Superior Town Council considers policies for town's library

By Jennifer R. Carnes
Superior Sun

Policies at the Superior Public Library came under discussion last week at the regular Superior Town Council meeting. Councilman Bruce Armitage expressed his concerns about the inclusion of the Library Bill of Rights¹ and the Freedom to Read Statement² in the policy manual and how these policies could have adverse effects on the youngest patrons of the library.

"My concern is for the kids," Armitage said. "As adults, I don't care what you read. I care about who's covering our kids. Who's the gatekeeper of our children?"

Armitage cited one section in each of the two statements that he believed would cause harm to children and young adults visiting the library.

From the Library Bill of Rights, Armitage quoted: "Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background, or views of those contributing to their creation."

Explaining his concern, Armitage said, "Anything could go into our public library. Pornography could go into our library. Bestiality books could go into our library. Child pornography probably could make it into our library."

From the Freedom to Read Statement, Armitage quoted: "Parents and teachers have a responsibility to prepare the young to meet the diversity of experiences in life to which they will be exposed, as they have a responsibility to help them learn to think critically for themselves. These are affirmative responsibilities, not to be discharged simply by preventing them from reading works for which they are not yet prepared."

Armitage said that when he read that statement, he

The Miners now sit with a 3-2 record, and a three-game winning streak. On Friday, Sept. 22, the boys will travel to take on the Fort Thomas Apaches, with a kickoff time of 7 p.m.

Superior suffers tough loss to Salome

By Nathaniel A. Lopez
Superior Sun

The Superior football team traveled to Salome to take on the Frogs last Friday, Sept. 15. The boys were unable to come home with the Victory, suffering a loss of 6-52.

“Salome is a very tough team, and I am proud of the way our boys fought through adversity during the game. The game was a lot closer than the score insists. In the second half, we got a glimpse of what this team can be. I believe we will use that to carry us into this very important second half of our season. We are on pace to

Lady Panthers to compete in Epic Tournaments this week

By Nathaniel A. Lopez
Superior Sun

The Superior volleyball team had a tough time on the court last week. On Sept. 12, the Lady Panthers traveled to take on Cicero Prep. The first set of the match ended with a tough 0-25 points, the second set saw the girls get some points with a 10-25 final, the third set ended with a 7-25 final score. The match ended with a 0-3 final.

Later in the week, the girls hosted Valley Lutheran. The first set ended with a 12-25 final, the second set saw a tough 9-25 loss, and the third set saw a close one with a final score of 15-25. This match ended with a 0-3 final as well.

The Lady Panthers will travel to compete in Epic Tournaments Volleyball Invite that begins on Sept. 22, and will take place at Phoenix Country Day School.

Lady Miners have rough time on the court

By Nathaniel A. Lopez
San Manuel Miner

The Lady Miners had a tough time on the volleyball court last week. Their week began with a home game against San Simon. The girls were only able to claim 1 set win during their match, ending it with a 1-2 loss. Later in the week they traveled to St. David to take on the Lady Tigers. The girls suffered a tough loss of 0-3 during the match.

The Lady Miners now sit with a 1-3 record, and will take on the 4-2 Patagonia this Wednesday, Sept. 20, with a start time of 6 p.m. Be sure to come out and support the Lady Miners volleyball!

peak just at the right time, and I am excited to see this team grow into a contender,” commented head coach Elias Olmos. “We need to eliminate small mistakes that are very fixable, when we clean that up we will become a very tough team to beat. This Cicero game is huge with playoff implications, looking to be a great game for the homecoming crowd.”

The Superior football team will not compete this week due to a forfeit from Dishchii’bikoh. The Panthers will spend time practicing and perfecting, so they can take on Cicero Prep for the homecoming game, on Friday, Sept. 29.

Superior’s homecoming plans announced

The Superior High School Student Council has announced the homecoming plans for 2023. The traditional homecoming includes a spirit week, pep rally, parade tailgate party and, of course, the big game. The Superior Panther football team will face Cicero Prep for the big game. Kickoff is at 7 p.m. Homecoming royalty will be announced during half-time.

The entire community of Superior is invited to participate in the parade and tailgate party. The theme this year is “Horror Movies”. Parade line up is scheduled for 2:20 p.m. on Magma Avenue. The parade is expected to begin at 3 p.m. Parade entry is $10 per entry.

SUPERIOR LIBRARY

thought, “Who is taking care of our children? Who’s watching our children?”

The councilman said specifically he had a concern about how the library removes a book from its shelves.

When a patron has a problem with a book, he explained, the policy as written states that the person brings it to the attention of the library director using a form with questions regarding the book’s contents and suitability. The library director will reconsider the book along with one or two staff members or other library science officials from the county or the state. Evaluators will submit their suggestions back to the library director who will notify the patron of his decision on the status of the book.

Armitage said he has an issue with the fact that the person who created the policy and included the Library Bill of Rights and the Freedom to Read Statement in the policy manual is the one who decides on whether a book is on the shelf or not. He then offered a motion to table the item so that the council could review it more thoroughly and decide if there is a better way to handle removing books from the library and whether the two statements should still be included in the town’s handbook. He quickly withdrew the motion to allow the council to discuss the matter (all discussion ceases once a motion is offered).

