of the sections, but there are still sections that need to be covered,” Nelson said.

This year will be especially challenging for participants, as COVID-19 recommendations discourage carpooling, traveling far from home, and gathering in large groups. This summer’s wildfires have damaged over 100 miles of the AZT and several of these areas are not expected to be safe or ready to reopen this year.

Fundraising Opportunities

Participants who want to help raise money to support the Arizona Trail Association can appeal to family, friends and others to pledge dollars to support their commitment on Oct. 10.

“Since five wildfires have scorched the trail and surrounding landscape this summer, we have a lot of work ahead to restore the AZT,” said Nelson. “It takes a strong organization to protect and maintain 800 miles of trail. As we attempt to raise the funds necessary to sustain the ATA, please think about what your experiences on the AZT are worth.”

How to Get Involved

To sign up, or for more information about AZT in a DAY, visit aztrail.org/events/aztinaday-2020/, email karrie@aztrail.org, or call (520) 261-8460.

AZT in a Day? Absolutely. Sign up now to hike, bike or run your segment. Plus it’s guaranteed to fit social distancing in this time of COVID-19.
