Superior Police Report

According to state law, police may arrest suspected offenders by two methods. The suspect may be physically taken into the department and booked into jail, or the arresting officer may write a citation and release the suspect to appear in court later. All suspects are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law. Only criminal citations are listed. All damage amounts are estimates.

Go Panthers! Our team is rooting for Superior High School victories in all the sports throughout the year.

Superior passes 'test' despite mistakes

By Andrew Luberda
Superior Sun

After a couple of lopsided victories on the road, the Superior football team finally played its home opener last Friday night against Bagdad, a team the Panthers could face again in their quest for a state championship. The sign of a good team is winning without playing its best, which precisely describes the Panthers' 24 – 12 victory over the Sultans.

"We made a lot of mental mistakes and were called for even more penalties," Superior head coach Ryan Palmer told the Superior Sun. "It was an uncharacteristic game for (us) and we are fortunate to come away with the win. Although it was ugly, a win is still a win."

Senior quarterback Steven Ybarra threw three more touchdown passes in the victory, all of them to senior receiver Cedric Mendoza, who caught four passes for 86 yards. Ybarra finished 9-of-17 for 170 yards and has now thrown nine touchdown passes on the season, three in each game. He also led the team with 90 of its 119 total yards rushing.

Defensively, the Panthers were led by Ybarra and Jesus Castellanos, who each had a team-high 14 tackles. Matthew Diaz-Gonzales and Mendoza added 10 tackles apiece while senior Raul Sanchez finished with nine.

Ybarra (2), Mendoza (2) and Daniel McConnel (1) combined for five sacks. Castellanos recovered a fumble, the Panthers' lone takeaway in the game.

A game like last Friday's is a good measuring stick at this point of the season and provides an opportunity to find out where the Panthers can improve going forward.

"(We have) the potential to be great, but we are a long way from it," Palmer said. "Our discipline and execution must improve.

"This was our first real test of the season," he continued. "This game showed us a lot of problems that need to be corrected. It's better to identify and figure those problems out in early September then in November, when it's too late."

The ability to come from behind late in the game is a positive experience the Panthers can take from this game and perhaps reap the benefits when they needed it most – in the playoffs.

"Although we played far from our best game, when our backs were against the wall (our) guys rose to the challenge," Palmer said. "That is exactly what I wanted to see. Bagdad smacked us in the mouth and we responded. The best part of this win was seeing this team come together and do what was needed to gut out a win."

Up next: The undefeated Panthers (3 – 0) host Arete Prep (2 – 0), which defeated Baboquivari last Friday, 85 – 60, and is averaging more than 78 points per game in two wins so far this season. Kickoff is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Finding quality child care for your young child

SAN MANUEL (August 21, 2018) – For the majority of Arizona families, all the adults in the home work outside the home. That leaves many parents with young children with an important decision to make. How does a parent find a quality child care center or preschool for their young child?

This question is even more important as evidence grows that high-quality early learning settings build a foundation for a child's later success. Research shows 90 percent of a child's brain develops before age 5. The positive, nurturing relationships young kids have with adults, from parents to child care and early learning professionals, shape their learning now and throughout their lives. Quality child care and preschool settings help children develop skills like motivation, self-control, focus and self-esteem that are crucial to their success now and once they enter school.

How can families know what a quality early learning setting looks like? First Things First (FTF) can help with some resources to make the search a little easier.

First, visit the child care center or home-based program in person and take the Quality Child Care checklist with you to help. The checklist includes questions such as asking about the teachers' qualifications the ratio of teachers to students.

There are also things to observe at the visit, such as watching for positive, nurturing teacher/child interactions including the teachers making eye contact with the children, smiling and listening without interrupting.

Look for places that build on basic health and safety to include:

- teachers and caregivers who know how to work with infants, toddlers and preschoolers.
- learning environments that encourage creativity and imaginative play.

- hands-on activities that stimulate and encourage positive brain connections in children.
- caregivers who provide regular feedback to parents on the development of their child.

In many Arizona communities, families can also search for programs enrolled in Quality First. As FTF's signature program, Quality First partners with almost 1,000 child care providers and preschools in Arizona to improve the quality of care for children birth to age 5. Over the past six years, the percentage of programs meeting or exceeding evidence-based quality standards has increased from 25 percent to 74 percent.

Through QualityFirstAZ.com, Quality First also provides families with information about the importance of quality in child care and early education; what quality looks like in order to promote learning; and tools to help families find quality child care or preschool programs in their area. And in some cases, a scholarship may be available for the child to attend.

There's an online search tool available where families can check if there are centers, homes or preschools participating in Quality First in their area. Keep in mind, that Quality First is a voluntary program for child care centers and preschools and FTF does not have the capacity to enroll all providers in Arizona who are interested in participating. There are many quality programs in Arizona not enrolled in Quality First.

For more tips to help with their search for quality child care and preschools visit QualityFirstAZ.com.