Mayor Mila Besich explained that the library’s policy on children was very strictly enforced. “Children under the age of 10 can’t be in the library without a parent.” She added that children under the age of 18 must have a parent’s permission to obtain a library card.

Library Director Tony Soliz said that the internet policy and how it is accessed at the library is governed by Pinal County. “Pinal County IT has the responsibility to monitor and restrict the internet,” he said.

Town Manager Todd Pryor said, “For most of the books that Councilman Armitage mentioned, it would be a crime to have in the library. There is an assumption that we’ve stocked the shelves with controversial items. That’s not the fact.”

He said that libraries don’t cherry pick the books. “If you can censor a book on transgender youth, you can censor the Bible. It’s a slippery slope. Libraries don’t set the line. They let the public decide what to read.”

Current policy at the library specifies that children under the age of 10 must be accompanied by an adult. “Children can’t go unescorted,” Pryor said. “It’s not a daycare. We (the town) don’t want the responsibility for being parents.”

Pryor asked if the librarian should follow the child around knocking books out of their hands that might be deemed inappropriate. “Or do we want their parent there monitoring what they are looking at like it is supposed to be in the policy?” he asked.

Armitage argued. “Shouldn’t we be providing some standard of protection for our young people in our library?”

Besich countered. “I believe that the standard of protection is set by the parental policies that are currently in place.” She said that the library staff does a great job of guiding children and other patrons to the reading material that they need, and it is not for the council to decide what can or cannot be read.

“At no time do I think that anyone on this council wants to endanger children,” Besich said, urging the other councilmembers to “look at this with common sense.”

Armitage motioned again to table action on the item. It was seconded and all present except for Mayor Besich voted in favor.

Town staff will bring the policy manual back to the council for review after working through the clarifications.

the show this year. The car show was coordinated with the work of Los Peligrosos Car Club based out of Superior. Los Peligrosos has brought together many local car enthusiasts and in addition to their support of the church fiesta, also host toy drives and other events throughout the year.

The savory foods of burros, empanadas and menudo were sold throughout the day with funds raised going to the church. Children and adults alike played games and crowds gathered around the dime pitch to win glassware and other treasures.

The Saturday evening Mass included the crowning of the 2023 Fiesta Queen Ariel Aparicio. She and her family raised around $6,000 for the church this summer through their fundraisers. 2022 Fiesta Queen Anaiya Gonzales attended the Mass to pass the honor of serving as Queen to Aparicio.

The event was attended well into the evening with many enjoying the entertainment of Superior Dance Company and Andrea and the Gemini Band.

FILED REBECCA PADILLA CLERK OF THE COUNTY PINAL SUPERIOR COURT Dated failed: 8-1-23 Time Filed: 2:42 PM by: Jason Mallory Form 1. Notice to Parent: Dependency Action and Order To the child's parent or legal guardian: READ THIS NOTICE CAREFULLY The Department of Child Safety (DCS) has filed a dependency petition concerning your child. As a parent or legal guardian, you have rights in this case. You have the right to an attorney. Your attorney will be with you at every hearing in your case. You have a right to a trial (called an adjudication hearing) on the allegations in the petition. At the adjudication hearing your attorney can question any witness who testifies against you. You have the right at the adjudication hearing to subpoena witnesses, to present documents, and to testify to your own behalf. Hearings are open to the public, but you may ask the court to close the hearing. The court will decide whether your child is dependent based on the evidence. If the court determines that your child is dependent, your child will become a ward of the court. If your child is a ward of the court, DCS and the court will make a decision about your child's care and custody until you show that you are able to do so. If within a certain time you cannot fix the problems that caused your child to become dependent, the court may terminate your parental rights and your child may be adopted, a permanent guardian may be appointed for your child. As a parent or legal guardian, you also have responsibilities: 1. You must appear for every court date. You are required to appear for every hearing the court sets, including a pre-trial conference, a settlement conference, and the adjudication hearing. If you don't show up for a court date and you don't have a good reason for not showing up, the court may find that you waived your rights on this case and that you have admitted the allegations in the dependency petition. The court will then schedule other hearings that you must attend and the court will proceed without you if you do not have a good reason for not coming to court. 2. You must participate in reunification services. You must participate in all the services that DCS offers you to help reunite you with your child. Your failure or refusal to remedy the circumstances that caused your child to be removed from the home may be grounds for terminating your parental rights, establishing a permanent guardianship for your child. 3) You must attend termination or guardianship hearings. If a motion or petition is filed to terminate your parental rights or to establish a guardianship, you must attend all additional court hearings concerning that request, including the initial hearing, a pre-trial conference, and the adjudication hearing. If you fail to show up at any of these hearings without a good reason, the court may find that you have waived your right to object to the termination of your parental rights or establishing a guardianship. The court may then consider evidence in your absence and terminate your parental rights or order a permanent guardianship for your child. Next Hearing Type: /s/ PublishDep.
