Superior Police welcome new officer to their ranks

By John Hernandez
Superior Sun

The Town of Superior has a new full-time police officer. Jessica Brown was hired on Aug. 31, 2020, and will be replacing an officer who will be retiring soon.

Jessica was born in Auckland, New Zealand and moved to the United States in 2001. She lived in Virginia before moving to Arizona to attend college after becoming a U.S. citizen her senior year. Jessica attended Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University in Prescott, Arizona. She has a Bachelor of Science degree in Global Security and Intelligence Studies.

After earning her degree, Jessica moved back to Virginia where she became a deputy sheriff. After serving as a deputy for three years, she returned to Arizona last year. She holds numerous certificates in the areas of tactical medicine, firearms and law enforcement.

"In my free time, I am always looking to enhance my skills to better perform the duties of my job by taking skill-based courses," she said. "I don't ever want to be in a position where someone needs help and I don't know what to do."

Because her police certification from Virginia was not transferable to Arizona, Jessica will be attending the police academy in Phoenix. She will be graduating on Jan. 28, 2021 after completing 20 weeks of training. Police Chief Frank Alanis said that Jessica will be the first Town of Superior officer to attend the academy in about 10 years.

Jessica was asked why she became a police officer. "I've always had a knack for solving problems and helping people," she explained. "Law enforcement is the perfect career for me to use my skills and further my reach in being able to assist those in need, whether it be an emergency or just someone needing a listening year."

Jessica said she "fell in love with Arizona" while attending college in Prescott.

"I am so glad I had a chance to move back," she said. "I love small towns and the outdoors, and Superior is just that. It's just what I was looking for. I enjoy checking out the little shops on Main Street, getting to know the people and hiking the nearby trails. The residents have been so friendly to me and I can't wait to fully immerse myself in the community once I graduate from the academy."

Jessica Brown will be a welcome addition to the Town of Superior and the police department. When you see her on patrol after she graduates, make sure to say hi and get to know her.

Jessica Brown heads to the police academy this week. When she graduates in January, she will begin full time as Superior's newest police officer.

Hundreds expected to travel along Arizona Trail from Mexico to Utah in one day

Eight hundred miles is a long distance to attempt to drive in a day. If traveling by foot, bike, horse or any other self-powered means, it's impossible within 24 hours.

Or is it?

On Saturday, Oct. 10, hundreds of outdoor enthusiasts from across Arizona will cover one of over 100 separate sections of the Arizona National Scenic Trail (AZT), which extends from the Mexico border to the Utah border in an attempt to complete the entire trail in a single day. Each person will have a few miles to complete and 24 hours to do it.

The Trail is a Refuge

Despite countless large event cancellations throughout the summer and wildfire activity along the trail, the third annual AZT in a DAY remains in motion.

"The trail is open and welcomes you to practice social distancing while traveling through breathtaking landscapes," said Matthew Nelson, Executive Director of the Arizona Trail Association. "In times of uncertainty, the trail is a portal into a calmer, more beautiful reality."

AZT in a Day offers participants a way to be part of a large group of people working toward a common goal, spread out over 800 miles.

"It took tens of thousands of volunteers over three decades to build the Arizona Trail, and now we're delighted to be able to invite everyone to share this amazing public resource during one of the best times of the year. No matter how far you can hike, run or ride, we hope everyone can enjoy some time on the AZT throughout 2020 and especially on October 10 for AZT in a DAY," said Nelson.

Choosing Your Section

The 800-mile trail has been divided into sections ranging in length from 1.8 to 15.1 miles. Participants will have 24 hours to complete their portion of the trail. Online registration is free and open to everyone.

Participants can choose between desert, mountain, canyon, forest or urban segments of the trail. The AZT passes through eight wilderness areas, four National Forests, two National Parks, one National Memorial, one State Park, and passes through or near 32 gateway communities.

"We advise participants be well-prepared. Some access points require 4-wheel drive or high clearance vehicles," said Karrie Kressler, Administrative Director.

A few sections of the trail are remote and require extra planning. For these sections, participants familiar with backpacking will be required to camp in particular areas at least a day before the actual event to be ready to complete their portion on Oct. 10, according to Kressler.

"So far, we have hikers, runners, bikers and equestrians booked for over 90% of the sections, but there are still sections that need to be covered," Nelson said.

This year will be especially challenging for participants, as COVID-19 recommendations discourage carpooling, traveling far from home, and gathering in large groups. This summer's wildfires have damaged over 100 miles of the AZT and AZT in a Day? Absolutely. Sign up now to hike, bike or run your segment. Plus it's guaranteed to fit social distancing in this time of COVID-19.
